Family in narrow escape in early morning fire

Daughter awakens parents as house fills with smoke

The exterior of the former Milligan home, 1118 North Dunton, Arlington Heights, does not show much damage from a fire that occurred there at 5:30 Friday morning, but it came near being the scene of a tragedy.

The owners, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight J. Anderson and their daughter, who purchased the house a year ago, are thankful to have escaped with their lives. Their dog, kept on an enclosed rear porch, suffocated.

The fire, in the opinion of Fire Chief Jahn, had smoldered several hours in an attic above the kitchen. The daughter was awakened by smoke. Calling to her mother she rushed down stairs and awakened her folks. Neighbors were asked to notify the fire department.

The firemen found that the blaze was largely in the walls. They moved much of the furniture to a single room, covering it with tarpaulins, thereby protecting it from the water which had to be extensively used. Fortunately doors and windows were kept closed until the arrival of the firemen which kept it from spreading. "It was the worst house fire I have ever fought," states Chief Jahn. His men worked three hours to extinguish the blaze.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson are temporarily residing in a Chicago hotel. The damage to the home is nearly $5,000 with loss of personal property nearly as great.

Arlington Lions hosts to club of neighboring towns

Arlington Heights Lions Club was host Tuesday evening to the Lions Club of Palatine, Mt. Prospect and Prospect Heights. Following a dinner that was even better than usual, under the direction of Mr. Costain the Arlington Heights high school triple trio gave two numbers, and Miss Betty Lou Scamehorn rendered a solo, accompanied by Donna Lee Doughty. The encores call for 'more' but the young ladies shook their heads as they had another date that evening.

M. W. Prellberg, program chairman, introduced two Chicago friends (oil industry of course) who showed two comedies that topped off a happy evening. Palatine and Mt. Prospect were unusually well represented.

Legion initiation ritual this week

The champion Ritual Team of the Department of Illinois, Naval Post No. 372 American Legion will exemplify the Legion ritual in the initiation of legionnaires from Des Plaines, Mt. Prospect, Palatine, Barrington and from Arlington Heights Legion Posts this Thursday, Washington's birthday.

Many prominent legionnaires and citizens of neighboring communities will be present and it is expected that many post members will avail themselves of the opportunity of witnessing this ceremony at Arlington Heights.

The commander has extended an invitation to members of the Legion Auxiliary to be present also.

William G. Burns, Senior Vice Commander of the Cook County Council of the American Legion, will be the principal speaker of the evening and he is well versed in legion work and current affairs.

Prior to the initiation new candidates will be voted upon by Merle Guild Post. Servicemen and women of the present war are especially invited as guests.

An open letter to the citizens of Arlington Heights

To the Citizens of Arlington Heights:

This last Friday morning early, we suffered a rather severe fire in our home at 1118 N. Dunton Ave., and having lived in Chicago all of our lives until this last June, when my wife, daughter Doris, and myself moved out to Arlington Heights, we had had no experience with fire departments and particularly a volunteer corps.

Even though our loss was quite extensive, I do not know how we can express our appreciation for the excellent, efficient and orderly manner in which Chief Jahn and the members of the volunteer department handled the fire.

I am not given much to writing letters, but definitely feel that this one is a must.

Again thank you, members of the department, neighbors and friends.

Sincerely,
Dwight J. Anderson,
1118 N. Dunton Ave.

Tax bills will be earlier and higher

From all indications the 1944 tax bills will be out the latter part of next month.

The county clerk's office is working on a schedule that would get the country town bills ready for the township collectors about March 15 and the mailing out of the bills will follow immediately.

1944 taxes will, in all probability, be higher than they were in 1943.

The heavy increase in the county budget which will allow the county a great deal more money under the 100 per cent assessment valuation will mean an increase in the county tax rates.

Some of the local taxing bodies also increased their tax levies due to increased operating costs, all of which will mean higher tax bills.

But as one taxpayer put it "What's the difference the local taxes we pay are only a small part of our tax load. With income taxes up where they are a little more or less is only a drop in the bucket."

People who appealed to the board of appeals on their 1943 valuations, if they received a reduction, will not see the reduced valuation on their 1944 bills as it was impossible for the assessor's office to make all the changes before the 1944 assessment rate was filed with the county clerk.

However a revised rate will be filed and the new valuations will be put on the books between the first and second collections.

Tax payers in this class should pay only their first installment when the bills come out so that the adjustment will be made on their second installment.

The township collectors have been instructed to file their bonds and get ready for the collection.

It is hoped by the county officials that the May 1st penalty date can be strictly adhered to this year.

For the past two years there has been a July 1st penalty date on the first installment but this year it is hoped to get back to the regular schedule and get the bills out on time.

Court approves annexation to Arlington Heights

Jos. D. Young, owner of a home and a half acre lot in Scarsdale Estates, at the front door of the municipality desires all the services that Arlington Heights provides its residents and is willing to pay for them.

Accordingly the county court has approved his petition for annexation to the village and upon the passage of the required ordinance he will be entitled to connect with village water and sewer system, get the benefit of street lights, fire protection, etc. He will pay $157.50 as an annexation fee, which is based on the charge of $315 per acre fixed for all subdivisions desiring annexation.

Husband killed in navy plane at San Francisco

Lt. David Goodlett, husband of Mrs. Elinor Goodlett, 34 South State road, Arlington Heights, was killed Tuesday when 24 passengers and crew members lost their lives in a two-engine transport plane which crashed into San Francisco bay at Alameda.

The plane crashed 12 minutes after it left the Alameda airport. It hit the waters of the bay so hard that nearby residents were said to be shaken by the concussion.

Mrs. Goodlett makes her home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Smith. She has a seven months old daughter whom her husband had never seen. When news reports first told of the accident and her husband had not arrived in Chicago as she expected, Mrs. Goodlett was fearful that he was one of the plane passengers.

Lt. Goodlett has been serving with an armed guard detachment on a tanker. Having completed 7 months such service he was entitled to a leave and took a plane in order to have as much leave as possible with his family. Prior to this assignment he was stationed with naval intelligence and his wife made her home with him in San Francisco. At his request he was transferred to sea duty last July and Mrs. Goodlett returned to her parents' home in Arlington Heights.

The lieutenant entered the armed forces Dec. 15, 1942. He graduated from the Morgan Park high school and the John Marshall Law School. It was while he was affiliated with the law firm of Peabody, Westbrook, Watson & Stephenson that he met his future wife. They were married May 3, 1941.

At the time of Mr. Goodlett's enlistment he was connected with the legal department of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The plane and its victims were taken from the bay Saturday and the remains left Oakland Monday. Funeral services will be held at Lain's funeral home on 95th st., Chicago, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

In addition to Mrs. Goodlett and her daughter, there remain his mother, Mrs. Esther Goodlet, and a sister and brother.

A Merry Chase

It is no secret that Mayor Albert Goedke, Arlington Heights, does not look with favor on the chasing by local police of speeders on the Northwest highway through the municipality. Tuesday afternoon when he came near being the victim of one such speeder, he called out the reserves, including the police squad car, the department of streets and two state police officers, who chanced to be in town.

It might have been a wild goose chase for all of them if George Wittenberg, Mt. Prospect police chief had not made a mental note of a speeding car that passed him on Main street, while he was directing traffic for school children who were crossing the highway.

It is nothing to laugh at says the mayor, but his friends are a little amused over the fact that while state police officers had been sent south to search for the fleeing car and two municipal cars were scouring the town, the offending auto stopped to make a delivery at the Winkelman service station, 200 feet from the mayor's car.

Through all of this excitement nobobdy took down the license number of the auto.

Here is the story:

A Chicago car, occupied by three boys was being driven so fast that it could not make the left hand turn to State road from the highway and crashed a telephone pole in which it left imbedded a car handle. The crash threw the car across the park and nearly into the mayor's truck. Mr. Goedke's first though was "this is it", but the speeding car regained the highway and sped down state road.

Mr. Goedke from the phone of the Pfingston realty office gave orders that all hands turn out to capture the car and its reckless driver. Two state officers also answered the call.

The car hid for a little while in Scarsdale then came back up State road to Davis street, again passing the mayor, who again hurried to the phone to report the car's location. As he was phoning, unknown to Mr. Goedke, the car stopped at the Winkelmann shop long enough to make a delivery.

By this time the mayor was fighting mad and in an effort to apprehend the driver, phoned Palatine and Mt. Prospect to be on the lookout. When Geo. Whittenberg at Mt. Prospect received the call, he recalled the license number that had automatically registered in his mind. He gave the number to Judge Behrens, 144513. A phone call to Springfield brought the information that the car belonged to Butler Bros. Super Service, 4908 Irving Park Blvd. The proprietor told the police that the car, badly wrecked, had returned, its driver stating that he had skidded on the ice.

Mayor Goedke's model T truck is still shivering over its escape.

Farm fire destroys phone wires; firemen arrive an hour late

The farm house on the former Bolsinger farm, on Wilke road, near Palatine road, was destroyed by fire Sunday morning when the Palatine fire department did not receive the call until nearly an hour after the fire started.

The fire was discovered by Mr. Rizzo, who with another man lived on the place. Due to the heat Mr. Rizzo was unable to reach the second floor of the building to extinguish the blaze. Trying to phone he found the line to be out of order. He confined his efforts to removing furniture until the arrival of a neighbor, A. W. Moehling, who resides a half mile distant.

Learning that no firemen had been called, Mr. Moehling returned to his home for that purpose. By the time the department arrived the roof had already fallen in.

Recapped tires taken from Winkelmann's Sinclair station

Clarence Winkelmann, Mt. Prospect Sinclair dealer has circumstantial evidence of the early evening hour Saturday night that thieves entered his service station, taking over a dozen recapped tires belonging to his customers, but identity of the thieves is still only guess work.

Mr. Winkelmann left his station about eight o'clock. He resides next door. At 10:30 while moving his car he noticed that the service station door was open, discovering the robbery. As the station was still warm, he knows that the robbery had only been committed a short time earlier.

The proprietor is not worrying about the monetary loss to him, but the plight of his customers, the majority of whom only hold A cards, is causing him much concern.

Two tires mounted on wheels were not taken and one tire was dropped. Because a pile of junk tires was not molested, it appears that the deed was committed by some one who had sized up the place.

Capt. Wilbert Busse is instructor at Fort Crook, Neb.

A telephone call received Saturday morning by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Busse, Mt. Prospect, from their son, Wilbert, informed them that he was passing through Chicago and was on his way to Atlanta, Georgia, to attend a conference.

He recently received his captain bars and at present is serving as an instructor in the S & F Ordnance School at Fort Crook. His wife and son are with him.

Capt. Busse returned to the states last October after serving overseas two years.

Ask the expert

by C. W. LUSSMAN of Sieburg Pharmacy

Should you be tempted to buy medicine solely upon the recommendation of friends or advertising claims, ask a well known and trusted druggist if he can vouch for it.

It is not likely that he will advise any medication without your first seeing your physician. The more serious your malady appears to be, the less chance there is of your druggist recommending self-medication.

Too many people have worsened simple cases by taking medicines unsuited to the particular case. Each case is its own problem, to be treated as such by a physician.

And since he is naturally concerned in the efficacy of his prescription, follow his advise in choosing a druggist to fill it.

School art program draws 200 to PTA

Any possible doubt that there are many enthusiastic artists and art lovers in Arlington Heights as well as talented youngsters went glimmering Tuesday evening to the tune of over 200 parents and teachers present at the PTA Art Program in the north school.

The auditorium was lined with children's work in water colors, crayon, clay, yarn, paper and other art media. Miss Tully, art teacher and supervisor, who outlined the philosophy behind the importance of craft work and art asked that spectators begin with the kindergarten work and move toward the eighth grade exhibits in order to see the advancing development of ideas and expression. Miss Tully gave credit to the teachers who have been under her direction and made a plea for the provision of more space and equipment in homes for children who now doubly need the psychological release of creative work. Miss Tully's part in the "Art in the School, Home and Community" program showed effort, ingenuity, talent and enthusiasm.

Mrs. Harold Collard, PTA art chairman presented in her clear informal way the cause for art and its significance in war years. She underlined the injustice of lack of instruction in many schools and numbers of her listeners were in accord with her when she decried the inequality of opportunity among various school subjects. Mrs. Collard's showing of Mr. Budley Craft Watson's new modern art slides gave help to the audience in trying to understand modern arts's departure from older forms.

Martin Maher, PTA vice president, presided at the meeting and announced that Mrs. Herman Carr, Mrs. Robert Evans, Mrs. H. J. Gregg and Mr. R. E. Clabaugh will nominate officers for the organization this year.

Mr. Maher also asked that mothers begin now to get their Bundles Day children's clothing ready to be sent to school on March 15 and 16, and told of the meeting of the Council of Northwest Suburbs of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers in Arlington Heights on March 9.

Mr. Paul Vawter asked that parents and teachers attend the meeting on February 26, of interested people, who will discuss the question "What Do We Want Our Legislators To Do For Our Schools?"

Miss Marian Elliot read, in observance of PTA's 48th birthday, "The Way of the PTA."

Dolores Goldthwaite played on the piano the first movement of Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata," and "A Spanish Dance."

Betty Lou Scamehorn sang, accompanied by Donna Lee Doughty and Mr. Costain presented the high school girl's triple trio who sang "Roses of Picardy," and "Sleepy Lagoon."

The North and South Schools' third grades won the attendance record.

At the beginning of the program the flag presentation and salute was done by the littlest Brownie Troop (No. 8) under the direction of Mrs. Mark Cleaver and Mrs. Wm. Frank.

Just Around the Corner

Dear Mary:

If this letter is even more "skeltered" than usual, it's because I don't feel well, and when I don't I always want to baby myself and lie down and not get up. There are a half a dozen things I want to tell you and ask you, though.

Valentine's day is always a return to romance for me and full of grade school memories. Young Ken says those candy hearts I insist on getting every year (the ones with the "Be Nice" and "How about a Hug?" messages on them) taste like aspirin someone had tried to sweeten and didn't. It's glue they taste like to me and I try not to eat them, but they disappear somehow and neither Ken is responsible.

Mary, I saw a "tired" wagon for sale in an ad the other day and heap ashes on my head if I didn't discover (Bob Paddock called my attention to it) that these many long years I have been saying and writing abSYmal for abysmal!

See, thus far how disconnected a sore throat makes me—anyway more disconnected. I'll show you. Just watch me settle down in the next two paragraphs.

I agree with you completely as to the importance and validity of scouting. I think, too, that scout training should be made available to all boys and girls. And I don't see, either, how men can be trained in one year for a war that might not come until all their skill and equipment is obsolete. Your attitude seems to me neither "naive nor idealistic" but rather it emphasizes prolonged and integrated training for our young people to fit them for either war or peace. The other side of the compulsory military training question is taken up in this month's Readers Digest and it has some points to contemplate. The few soldiers and sailors I have talked with are against it. Two of them seemed to be averse, as you are, and as I am to the word compulsory and its connotations.

I hope you and Rob can come (maybe your Rob will have a date that night or could come along) to the Town Meeting here in Arlington Heights on Monday the 26th at the North School where the question to be discussed is "What Do We Want Our Legislators To Do For Our Schools?" The article in this week's Herald will give more information about it. We hope to have your Miss Scully on the panel which Mr. Paul Vawter will head. You will be interested I know in the legislative program. There are parts of it which have nothing to do with the expenditure of money. Federal Aid Bill 1296 of course will require funds but the increased burden on tax payers will not be "huge". An increase in the federal burden will lighten the local load. Possibly Illinois will pay out a bit more than will come back to it—equality would call for that. The money involved will be turned over to the states and if there is any patronage expected or if there are strings attached I can't see where although there are many who do not agree with this position. I am not too good at opening closet doors on scoundrels and probably far too inclined to accept "in good faith". I do hope you can come to the meeting.

Oh! those seed catalogues. The very thought of spring rewards me always for slush and snow and cold and dirt—and I am no gardener. Big Ken is—it's his one genuine relation. This winter has seemed unusually long, but aren't you glad—you lovers of the soil—that the snow is soaking in rather than running off?

Gladys sent me this little rhyme last week. Ain't it the truth and don't you love the author's first name?

WINTER—Philander Johnson
Oh, what a blamed uncertain thing
This pesky weather is;
It blew and snew and then it thew
And now, by jing it's friz.
With love, Elly.

P. S. to Edward: Honey, would you do me an extra special favor? I want a copy of that little poem you wrote, the one with the sun in it. Could you make one and send it in mother's next letter?

Explain 3 ways to file income tax return

Joseph Nunan, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, explained that taxpayers whose 1944 income was less than $5,000 have a choice of three different ways of filing their 1944 income tax returns. Taxpayers whose income was $5,000 or more must all make "long-form" returns on Form 1040.

The three methods open to persons whose income was under $5,000 are as follows:

1. Fill out the withholding receipt, Form W-2 (Rev.), received from their employers.
2. Make a "Short-form" return on Form 1040.
3. Make a "Long-form" return on Form 1040.

The easiest way to file is to fill out and mail in a withholding receipt, but this method is permitted only if the taxpayer's income was virtually all from wages from which tax was withheld. If, in addition to his wages subject to witholding, a taxpayer had more than $100 of dividends, interest and wages not subject to withholding, or he had an income from any other source, he would have to use Form 1040. If the withholding receipt is used, the collector will figure the tax and give the taxpayer credit for the tax he has already paid, and send either a bill or a refund for the difference. If Form 1040 is used, the taxpayer must figure his own tax.

In choosing which Form to use (for income usnder $5,000), Nunan said taxpayers should ask themselves this question:

Did I spend more than 10 percent of my income last year for deductible charitable contributions, interest, taxes, casualty losses, medical and dental expenses and other deductible items (QM).

If the answer to this question is "yes", the taxpayer should make a "long-form" return on Form 1040, so that he can itemize and claim the actual amount of his deductions.

If the answer is "no", the taxpayer should consider filing on his withholding receipt or on a "short-form" Form 1040. Both these methods of filing give the taxpayer a standard allowance of about 10 percent of his income for the type of deductions mentioned in question 2. The 10 per cent allowance is made through a tax table. This tax table is arranged according to brackets of income: For instance, one line in the table is for incomes from $2,300 to $2,325, another line is for incomes from $2,325 to $2,350, and so on. Nunan explained that the 10 percent standard allowance is figured at the middle of each bracket, and therefore the allowance is somewhat less than 10 percent below the middle of the bracket and somewhat higher than 10 percent above the middle of the bracket.

In most cases, Nunan commented, taxpayers spend far less than 10 percent of their income for deductible items, and therefore such taxpayers will benefit by filing either a withholding recipt or a short-form return on Form 1040.

Nunan added that persons who had more than one job during 1944 and wish to file on a withholding receipt need to fill out only the last receipt received, but should be sure to attach all their other withholding receipts.

Also, the Collector explained that if wageearners file Form 1040, they need not fill out their withholding receipts but must attach their receipts to their Form 1040 returns.

Spread Fire

In more than half of the great conflagrations since 1900, wooden shingle roofs spread the fire.

Exemptions

In response to numerous inquiries arising from new provisions of the individual income tax law relating to exemptions for husbands and wives, and the income of minors, Mr. Nunan, made the following statement:

"Husband and wife exemptions —The new law requires that if a husband and wife file separate returns, each must take his own exemptions on his or her own return. Both exemptions can be claimed on the same return only if (a) they file a joint return, or (b) if one of them had no taxable income and was not the dependent of another taxpayer. In applying this rule to wives of men in the armed forces, it should be borne in mind that the tax laws exempt and disregard the first $1,500 of active service pay received each year by a member of the armed forces. The result is that most members of the armed forces have no taxable income, in which case their exemptions can be claimed by their wives.

"Income of minors: The new law provides that the earnings of children shall be considered to belong to the children, and not to their parents, for purposes of the Federal income tax. As a result, minors who had $500 or more income last year must file income tax returns the same as adults. Therefore, parents need no longer include in their own income tax returns the earnings of their children.

"Income under $500: Persons whose income last year was less than $500 are not required to file income tax returns, but frequently will find it advisable to file. In the case of a single person who had less than $500 income from which tax was withheld, the filing of a return will bring a refund of the tax which was withheld. In the case of a married person who had less than $500 income, whether or not any tax was withheld from it, the person should file a joint or combined return with her husband (or his wife) so as to get the full benefit of their exemption.

N. Chicago girls to bowl at B'ville

At 8:30 p. m. Saturday, February 24, the Itasca Merchants of the Bensenville Major League will cross alleys 5 and 6 at Westby's Recreation with the Abbott Dixie Girls from the Abbott Laboratories of North Chicago. Here is one of the most colorful teams of girls in the midwest and one who will give a very good account of themselves on the alleys. This team is made of G. Jerabek, O. Jasovic, B. Christiansen, E. Zulkey and L. Johnson in the order named.

Louise Johnson, captain and shooting anchor recently shot a 667 series at Waukegan and in a recent individual sweeper held at the Bowling Lanes in Chicago, averaged 190 for six games across twelve alleys, finishing well up in the money.

As usual no admission will be charged for this stellar attraction.

Barnie Runge is a candidate for that position.

He has done a good job. He knows how the work should be done.

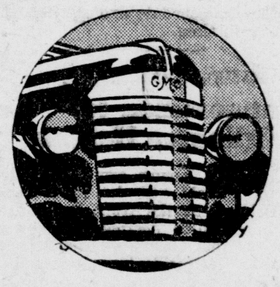

We believe that the payment of two salaries for road work is a waste of tax payer's money.

Barnie Runge will devote his entire time to the job and if he is elected there will be only one salary to pay — not two as at the present time.

Ill. Range Co. to build factory in Mt. Prospect

Foundations for brick building started Monday

The village of Mt. Prospect is to have another industry. Illinois Range Co., an Illinois corporation organized in 1920, has purchased a three acre tract of Herman Moehling, immediately west of Milburn Bros. property on Central road. This firm is now located at 800 South Ada street, Chicago.

Announcement of the plans of this company was withheld until the needed building permit was received from the Mt. Prospect village board. The board authorized the permit Thursday evening and work on the foundation was started Monday.

The Illinois Range Co. specializes in the manufacture of kitchen equipment for restaurants, hospitals and hotels. At present, it is in war work furnishing galley equipment for the U. S. Maritime Commission. The building will be 161x113 feet, with an area of 18,000 square feet. The plans call for a modernized building front of glass and pressed brick, but that class of construction must wait until after the war. Priorities have been granted for common brick construction.

The grounds will be landscaped and ultimately the building will have a frontal appearance similar to the modern factory buildings recently constructed on Peterson Ave., and along other Chicago boulevards.

Phil Jeuck of the Illinois Range Co., became interested in Mt. Prospect when he first visited his friend Herbert VanDriel, local pharmacist. He made the acquaintance of members of the Lions Club and as he became familiar with the community and its citizens, he decided that he would like to become a resident of Mt. Prospect and move his business to that suburb. He discussed the matter at some length with local business men and received so much encouragement that he purchased the property and secured needed priorities from the government.

Preliminary negotiations for the purchase of the property were aided by a special Lions Club committee, comprising Wm. Busse, Jr., Fred Meeske, Geo. L. Busse, Albert Wille and Charles W. Crysler.

The factory will give employment to about forty persons, representing a payroll of $100,000 a year. It will be operated on a union basis, paying salaries that will attract the better class of workers and who will be able to own homes.

Local business men feel that the manufacturing plant will be an addition to Mt. Prospect and may be the forerunner of other light manufacturing plants that will provide home employment for many present residents as well as others skilled in the metal trades.

"The location of this factory in Mt. Prospect," says Fred C. Busse, president of the Lions Club, "might be called the start of post war development for the community."

A&P observes founder's week

The originator of straight-line food distribution will be honored this week by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company as it begins local observance of Founder's Week.

"The event this year comes at a time when both our fighting forces and our home front enter the most decisive phase of the war," Mr. J. P. Smith, Vice President for the company in this area, declared today. "It can be celebrated with pride in the knowledge that the business principles of George Huntington Hartford, who founded the A&P in 1859, have enabled the company to lend its full strength to the war effort."

At the outset of the fourth war since the establishment of the food chain, John A. Hartford, company president and son of the founder, issued a signed statement pledging the A&P to continue efforts to cut the cost of bringing food from producer to consumer; to assist farmers in the orderly marketing of their products at fair prices; and to hold down living costs by selling food at the lowest margin of profit in the history of the retail grocery business.

Mr. Smith declared that in addition to following the terms of its peldge, the company has kept faith with its founder by adhering strictly to government pricing and rationing programs, as well as cooperating in conservation and salvage campaigns.

PATENT GRANTED

A patent has been granted to Frederick A. Poole of Barrington, for a registering and counting apparatus. He has assigned it to the Production Instruments Co., Chicago.

Kitchen Knives

Kitchen knives should be washed and dried separately, then put into a knife rack or a separate compartment in a drawer. Inspection of all electrical equipment will be a valuable precaution against possible accidents or fires. Frayed or worn cords should be repaired immediately and, if they are beyond repair, discarded without hesitation. A few minutes could be profitably spent in checking to be sure that no extension cords run over nails or around pipes and radiators.

A Lecture on Christian Science Entitled Dominion through Obedience to Law by Anna E. Herzog, C. S. B. of Columbus, Ohio

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Delivered under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Barrington, Illinois, in the church edifice, 421 East Main St., Barrington, Illinois, on Sunday afternoon, February 18, 1945, at 4 o'clock.

Mrs. Herzog said that the child begins his mathematical calculations by learning that one and one are two. Later, with mature experience, he may be calculating mathematically in terms of light years and astronomical distances. If so, he has had to travel the long road of experience in strict obedience to the laws of mathematics. Thus it is in the great problem of spiritual growth and progress. Only through accurate obedience to divine law can one achieve ever greater benefits from the law's application.

Divine law in operation, the lecturer said, is the activity of divine Mind. And she asked, What is this Mind whence law comes? She quoted from page 115 of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," where its author, Mary Baker Eddy, defines God as "Divine Principle, Life, Truth, Love, Soul, Spirit, Mind." The real man is the creation of God, the idea of Mind. His reason for being is to express the characteristics of each of these synonyms for God. True self-consciousness is a consciousness of one's own indestructible, definite, everlasting individuality as God's expression.

Mrs. Eddy was the Discoverer of Christian Science and the Founder of The Mother Church and its branches. She is the only Leader of the Christian Science movement, through her writings. Every activity of the church she founded is for the purpose of healing sin and sickness. Its reason for being is the demonstration of the Christ, that active, loving, healing influence for good which Jesus knew and demonstrated so well.

Mrs. Herzog said that prayer, as understood in Christian Science, is consciously uniting our thought to God and seeking a closer communion with infinite Love. Christian Science treatment is purely mental; it is prayer only. It includes seeing that God alone is power and that the real man is one with God. The Christian Science practioner regards a sick man or a sinner with compassion, even as Jesus did.

The lecturer pointed out that everyone who really loves his brother wants to be able to say to those in need "Rise up and walk." And everyone will have to attain that ability through obedience to the same rules which the Master obeyed. Might and obedience go hand in hand.

In the midst of confusion, war, or sorrow, the Christian Scientist holds to the spiritual realities of being. He knows evil to be only a phase of mesmerism, a lie or unreality. He knows that eventually good will triumph in the affairs of the world. As the individual finds peace and healing by fulfilling the law of his being as Mind's reflection, so can the nations, those great groups of individuals, find peace and harmony in obeying the laws of God.

To summarize, the lecturer said, think in obedience to Principle, then live in obedience to your thinking. And that will mean for each of you, today, in the measure of your acceptance and practice of this Science of obedience to Spirit, a fuller, richer, gladder life, and an ever-increasing measure of free and God-governed dominion.

Mrs. D. J. Beaty of 919 No. Dunton st., Arlington Heights, was recently taken from the Sherman hospital in Elgin, to the Florence Rest Home, Marengo, Ill. She is quite well. She is near the home of her son, John Y. Beaty, who lives on a farm near Crystal Lake.

Vegetables

Sweet potatoes may be just a vegetable to most Americans right now—but its possibilities are being tried out in several Alabama towns, the War Food Administration reports. Sweet potatoes have been made into an unusual breakfast food—a crispy crunchy flake, sweetened with its own natural sugar. It is one of twelve new and different foods, all made from the common sweet potato, and known as Alayam food products. In addition to the breakfast food, there are Alayam toffee and confections, and Alamalt, a powder which gives milk drinks a rich, caramel flavor and which has also been used successfully in baked products.

On the fresh food markets this week, sweet potatoes remain fairly moderate in price, and are a good "energy-giving" vegetable choice. Rutabagas and winter squash are other excellent selections from the "green and yellow" vegetable group of the Basic Seven, and are very economically priced.

Market-wise homemakers will plan on plenty of salads this week, with heavy supplies of lettuce arriving and offered at reasonable levels, and fairly liberal stocks of carrots and cabbage on hand, with the price tags on both these items marked downward. Of course, these vegetables are fine for cooking as well as serving raw. The patient experimentation of plant breeders have succeeded in streamlining and tenderizing carrots over a period of years. The proof of their success lies in the fact that Americans are eating nearly three times as many carrots now as they did in 1920.

This is indeed the season to serve broccoli, if food budgets allow, as February and March are the two months when it is in heaviest supply on the Chicago market. A wide price range prevails on green beans according to quality.

Apples are the best all around buy in fruit, and prices are quite reasonable on Midwestern offerings. Citrus fruit prices have edged slightly higher in the past week. A few imports of bananas and pineapples are coming in, and also a few Florida strawberries, but this latter is strictly a luxury item.

Dried Fruits

Run cold water over dried fruits before grinding in the food chopper and they will not stick together.

Wounded

Word was received that Kenneth Heimlich, formerly of Arlington Heights, was wounded in Luxemburg January 26. He is now in a hospital in England.

Mrs. Heimlich received a letter from her husband dated February 8 saying he had been hit in the right leg and both hips. He reported he was getting along o. k. and that he had been given the best medical care. Ken also stated he expected to be back into action again in about two months.

His address is Pfc. Kenneth Heimlich, 36765091, Hospital Plant 296, APO 573, % PM, New York, N. Y.

Australia

Lt. Donald Bingham of Wheeling has been on leave, spending his time in Sidney, Australia. Lt. Bingham is with the Air Transport Command and has been very busy flying supplies to our advancing troops in the Philippines. Lt. Bingham is now piloting a C-46.

Still no word of missing man

Further word stating that Jack Kieser of Arlington Heights is missing in action in France was received this week by his wife, Mrs. Kieser. She had written to his chaplain asking about his disappearance as of December 19, 1944. She received notification of his missing status January 7. The letter states:

"On the night of 19 December 1944, the Battalion was attacked by a strong enemy force about 2230. They were completely surrounded and each individual had to defend himself with his own weapon. The situation became critical and the order was given that each man get away if possible. Cpl. Kieser has not been heard from since.

"The area in which this incident took place was retaken ten days hence and the grounds have been searched for any evidence that might clear up this case, and no evidence was found that would indicate that Jack had been killed. So we hope he is a prisoner of war."

Georgia

From ort Oglethorpe, Georgia, comes word of Ruth Karstens of Arlington Heights.

"Just a few lines to give you a change of address. It is now Hq. Det. 3rd WAC TC, 1467 SCU Bks 1326, ort Oglethorpe, Ga.

"We are patiently waiting for Wednesday night since the premiere showing of the WAC movie, 'Keep Your Powder Dry' will be shown in Chattanooga. Many of the scenes were photographed right here in Oglethorpe.

"We had our first taste of spring weather today. Right now all the windows in our barracks are open and it is quite comfortable needless to say. I do look forward to the paper every Saturday morning in mail call to keep me posted on latest happenings in A.H."

Italy

From Italy comes word of Melvine Beese of Mt. Prospect.

"Received your Enterprise again and I want to express my appreciation for sending it to me. I received 9 copies in one evening so it kept me quite busy.

"The weather out here is getting better and the nights aren't quite as cool as it has been the past few weeks.

"Since my reclassification I have seen parts of Italy the easy way and I've visited Pisa, saw and climbed all around the leaning tower, saw the cathedral, and the Baptismal or something like it anyway.

"The people are cleaner up this way and they are not as friendly. It's immaterial to me which way they are. They don't interest me.

"One copy of the Enterprise had a paragraph stating I was reclassified and presumably on my way home. I did think I was coming home last August. In fact I was told that I was supposed to have received the Distinguished Service Cross for Cassino and vicinity. Well, the order never came down so I was reassigned to a Laundry Om. Co. It's a pretty good outfit compared to the life the infantry leads. So a week or so ago the order came down stating that I was recommended for the D.S.C. but it was rejected by the high command. The reason for the rejection is unknown but I figure if I didn't earn it I don't want it. So I guess I'm here for the duration unless a miracle happens.

"My arm that was hit is getting better lately and hope to regain full strength of it again.

"If there is anyone here in Italy from around home please drop me a line to see if we can't manage to get together somehow.

"If Wally Granzin reads this in the paper, I want him to drop me a line. I haven't heard from him in ages. How about it Wally? Don't forget to duck."

Technical Sergeant Robert C. Smith, husband of Mrs. Lucille Smith of Neche, North Dakota, and son of Mrs. Ida Smith, 19 W. Parkside, Lombard, recently appeared on the "Sidewalks of Rome" radio show, a feature of the Mediterranean Theater's station in the city.

For 20 months of his two years overseas Sergeant Smith served as Battalion sergeant major with the 133rd Infantry Battalion of the 34th Division. The last 4 months he has spent with the Allied Commission in Rome as a supply technician.

Before entering the Army, Sergeant Smith managed the Mount Prospect Country Club, Mount Prospect. He has a two year old son, Jeffery.

Sergeant Gosta H. Benson, brother of Mrs. Ingrid M. Ostrom, who lives at 220 South Ioka avenue, Mt. Prospect, has been promoted to staff sergeant. He is a platoon sergeant with a quartermaster unit of the Fifth Army in Italy.

Pacific

Covering the Pacific recently is Jack Hannon of Arlington Heights. In Jack's last letter home he revealed many of the places he had been, but still couldn't reveal his present location.

"Have covered a lot of ground since leaving home last Spring. We covered the Marshalls, Saipan invasion, Tinian, Guadalcanal, Palau. Some of these engagements weren't easy by any means. Still can't reveal my present spot.

"No Christmas packages as yet, but still have hopes. Have received most of the Heralds and sure do enjoy them. Keep sending those letters."

Jack is stationed aboard an LST in the Pacific. Part of his duty includes serving aboard a small boat crew. The crew has been recommended for a citation for action in the invasions.

Edward Huber of Arlington Heights is now at sea, probably in the Pacific. He was formerly stationed at San Diego. His address is F1c E. R. Huber. 851-95-91, % FPO, San Francisco, Calif.

Now overseas, probably in the Pacific, is Ralph Bartels of Palatine. He was formerly stationed at Richmond, Virginia. His address is MoM Ralph Bartels, % FPO, San Francisco, Calif.

Returns after 26 mo. in Africa and Italy

T-3 George Sharp serves with medical unit

Now home on furlough after 26 months overseas is T-3 George Sharp of Arlington Heights. George originally hails from Pekin, Ill., and is the husband of the former Inez Ihle of Arlington.

George went overseas in December of 1942, serving as a member of a medical unit. "We landed at Casablanca just a month after the invasion. After staying there for a short time, our station hospital was moved to Rabat. We stayed there 6 mnths serving all hospital cases in the area.

"Just because a man is in the army, that's no sign that sickness and operations disappear entirely from the picture. Cases of appendicitis, and everything else necessitating hospitalization back home still arise in the service overseas.

"The station hospital is set up for the use of all men of a definite area. This differs from a general hospital where they may take any case, depending upon the seriousness of the wound or illness. The generals are larger and better equipped, and usually serve hospital cases that are passed on from evacuation or station hospitals.

"After being stationed at Oran for 9 months more, I was sent to Italy where I was stationed at the 64th general hospital at Leghorn, as we called it. The Italians had another name for the place, but I never attempted to learn to speak their language. Both the natives and I learned a few words of the other's language, and we got along o. k.

"Only time I ever met any one from home was at the 64th when I learned that Lou Sadecky of Arlington Heights was also stationed there. We roomed together from June of '44 to this past January. It was great to have someone from home with whom to talk. We had some swell times together.

"I spent some time in Naples seeing the sights. Harbor facilities had been badly damaged by bombing but the rest of the town was in pretty good shape as far as the buildings were concerned.

"Temperature there would hover around 35 to 40 in the winter time, and was plenty hot in the summer. It snowed just once there, and then it didn't last out the day. Rain is the big item in Italy. It starts at the beginning of winter and never lets up. They can have that country for all of me.

"Of course, my impression of Africa was not too good, either. The towns, except for European sections, were all pretty dirty. The natives were included, of course. Most parts of the towns were off limits, though tours could be arranged and were permissible."

George enlisted in the army in December of 1940. He was immediately put in the medical corps and was stationed at Fort Sheridan for several months. Fort Custer, Michigan, was the next stop, then Hill Reservation, Virginia, before going overseas.

T-3 Sharp took a month to get home, though half of that time was spent in getting out of Italy. He arrived in Arlington on February 8, and is scheduled to report to Miami Beach, Florida, March 1 for further assignment.

Mrs. Sharp will accompany her husband to Miami Beach March 6.

Lt. Paul Wood still missing over Germany

Still on a missing status is 2nd Lt. Paul Wood, formerly of Arlington Heights, pilot of a P-51 Mustang fighter plane based in England. Paul was reported missing after a raid over Germany June 29, 1944. He is the son of Capt. and Mrs. Paul Wood of Libertyville.

Paul was on his way to Berlin with a bombing squadron June 29 when his engine developed engine trouble over Geissen, Germany.

He radioed his nearest plane that he was returning back to England. That was the last heard from him.

Just last week the War department confirmed his missing status saying no additional word had been received, and that he was still so classified.

Lt. Wood received his wings and commission in Moultrie, Georgia, in October, 1943. He enlisted in the AAF in September, 1942. Paul was sent overseas in January, 1944, and served on operational missions over Europe for five months.

Paul was awarded the Air Medal in June, having completed 200 hours in the air. He was credited with shooting down two German planes in one day June 21, and two more June 28.

Mrs. Wood has the Air Medal, brought home by Paul's roommate. He reported that several clusters were awaiting Paul at his 9th air force base.

Paul graduated from Libertyville high school in 1940, and attended the University of Illinois, studying engineering for 2 years. He was a member of Triangle fraternity.

His father, Capt. Paul W. Wood, Sr., now on inactive duty, served for fourteen months in Washington, D. C., with the CAAAC, having enlisted in the Army soon after his son, serving from January, 1943 until March, 1944.

Paul's mother and father, three sisters, Anna Lee, Marilyn, Virginia, and a brother, Richard, reside in Libertyville.

Saipan

Now believed to be on Saipan is Eric Johnson of Prospect Heights. His address is T/5 Eric Johnson, APO 244, % PM, San Francisco, Calif.

Bank nets $10

France

From France comes word of Ted Hauer of Arlington Heights.

"Since the last time I wrote I have been in Paris. I was there for five days and sure had a nice time. Paris is some city. Saw just about every thing in the line of fashions. The girls are very nice looking but still not like the girls back there. It costs a person lots of money for a good time here.

"Everyone there has lots of money, more money than I've seen in a long time. It sure was nice to walk around on streets and not see any mud.

"We have been having lots of snow for the last week. It was a nice day today though but when that sun doesn't come out we have that well known mud again. It has been quite as cold as back home.

"Had a very nice Christmas, but was thinking what kind I would have had if I was home. New Years was very dry for me. But hope I will be home next year for a wet one.

"It has been some time since I had any mail from any one back there. I would like to get some. How about some one writing to me?"

From France comes word of Fred Kuester of Palatine.

"Just a few lines to say hello and to let you know I am well and thinking of you all at home. The weather here is very cold with more than enough snow. Winter here is just about the same as we have at home.

The people here treat us very good and the fact that I can speak German comes in very handy. Have talked to a lot of the people here and have seen a lot of places over here, giving me all the more reason to be thankful that all my friends are safe back in the good old U. S. A.

"As yet the paper has not caught up with me but am looking for it from day to day. Sure hope it starts to arrive soon for I miss all the home town news."

His address is Pvt. Fred G. Kuester, 36989940, APO 26, % PM, New York, N. Y.

Now back with his division in Europe is Wilbert Grandt of Arlington Heights. Wilbert is a member of the 28th division that was stretched so thinly when attacked by the Germans in the December breakthrough. His address is Pfc. Wilbert Grandt, 36372232, APO 28, % PM, New York, N. Y.

Now somewhere in France is Pfc. Richard Clavey of Northbrook.

GERALD A. McELROY

Our congratulations to the coaches of the championship teams which were crowned the past week-end. Bensenville's Bisons followed up titles in track and football with an undisputed cage championship. The Bisons, after a 30-28 loss at Barrington in the opener, never came very close to losing another league game all season. Bensenville's was a five man team with reserves seeing hardly any action all season. The Bisons had a very tough zone defense, two tall boys to handle rebounds, a very fast pair in Schoppe and Webb, a wizard at ball handling in Webb at guard, and a very smarl dependable back guard in Dave Rands. Scoring was well distributed in the 10 league games as follows. Schoppe 101, Ernsting 99, Neuman 81, Webb 70, and Rands 35. Coach Tom Meneguin turned out a fine team which played smart alert basketball.

Graham's lights win Northwest

Coach Franklin Graham of Barrington handled both teams at that school this year. His Bronchos, favored to win the varsity championship, failed to do so because of the Palatine jinx which caused them the two setbacks which made it third instead of first for Barrington. However Graham's lightweights won their second undisputed championship in a row and their third in six years with a 9-1 record, the only defeat coming in the final of the season at Palatine. Graham had a lot of talented lights on his squad who should make both Barrington teams formidable units next year in as much as he has four varsity regulars returning.

Niles stretch drive wins share of N. E. title

In the Northeast it is a season of ties. Crystal Lake touted to sweep their 12 game schedule with a team intact from the previous year found the going very rough and dropped decisions to Arlington, Niles, and Leyden but still tied for the championship with Niles. Lack of consistent playing forced Coach Art Njaa's team to be content with a shared title.

Coach Mackey of Niles had a green team at the start of the season and lost three of the first four games to Leyden, Crystal Lake, and Libertyville.

Apparently out of the race the Trojans roared back to sweep the remaining eight games on their schedule in no uncertain fashion and gained a tie for the championship with a 9-3 record. Right now Niles is one of the best ball teams in this area and what is more all but the veteran Anderson will be back to defend the title another year. Niles won the hard way by beating every one of their rivals for the title in the stretch when a loss to any one of them would have put them out of the race.

Cards favored to tie Niles for JV championship

With one game remaining between Arlington and Woodstock it appears that Niles and Arlington will tie for the junior varsity title. Niles has at least a tie sewed up with a 11-1 record, their lone defeat coming at the hands of Arlington. Arlington should have a like record after Friday as they meet the cellar Woodstock team. Arlington's only loss was a one pointer at Crystal Lake.

Harvey beats Ladd for scoring championship— both break record

Little five foot seven inch Gerald Harvey of Wauconda, a chunky junior forward with a dead eye to the loop, set a new Northwest Conference scoring record for 10 games this season with 150 points for a 15 a game average. Close behind was Norman Ladd, six foot two all round star of the strong Ela five who collected a 148 total to also better the old mark of 127 made by Jim Ladd of Ela last season. Going into the final game Ladd had 132 and Harvey 133. Ladd got 16 against Grant and Harvey popped in 17 against Antioch. Flock of Barrington and Williams of Northbrook each had only an 18 point total for their first four games but came back at a terrific pace after Christmas. Flock finished the season with 115 and Williams was right behind with 112.

Record crowd sees Pirates beat Bronchos

Close to 900 people saw Palatine extend their string of league victories over Barrington to 12 straight last Friday. It was the largest crowd ever to see a basketball game in Palatine. If many more had come to the game there would have been no basketball court on which to play. As it was there were all of 150 standing in the four corners of the playing floor and almost that many more standing in the balcony. It was a big night for Palatine in every way.

Reminds us of Megel's last game as Palatine coach

Friday's Barrington game at Palatine reminds us of the meeting of the same schools on the same court in 1935. It was the final of the season just as Friday night. It was the largest crowd to see Palatine basketball up to that time. Like Friday, when Barrington played minus their star center Gaulke, the Bronchos of 1935 were playing minus their center and leading scorer, Latta. The difference that year was that the championship was at stake. Barrington had 11 straight league victories and Palatine 10 wins and a single loss at Barrington.

In this game Palatine won 21-18 and got a share of the title as Red Helms sank three long ones from the center in the third quarter and with the score tied and 20 seconds to go big Ed Hahnfeldt took a pass at the free throw line, pivoted and drove into the basket to score with a Barrington player hanging on his arm. He also sank the free throw. That was Barrington's last varsity championship and at that time their fourth in five years in a tougher Northwest Conference than the one they play in now. In fact up to 1939 when Palatine's present 12 game streak started Barrington had something like a 2-1 edge on Palatine in point of games won in the history of their cage rivalry.

Tournament predictions— don't bank on them

Our predictions this season in basketball have been a little sour at times so don't bank too much on what we are going to say about the tournaments. Anyway here is our dope. We pick Libertyville to beat Ela in the final of the Wauconda district tourney Friday night. At Riverside we are looking for Bensenville to get by Hinsdale, West Suburban tailender, in the semi-final and lose to powerful Riverside in the final. McHenry barring upsets should win the Hebron district and meet Arlington in the Dundee regional where they will lose to the Cards.

Elgin and Dundee will breeze to the final of the Dundee regional and Elgin will breeze through the final. At Waukegan it looks like the host school in one bracket to oppose either Niles or Evanston in the final. The way Niles has been playing of late we are picking them to be the darkhorse of the meet and whip Evanston and Libertyville but lose to Waukegan in the final. Now you pick one.

A high I. Q. an asset in basketball

Dave Rands, outstanding musician and outstanding student at Bensenville high school, recently passed the navy radar tests and will have special schooling in this line after he graduates in June. Rands is the black haired lad who has played such smart basketball as the back guard on Bensenville's cage champs. Rands was a lightweight sub as a sophomore. He was a varsity sub who got into the lineup upon rare occasions last year. With very limited experience he has become a valued regular on a championship team this season. He is a smart boy who learned the game rapidly. Coaches like that kind of material and you will find few championship teams that do not have at least several good students numbered among their regulars. It takes brains to play championship basketball.

Pirates lead N. W. league in team defense

Even though Palatine scored the smallest varsity point total for the season of any team in the Northwest Conference they tied for third with a good 7-3 rating. The answer is in the defense. The Pirates had much the best defensive average in the league. Defense is one phase of basket ball which can usually be depended on to vary less from game to game than any other part of a team's playing.

The percentage of basket shooting is the greatest variable in the game. Therefore we argue the development first of a good defense is the soundest approach to the problem of building a winning team. A good defensive team does not suffer many bad beatings and will win some of them when their opponents are having an off night in shooting.

A team that depends for its defense on outscoring the opponents may look like world beaters a lot of the time, but they won't always be hitting, and if they are not they are going to be upset when they least expect it, likely as not by a second rate opponent. We still contend that, especially for the small school that does not have a lot of natural basketball talent, defensive work and ball handling come ahead of basket shooting in developing winning basketball.

Arlington falls to Libertyville, 41-34

Tornadoes in 22nd win, 40-30

Arlington's Green Tornadoes made it 22 wins in 23 games by trouncing Libertyville's Juniors 40 to 30. The Juniors and Sophomores worked up a 19 to 6 halftime lead. The freshmen started the second half by allowing Libertyville 5 points in the short space of a minute or two.

It took quite a time for the Juniors to get started again when they went back into the game. Half way through the last quarter the Juniors rang up the 40th point and with a little more than 3 minutes to go the sophomores were again sent back into the game, but failed to register this time.

Marvin Kamps was high with 16 points and did a good job of filling in for Bill Wille who has been moved up to the varsity as a replacement for the injured Hamburg. Aldrich held second honors with 10 points. The sophomores missed the work of Dale Williams who is out for the season with the mumps.

Both squads 'off the beam'

In a game characterized by strict refeering Arlington's Cards were nosed out by a tall Libertyville squad. Neither team played anywhere up to par, but since the Redbirds were more off the beam than the Tigers, the final score was Libertyville 41, Cards 34.

Scoring was well distributed, Erickson of Libertyville leading with 11 points, Lennartz with 9 and Nickoley with 9. They all topped Arlington's Kleiner and Page who had 8 points each. Ehard and A. Stroker each collected 7 points. Drake, Herr and A. Stroker left the game via the 5-foul route.

This was a tough one for the Cards to lose as it definitely put them out of the championship race.

Varsity wins, 37-29; lights in best game, 29-15

It is now 12 straight times that Palatine has beaten Barrington in Northwest Conference varsity basketball. Palatine's ability to play their best ball against the Bronchos was never more in evidence than Friday night when the varsity won 37-29 and the lightweights upset Barrington's undefeated juniors 29-15. In neither game did Barrington at any time have the lead. The games were played before the largest crowd ever to see basketball in Palatine with all of 800 crowding into Palatine's tiny gym and filling the corners of the playing court itself.

The Palatine Pirates, by Friday's victory, finished the league season in a tie with Barrington for third place with a 7-3 record. The Pirates took the lead at the outset and with Vogt leading the way took a 7-2 advantage at the quarter. At the half Palatine still led 13-9 and extended this margin to 24-17 in the third period as Albert Toppel hit from the field three times in a row. Coach Graham of Barrington used the free substitution rule to the extreme in the last half to save time to overtake the Pirates but the only result was a worse beating than would have otherwise been the case and the loss of three of his boys on fouls. The extra time also enabled Palatine to pile up their greatest point total of the conference season. At one time in the last quarter Barrington pulled up to a 24-21 count for their only threat. Palatine ran the score to 30-21 however before the Bronchos again counted.

The loss of big Ralph Gaulke, inducted into the army Tuesday, hurt Barrington especially on rebounds but his smaller brother who has been declared 4F was in the game. Jack Flock who scored 115 points in 10 league games was high man with 15 for Barrington. Albert Toppel, who did not play due to illness when Palatine won 27-26 at Barrington before Christmas, was high for the Pirates with 14 points and played his best game of the year. All the Palatine starters who included Vogt, Smith, Hapke, Toppel and Kinsch, turned in fine performances. Defensively they had Barrington stopped cold except for Flock and his baskets were made under difficult conditions. Neither team made 25 per cent of their field goal tries.

Palatine's lightweights turned in the smoothest performance of the year to easily top Barrington's undefeated champs 29-15. Led by brilliant shooting and ball handling on the part of Ray Howes and fine pivot play by Leon LeBaron, the junior Pirates dominated play throughout the game though the contest was actually sewed up in the first quarter when Palatine ran up a 13-2 lead. Howes and LeBaron each scored nine points in the first half and Howes had 15 for the entire game. The starting fire of Howes, Freye, LeBaron, Gustafson and Kolze handled the ball exceptionally well for lightweights and showed the fans just how much the team had improved since losing at Barrington 27-13 in mid December. The lightweights ended the season with 11 victories and six defeats in all games and a conference record of 8-2. Barrington won the championship with a 9-1 mark.

Card alumni host to Ela this Saturday

An all-alumni game is on the card for this Saturday night when the Ela high school alumni meet the Arlington team in a two-game card. Preliminary game, scheduled for 7 p. m. in the Arlington gym, will feature the Intramural leaders vs. Intramural all-stars.

Alumni teams carry mostly service and ex-service men on their rosters. The Heights team is the same that bowed to the high school varsity a few weeks ago. The Ela aggregation features Jim Ladd, Northwest conference scoring champ of two years ago.

Admission to the game is 35 cents for adults, and 25 cents for children.

Antioch 3rd period rout wins from Wauconda, 47-35

Led by Capt. Louis Nielsen who scored 17 points from a guard position, Antioch ran over Wauconda 47-35 in the final game of the season last Friday. The first half was close with Antioch in front 19-14 but the third quarter was a rout as the Sequoits ran the count to 35-21 with a 16-point total in eight minutes.

Gerald Harvey, pudgy Wauconda forward, sank eight baskets and a free throw to win the individual scoring championship of the league with 150 points in 10 games, a 15 a game average.

Antioch's lightweights finished in a tie for third with Bensenville by beating Wauconda 34-24 led by Kraft's 12-point scoring total.

Bisons trim N'brook in conference final

Ernsting leads mates with 25 pts. Lights win

Bensenville's Bisons took Northbrook in stride 49-32 last Friday night to clinch their first varsity championship in Northwest Conference basketball in 15 years. The Bisons, by whipping Northbrook Friday, made it an undisputed title with a 9-1 record. Their only defeat was a 30-28 affair at Barrington in the season opener which was lost only because of the loss of Webb, star guard, in the final period.

Friday night it was Ernsting, junior forward, who set the pace for the Bisons with 25 points on 11 field goals and three free throws. The big Bensenville player, who was all conference in football, poured in 16 points in the first half mainly on rebounds and pivot shots to give the Bisons a 30-19 lead at the intermission. The rest of the team came to his assistance in the second half and made the game a runaway but Northbrook battled hard all the way down to the finish. Schoppe and Webb scored 10 and 9 points for the Bisons while Dahlberg got six field goals for 12 points for Northbrook's Vikings. Williams who had averaged 23 points in his last two games was held to a lowly five by the tough Bensenville zone defense.

Bensenville's lightweights finished the season in a tie with Antioch for third place by beating Northbrook 23-14. The junior Bisons had a 17-5 lead at the half and had less trouble winning than the final count would indicate. Thollander scored 11 for the Bisons.

Washington

From Whidbey Island, Washington, comes word of Bill Hartmann of Palatine.

"I want you to know that I appreciate the paper very much. It's always nice to know the whereabouts of our buddies we used to know. Am thanking the Legion Auxiliary and all who make it possible for us to get 'our home town paper'.

"I'm still here on Whidbey Island and have just returned here from leave. I was home for 16 days. It was really swell being home again. I didn't get to see all I wanted to, but it's not that I didn't want to. Just to be home was swell."

His address is S1c William Hartmann, Naval Air Station, Box B-3, Whidbey Island, Wash.

Now at Vancouver, Washington, is Ralph Busse of Mt. Prospect. He was wounded in France last November and just recently arrived back in the States. His address is Pfc. Ralph A. Busse, Barnes Gen'l Hosp., Det of Patients, Ward 6, Vancouver, Washington.

Luxemburg

From Luxemburg comes word of Leonard Hartman of Palatine.

"Receive the Palatine Enterprise quite often, even if some do come late. Since I left the States I have been in England, France, Belgium and Luxemburg. Took ten prisoners to the prison a few days ago.

"As I was lucky enough to learn to talk German in the States I'm able to talk to the prisoners or civilians here. Told them I wanted a few coins. They gave me all the coins and bills they had. This is written with one of their pens. Have a German black jack also. And a few other things.

"Hope I get to bring back a few. Hope this ends as soon as some people think. I quit guessing. Thanks again for the paper and Christmas cards and letters from friends."

His address is Sgt. Leonard . Hartman, 36360812, APO 452, % PM, New York, N. Y.

Changing his address in Luxemburg where he is serving in General Patton's army is Warren Perry of Palatine. His address is Pfc. Warren Perry, 36629967, APO 403, % PM, New York, N. Y.

Europe

Home on furlough from Europe is Art Smith of Northbrook. Cpl. Smith flew home and is spending his furlough with his wife's parents, the F. Dettmans.

Philippines

From the Philippines comes word of Dale Phillis of Arlington Heights.

"I suppose I should tell you something about the Philippine people. The Japs gave them pretty rough treatment while they were here. They took their food and clothes—even furniture from their homes. They were very afraid to resist them as they would be shot. There is no need to tell you how happy they were to see us return.

"They speak English very well so we use no sign language like before. The girls are nice but very bashful. They are respected and treated as our own girls at home.

"I was invited into one of the homes for dinner a few days ago. We had three dishes—one being rice cake baked on a banana leaf. The other two I can't describe except they were very rich and good. These people had many pictures taken before the war and their clothes were really swell. The Japs have them now.

"They knew more about the United States than I did. They sing our songs very well. I just can't describe in words what it's like. I always wanted to come here and finally made it. I possibly will be talking about the Philippines for a long time once I get home.

"I happened to see a newssheet today and notice it is very cold at home. The climate here is more like ours at home.

"I am enclosing some Jap invasion money as a souvenir. By the way a Peso is worth fifty cents in our money. The money is worthless now as the Japs used it."

His address is S/Sgt. Dale Phillis, 36311760, APO 70, % PM, San Francisco, Calif.

Mississippi

Now at Camp Shelby, Mississippi, is Paul Hoeft of Arlington Heights. He was stationed at Camp Swift, Texas, after returning from more than a 2 year stay in the Aleutians. His address is Pfc. Paul Hoeft, H & S Co., 202nd Inf Bn (Sep.), Camp Shelby, Miss.

Pacific

From somewhere out in the Pacific comes word of Al Kehe of Arlington Heights.

"Sure was a surprise to be named for the traveling bank. It's great to know your friends back home are thinking of you. Many times a guy wonders how many of friends even remember him. Those letters that come now and then, and the traveling bank, show you your friends do think of you.

"Best thing about coming out here for 4 months is meeting my brother, Fred, who I hadn't seen for 14 months. I spent 9 hours with him, and it was great. He'll be home in about a month.

"Also met Roland Koenig. Then about a month ago I met Mel Garms and Eddie Bublitz in Honolulu. Couldn't find Jack Wiese though."

From some island base in the Pacific comes word of Pfc. Robert Wright of Palatine.

"I am out here in the Pacific on an island. It's hot here. There's no place to go and not much to write about. I hope this will be over soon so I can get back home, and see all of you again.

"It will be a year in March since I joined the Marines. They're a swell bunch of fellows. I have never met any boys from back home but sure would like to.

"I have been promoted to Pfc. and have a lot more to do. I still have time to read mail though. Believe me, that's one thing we like to get. Keep it coming."

His address is Pfc. Robert C. Wright, 552519, % FPO, San Francisco, Calif.

Great Lakes

Still at Great Lakes, though boot training ends this week, is George Callahan of Arlington Heights. He became a scarlet fever case while at the Lakes, and has just been released from quarantine.

His parents still have their Christmas tree up, awaiting George's return from the Lakes. Mrs. Callahan reports the needles have begun to fall but she is hoping the tree will last a few more days.

Gene Johnson of Arlington Heights left February 14 for Great Lakes where he will receive boot training in the navy.

Knocks out Messerschmitt

Repelling a German fighter plane attack demands so much speed that there is no time for nervousness or excitement, is the opinion of staff Sergeant Edward W. Wagner, 24, ball turret gunner from Arlington Heights. Sgt. Wagner recently shared official credit for destroying a Nazi Messerschmidtt 109 while his B-17 Flying Fortress was proceeding on a bombing mission to a German airdrome.

"The first time I knew we had company was when some one yelled over the internhone, 'Bandits are coming,'" said Sgt. Wagner. "About thirty Focke-Wulf 190's came out of the sun and swung at our tail. I picked the Me 109 closest to our bomber and cut loose. He peeled off to the left and below us. Suddenly he blew up into a million pieces."

Sgt. Wagner shares credit for the destruction with Technical Sgt. Basil Boruch of Northampton, Pa., left waist gunner on his Fort.

A veteran of more than 50 missions over targets in the Reich, Edward holds the Distinguished Flying Cross as well as the Air Medal with seven Oak Leaf Clusters. He is the son of Edward F. Wagner of 36 South Highland avenue, Arlington Heights. His wife, Mrs. Judy Wagner, lives at home with his parent.

He is a member of the 487th Bomb. Group commanded by Col. William K. Martin of Ogden, Utah. The group is a unit of the Third Air Division, the division cited by the President for its now historic England-Africa shuttle bombing of Messerschmitt plants at Regensburg, in August, 1943.

New Guinea

His wife, Mrs. Judy Wagner, lives at 36 South Highland ave., Arlington Heights.

We're putting Frank Scott of Mt. Prospect in New Guinea. His address is Pfc. Frank Scott, Jr., 16144863, APO 703, % PM, San Francisco, Calif.

According to our records Kenneth Behnke of Palatine is now in New Guinea. His address is Pfc. Kenneth C. Behnke, 36222252, APO 322, % PM, San Francisco, Calif.

Florida

From Pensacola, Florida, comes word of L. J. Mesko of Arlington Heights.

"Just got back from Panama.

Served 19 months there and then was transferred to Pensacola as a Gunnery Instructor, which is a pretty good racket. All I do is teach Cadets, Waves and British fliers how to take a .30 calibre machine gun apart and put it back together again within a certain period of time.

"I would like to go over again but they won't let us. If I did have a chance to go over there again I wouldn't want to go to Panama. I'd like to go to the South Pacific and see some action. That's the reason why I joined this Navy, and not to instruct a bunch of Waves and Cadets on how to shoot .30 calibre machine guns. Just let them give me a chance to go over again. I'll take it right away.

"I want you to know that I appreciate the paper very much. It's nice to know the whereabouts of buddies you used to know before this war started."

His address is L. J. Mesko, AOM 3c, USN, Machine Gun Range, % Gunnery PO, NAS, Pensacola, Fla.

France

From France comes word of Bob Luckner of Mt. Prospect.

"I think it is about time I dropped you a few lines. I am now somewhere in France. We had snow when I first arrived here but all you can see now is mud.

"As yet the Mt. Prospect Herald has not caught up with me. The last one I received was either the last issue in December or the first issue in January. I am hoping that the paper soon catches up with me as it sure is swell to be able to read about the home town and the fellows and girls I went to school with in high school.

"Will write again and let you know if the papers have caught up with me. We receive mail every other day and yesterday papers started to arrive."

His address is T-4 Robert Luckner, 16127764, APO 89, % PM, New York, N. Y.

From somewhere in France comes word of Art Wahl of Arlington Heights.

"This is from one of the fighting home town boys. Would like to say hello to all my friends back home. All of you can feel certain that we are all doing our part to get this thing over as soon as possible.

"Am writing this from a hospital where I have been the past 12 days. Hope to be back with my outfit soon."

His address is Sgt. Arthur L. Wahl, 36946825, APO 417, % PM, New York, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Schaer of Northbrook have received word from the war department that their son, Robert, is in a hospital in Alsace-Lorraine suffering from burns on the face and body.

New Mexico

Home on 21 days furlough from Santa Fe, New Mexico, is Cpl. Frank Andersen of Northbrook. He is visiting his wife who is with the Herman Rosenows. His parents live in Minneapolis.

BANKRUPT

A voluntary petition in bankruptcy has been filed in the United States Circuit court by Edward Salter of Arlington Heights. He lists $1879 liabilities and $315 assets.

With Uncle Sam

Rhode Island

From Newport, Rhode Island, comes word of Lawrence Hodges of Mt. Prospect.

"I am writing from Newport, Rhode Island. I have been reading the Mt. Prospect Herald which I received many times, and get special enjoyment from the letters all the fellows write from all over the world.

"It wasn't long ago when a lot of us were in high school, not even dreaming some day we would be mixed up in a war. I thought if I would write a letter some of the fellows would see my address and write a few lines to say hello.

"I went through my boot training at Great Lakes which lasted for twelve weeks. After boot I had a nine day leave. From there I was sent to Fort Pierce, Florida, for Amphibious Force training which lasted thirteen weeks. I was made a coxwain on a L. C. V. P. landing barge. Then I was sent here to catch my ship, the USS Woodford, which will be commissioned before the end of March in New York City. After that it is up to Uncle Sam what happens.

"As far as liberty is concerned it is swell compared to Florida. We are a few hours from New York and Boston both. I guess this is about the best liberty I'll ever see.

"That's just about all there is to tell. Now how about some of you guys writing so I can find out where you are and what you are doing. Hoping to hear from you soon I close."

His address is Lawrence Hodges S1c, USS Woodford Detail, Division L-3, USNTB, Newport, Rhode Island.

Philippines

Sgt. Roger Rockenbach of Wheeling says he has had another "boat ride" and has been to busy to write, which no doubt means that he has been moving up in the Philippines. He teils of being treated swell by the Filipino people in one of the towns they stayed for a while. He has been receiving a good number of letters, but so far, his Christmas packages haven't all caught up with him. A recent movie was the first he had seen in four months.

Before leaving New Guinea he enjoyed the Bob Hope show. Roger has been away in the service two and one-half years. He says "hello" to the folks back home and thanks for their letters.

Oahu

From Oahu comes word of Harvey Oltendorf of Palatine.

"I have been going to school here on Oahu for a month now and expect to stay here until May or June. Best thing here is the weather. It has been perfect so far. Get liberty every Sunday and usually go to Honolulu.

"I received a copy of the Enterprise today—last copy was a November issue. It was really swell to get one again."

His address is Richard Scheer, S2c, % FPO, New York, N. Y.

From Santa Ana, California, comes word of Frances Schneberger of Arlington Heights.

"This base is a good deal. There are a lot of facilities here, and lots to do off the station, too. Weather has been ideal. I go for California in a big way. There are mountains both east and south from the base. There are orange groves north of here and green hills west, beyond which is the ocean.

"Haven't seen much of it yet. Have been to L. A., Santa Monica and Laguna so far. Laguna is beautiful. People were swimming there Sunday but I don't have any polar bear in me. When I accumulate a little more cash I expect to do more sightseeing.

"The new base theater opens tomorrow night. Bob Hope, Bing Crosby and Paul Lukas will be there in person."

Infantry regt. fights hard in Philippines

Lieutenant Edgar A. Rapin, of Bensenville, and his men in the First Battalion of this Victory Division's crack 34th Infantry Regiment have helped write another stirring page in American military history in one of the most offensive actions in the campaign to free the Philippines.

With their battalion far below strength after 21 days of hard fighting, they drove deep behind enemy lines, over back breaking, muddy mountain trails to seize and hold a ridge to deny the Japanese commanding positions facing our main forces in a crucial valley.

For more than three weeks they clung to the ridge against great odds. They beat off 27 savage attacks, many by superior enemy forces, some in darkness of night during torrential rains.

They killed 825 Nips, more than one per man for the battalion.

Artillery and mortar shells, hand grenades, rifle and machine gunfire kept them low, day and night, in soupy mud of rain drenched foxholes. Hot, spent shell fragments, showered down on them.

Ammunition and food supplies often were delayed when carrying parties had to fight off the enemy to reach the ridge. Muddy, slime coated weapons frequently failed to function.

At times they met the attacks head on in furious hand to hand combat to save dwindling ammunition supplies. Acts of individual heroism became commonplace.

Many men of the battalion became ill with colds, dysentary, foot ulcers, fever, but they continued to fight. They knew not a man could be spared, who could carry on.

When a relief unit was sent to the ridge, they closed their part of the mission by leading an attack to drive the Japs from strong positions near the perimeter.

Florida

From Boca Raton, Florida, comes word of Vern Koeppen of Mt. Prospect.

"I have completed the first five week course down here. Have been promoted to Corporal and have shipped to a different part of the field. So I have a new mailing address. I would like to have it changed so there is no delay in my getting the paper. I enjoy reading it. I have located some fellows I know through it.

"I have started my advanced course now in radar navigation. It is seven weeks long. From here I will ship to some replacement center."

His new address is Cpl. Vern E. Koeppen, 36953035, Sec. L. B. M. C. No. 3, Boca Raton Field, Florida.

Now ready for combat is Ens. Robert Jacobs of Arlington Heights who has completed his training as a Navy Wildcat pilot. Bob just recently completed operational training at Sanford, Florida. He then completed carrier training at Glenview.

Bob is now home on leave. He expects to leave in about two weeks.

Pfc. Earl Weckerley of Wheeling is now a full fledged aerial engineer. Earl is stationed at the Homestead Army Air Base in Florida. He has charge of one plane and takes great pride in the care of "his plane".

Belgium

Bill Schinkowsky of Palatine writes from Belgium.

"I think it's about time I write a letter to let you know that I am receiving your paper. Until last week I hadn't received any paper for some months. I don't recall just how long it was.

"When I received all those papers last week I noticed then that I was receiving two papers from the same week. One comes to H. Schinkowsky, the other to Sgt. Wm. H. Schinkowsky.

"There isn't much I can tell you from here. I'm still in Belgium. Can speak a little French (very little). I haven't met anyone from home yet. It's a little better than a year that I have been overseas. I still have hopes of meeting someone from home.

"We are not having it so bad now, but always you get some good with the bad. The weather is plenty cold, but we are sleeping in homes, so we have a warm place to sleep.

"We have plenty of work, more than we can handle. They are even flying in jeeps for us to repair."

His address is S-Sgt. Wm. H. Schinkowsky, 36377461, APO 230, % PM, New York, N. Y.

From Belgium comes word of Charles Lytle of Palatine.

"Since last September I've written you several letters. I believe one from England, possibly one from France and one from Belgium. You probably will receive this letter from Belgium sooner than the first one I wrote you from Belgium. The boys are certainly scattered about, are they not?

"Have seen some interesting things since coming over here and of course my choice is the U. S. A. Seems the people here have the same custom as Holland. Wooden shoes are popular and you'd be surprised how easy people get around in them. They are used also for dancing.

"Have visited cities in Holland as well as France and Belgium. The lingo is different but I seem to be able to carry on a conversation O. K."

His address is Cpl. Charles Lytle, 36331144, APO 339, % PM, New York, N. Y.

Engrs. clear port of 20,000 mines, sunken ships in Italy

Leghorn tests ingenuity of Yank outfit

Corporal Richard F. Schueneman, son of Henry F. Schueneman of 18 North Smith Street, Palatine, is a member of the 338th Engineer General Service Regiment which recently concluded a brilliant chapter of its history by opening the obliterated port of Leghorn to Allied convoys. Not until this was done was this Base Section, the important supply and service organization for the Fifth Army, able to properly supply from a near port the Allies fighting on the Italian front.

The port of Leghorn had been methodically reduced by the Germans, who, starting as early as November, 1943, blocked the harbor from all civilians and proceeded to install nearly 20,000 mines of all types; to destroy every bridge and every quay; to devastate every berth, every rail line, every road; and to seal the barbor entrances with sunken craft. The record of how the port rose from the dead is largely a tale of the sturdiness, the versatility, and to an especial degree the bravery of the 338th Engineers.

Gain info' first

While the city was still in enemy hands, work started with collecting all Intelligence reports possible. Civilians coming through the lines were closely questioned. Air reconnaissance photos were minutely studied. The needed supplies were assembled to be moved in as rapidly as possible. On the morning of July 19, at 6:00, assault troops of the Fifth Army entered Leghorn. Five hours later advance elements of the 338th followed, ready to start the job.

In addition to the sabotaged port, the city itself was without water, heat or electricity. Usable buildings or bivouac areas had been blown up or mined. The Germans had looted all movable properties of value. The sewage system was inoperative. Other ports have been wrecked for Allied use, but those who have seen them say Leghorn was the worst. The thoroughness and extent of the enemy's demolition program had all but erased the city from the earth.

Rid city of mines

Six days after the city's liberation, all companies of the Regiment were in the city. Careful where they walked, they began clearing mines from the first priority roads which had been selected as the future arteries for Allied traffic. Then they began removing the debris, filling in bomb-craters along the quays and building wood ramps of their own design and specifications to serve as unloading docks for incoming vessels. The previous Italian method of harbor operations had involved rail loading from the sides of barges. The army unloads directly from shipside to trucks which then transport the cargo to depots of the various supply services. To give these trucks sufficient space for movement, piers and arterial roads had to be hard-surfaced and great stretches filled with crushed rubble of the city or the produce of nearby quarries taken over by the Engineers.

At the same time, electricity lines were restored and a water system installed. Rail service was renewed over the shell of the former network serving the port. Manufacturing plants were established to produce drift pins and bolts for the Army. Seven bridges were constructed. Three miles of road were completely rebuilt while an additional five miles within the city were cleared of mines and debris. Cold storage and ice plants, hospitals, water teatment plants and garbage-disposal dumps were built.

Gas masks serve divers

In the course of these operations certain personnel of the Regiment saw emergency service as divers, using ordinary gas masks as helmets to permit their placing underwater braces on the piling of the wood ramps.

Throughout, the menace existed of more mines. With the evidence already found of the enemy's diabolic intent, the threat of some infernal machine was ever present. One could scarcely feel easy about the work under such conditions. Added to this, there was shelling of the city for a better part of the first month and one air raid.

The war in Italy has been greatly aided by the effort and labor of the 338th Engineer General Service Regiment. Occupied on July 19, the first Liberty unloaded its cargo in Leghorn on August 20, and by September 8 the port received its first convoy carrying supplies other than those for port construction.

Prior to Army service T-5 Schuneman was a chief clerk in the accounting department of La Salle Steel Co. in Hammond, Ill. He has been overseas since May 1943, serving in North Africa and Italy, for which he has been awarded the African-European Theater of Operation Ribbon bearing two Battle Participation Stars. He has also been awarded the Good Conduct Medal. He attended the Palatine High and the German Lutheran Schools.

It Happened Here

Home Made Shoes

He came upon a white zero wave,
But came no hostelry to clave;
On the window pane he wrote a word,
A word no mortal has ever heard.
He came and left white doeskin pacs
Beside the door but left no tracks;
Such fragile shoes, such lovely things,
Soft as feathers from angels' wings,
Hand made by those who keep feet shod
For such as never on our earth trod.
Some night he'll come to seek his shoes,
But I'll test them first, if I choose;
The maker's name is stitched in each sole,
The mystic word of the window's scroll.

Cora, aged five, went shopping with Auntie, carrying her doll and her shopping bag, and singing happily until the I. C. stairs came out on the long platform; Cora is not friends with the I. C. which she seldom uses. "Aunt Peggy," she said, with a little quaver, "I think my dolly doesn't like it up here very much, it's too near the sky; she doesn't like it at all so near the sky." —S'AMUSER.

Cavalry raiders spring from hills to haunt enemy communications

Recon outfit gets info' behind lines, fights way back

"You're the Ghosts, aren't you? The Ghosts of Patton's Army." The SS officer spoke pretty fair English. He stood on the road side, far behind his own lines, while a young American lieutenant disarmed him and his four companions as they poked their hands toward the sky. Their staff car had been halted by one of our M8 recon jobs, and a 37-mm. gun on its turret stood ready to blow the Germans off the earth.

Around the prisoners were some mud-streaked Yanks; hard-bitten guys whose helmeted faces bore two days' growth of beard. They stood silently with their carbines leveled at the Germans.

"Yeah, Herman," said the Lieutenant, "since you put it that way, we are the Ghosts."

Cracked Superman Myth

Not long before this the German radio—accustomed to making "slight errors"—had announced that the "Ghosts" had been wiped out." But the five SS elites, now fresh captives, had their doubts.

But that is how it has been ever since the tough and rugged days of Cherbourg and Brittany. The Germans have been fooled many times. These Ghosts have tacked up a remarkable record, and have had the Germans referring to them as a "crack armored division, sent behind the lines on suicide missions."

The Ghosts have ridden roughshod over the flat lands and hilly regions of France with complete disregard for the "superman" myth. They've bucked tough jobs and easy jobs—and they make them all look alike. Operating way out in front of their own Army—and behind the German front lines—they strike with deadly accuracy at supply trains and moving columns of enemy vehicles. They ride out of the night like roving highwaymen, pounce on the Germans with incredible speed, and then make a clean getaway faster than a couple of Notre Dame halfbacks.

During General Patton's sweep through France the 2nd Cavalry clicked off more than 3,000 miles laying down reconnaissance screens—and most of the route was strewn with dead Germans and kayoed German equipment.

By all the rules of logic, these unsung Ghost guys should have been annihilated on numerous occasions because they are light and small, and no match for some of the Nazi big stuff. However, rules don't count any more with them; they've used up all the tricks and are inventing new ones each day.

These ghostly road agents—who wear the "Always Ready" insignia on their helmets—manage to get into more stiff scrapes than a pack of school kids in a farmer's orchard—and their specialty is getting out of these scrapes with few or no casualties. Their job, basically, is to get information about the enemy while keeping the enemy from getting information about the Americans. They call this a "reconnaissance screen", and the idea is to get hold of vital dope and shoot it back to HQ either by courier or radio.

But to get information from the Germans is no goldbrick assignment, therefore the Ghosts usually find themselves in some crazy trap with less than a rat's chance of getting out half alive. It is in these spots that they turn on the heat and commence snooting up the works. By the time they've dumped all sorts of lead into the Germans the situation becomes so utterly confused that they get away almost unscathed—leaving a battered enemy behind.

"Smell" Traps Now

The 2nd has been in and out of traps so many times that the boys think they can actually smell one coming up. Probably the toughest trap of all came when the Germans were retreating before Patton's onslaught. The Ghosts, as usual, were behind the Germans, and were threatened to be caught by the retreating forces. One Ghost unit, in fact, found itself surrounded by the enemy and cut off from its main units.

Its only hope of ever getting back intact involved a wild scheme of racing through a German bivouac area. This, they figured, was better than tossing in the sponge and becoming prisoners.

Carbines vs. 88s

They assembled their vehicles for a discussion of the touchy matter, them—like the Dalton Boys at Coffeeville—they moved in. Drivers kept the gas pedals pressed against the floor, MGs blazed from both sides of their cars and as they thundered through the bivouac a lot of surprised Germans looked up to see their area being shot to bits by some Americans—who should have been some 20 miles to the west.

Adding insult to surprise one of the drivers pulled over to the side. A GI in his car reached out and yanked a shaving German into the jeep and they kept on going.

It was their old elements again—surprise, quick, straight shooting and lots of fast movement. With these advantages, Lt. Marvin J. Heffner, Racine, Wis., CO of the unit, led his men and vehicles to safety without suffering a casualty or a lost vehicle.

"Another time we got stuck in a Jerry trap," said one officer. "And we had to wheel our jeep between two 88s. We went through firing our carbines at the gun crews—and we made it. My pal was hit in the side and was pretty bad off. Then we ran into a roadblock, so we steered into an open field.

"We left the car and crawled into a stream. It was cold, so to keep our teeth from chattering we put sticks in our mouth. We had to stay in the water all day long.

"About a quarter of a mile downstream we crawled out and lay under a willow tree—while American artillery broke around us. Then we walked through a field and saw some doughboys. They looked awfully good. We got out of that trap because luck was with us and we kept our wits and didn't give up. If you just stick it out, sometimes, you can make it."

On another occasion an officer tells of being cut off from the rest of his outfit.

"I got out to read a signpost, by shining a light through my fingers, then I heard three vehicles draw up—about 30 yards apart. They didn't see us and, frankly, I couldn't tell if they were Yanks or Germans.

"I sneaked up out of the ditch to see what was what. When I got right by the car I shined the light in—and found it full of Germans. I rolled into the ditch, after throwing my flashlight at the first face in the car—and my boys opened up. An M-1 rifle was shooting up the first car, my armored car MG was getting the second and the jeep's MG was turned on the third. We wiped them out to a man."

"If we hadn't placed our vehicles in strategic positions—even though it was only a simple thing like reading a signpost—we might have been surprised and mopped up. But the breaks were with us—and at five in the morning we got five more enemy cars and an ammunition truck. A good haul—eight vehicles and their personnel. After that we got the hell out. Jerries were dead all over the place."

In the Toul sector the 2nd Cavalry received word that the Germans were sending a column of 15 vehicles over a certain highway—and it was important that this column be "detained."

They situated themselves in the wooded hills that overlooked the highway, mapped out their plan of attack—and then waited.

Check "Cleared" Roads

Word was passed along to let all of the vehicles come over the rise and get into the valley below before any shots were fired. Without this caution there was fear that the rear vehicles would make a break and escape. Up came the column led by a motorcycle. Without warning the lead vehicle was stopped cold when a 37mm. shell ripped through it. This stopped the rest of the column—and the fireworks began in earnest.

Tank guns barked and assault guns opened up. Some of the vehicles burst into flame, others were rendered useless. The troops dismounted and attempted to fire back, but were wiped out by ugly sprays of machine-gun fire.

When the last shot died away, all 15 vehicles lay destroyed; 135 Germans were dead and 150 were wounded—while 68 were taken prisoner.

Members of the Ghost Group also like to tell of the time when they were so far into enemy-held territory that as they passed out of a town a lone German car hooked on to the end of their column. It was near dusk and the German driver never imagined that the column he had joined could be anything other than his own. An alert American spotted this naive German and tore him and his vehicle to bits with a 37mm. burst.

Don't Stall Around

Another headache which confronts the rambling Ghosts is that of planes—which swoop down to strafe them on the highways.

At one time American planes—having been told to 'hit anything that moves on the roads back there'—came across a Ghost unit. Somehow, the airmen didn't spot the identification panels, so they came down to give them the works. Miraculously the cavalrymen got away without casualties.

The best thing is not to get caught in a ditch or alongside the road when planes come after you. Don't pull up and stop your vehicles—keep them moving. Zigzag, if you can. If possible, get into a wooded sector where the trees offer protective camouflage. But above all, don't stall around.

Traps always threaten the cavalrymen. Men who do their type of work become the greatest trap-breakers of all—and they learn, too, a whale of a lot about avoiding traps.

To avoid traps you've got to watch everything. Trust nobody and nothing. Don't jump eagerly to attack a lone motorcycle or other lone vehicle. Many times they are decoys—used purposely to draw your fire. Remember, every man is a potential enemy. Every hill, shrub or curve is a potential trap. Think it over—make sure you're right!

They have learned a lot of lessons in their rompings across France, and they have become a terrific thorn in the German side. To them it is a sort of game—with no holds barred. The German is always out to trap the Ghost—and the Ghost is always out to foil the German—and to kill him.

The author

Staff Sergeant Bob Proebstle of Arlington Heights was in France from July to October of last year, when he was wounded October 13. Bob suffered a fragment wound in the left arm, the piece of artillery shell fractured one bone, chipped a second, and cut two tendons.

S-Sgt. Proebstle is now stationed at Walla Walla, Washington, undergoing treatment for his arm. An operation is expected soon. Bob arrived home the end of January, and was scheduled to leave again this Thursday for Washington.

In the acompanying two articles, one tells of the work of his regiment, the 2nd cavalry, and the other reveals a few of his opinions on the G. I. mind with respect to compulsory military training, a world order, and army of occupation.

Bob arrived back in this country January 4, reporting to Halloran general hospital in New York. After 6 days there he was transferred to Washington. He wears the Purple Heat, Good Conduct, and ETO ribbons, with stars for 3 major campaigns. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Proebstle.

Military training is a must in postwar peace

Bob Proebstle gives insight into GI mind

"Compulsory military training, in my opinion," said Staff Sergeant Bob Proebstle of Arlington Heights, "is a must on this country's postwar schedule. Such training will give this nation an army of trained reserves available upon call at any time.

"I think my opinions coincide with those of many of the men serving overseas. I've spent plenty of time sitting in a hospital—time given to thinking. You don't realize how much you can think until you have nothing to do day after day, except think.

"We all concede there are bad as well as good points in any form of compulsory military training. But I think the good far outnumber the bad. No one can assure us there will never be another war. But the best insurance against another holocaust is a trained reserve. Details of training as to age of men and length of service are debatable, but necessity of training is obvious.

They're all even

"From my own experiences the biggest advantage of army training is the opportunity it affords all men to live with and understand other men. When you're on the front lines, and a man moves up next to you, you don't question his religion, race or history before going through hell for him. You don't know or care whether he was a jailbird or store manager, banker or farmer. Only thing that counts is that he is on your team. And he wants to kill the other guy and get home just as fast as you do.

"I believe this association of men will pay off ten-fold ten years from now. In normal times the capitalist's son and the poor man's son, after high school, rarely associate with one another. One goes to college, with its resultant higher plane of association, education, and entertainment. The other goes to work in factories, shops, or bums around feeling the world is against him. In a few years one is boss, the other the worker. When labor questions are involved neither side understands the other very well, and problems arise.

"Through the army these same men are given a chance to understand each other. They get to know the other's family, his faults, and his reactions. They learn consideration, respect and cooperation. Ten years later when the capitalist's son is the boss and the poor man's son the worker, labor relations will be 100% improved, with resultant good will penetrating the entire human race.

Many benefits

"Perhaps the poor man's son will benefit even more from compulsory military training. He will receive education he otherwise could not afford. He will be able to travel, at least in this country. And he will learn politeness, respect and cleanliness, some things many of them never do learn.

"But most of all the poor boy will feel just as good as the next man, an obstacle hard to overcome in many cases. Money doesn't mean a thing in the army. The army offers a poor boy every chance to get over the inferiority complex many of them entertain.

"As far as form of international order goes, I think the average G. I. is as much at a loss for the correct answer as the folks at home. This seems to be a world of power politics, a big gamble that is nevertheless necessary.

'Fear Russia' a laugh

"We don't believe in this 'Fear Russia' propaganda. Uncle Joe will be too busy raising living standards in his own country to want to fight anyone for some time to come. He's trying to do in 25 or 50 years what this country did in 150, except under a different system.

"But to me the biggest danger of a world order is the personality and ideals of the men running it, even in the big three, in the future. It wouldn't be illogical to presume some day Russia would attack both Britain and the U. S. Or that Britain and Russia would rise against the U. S.

"As far as ruling Germany, we believe an army of occupation is necessary. But the boys over there think that once the fighting is over, they should come home. And the men who were stationed in this country throughout the war should be used for occupation. Nothing except military necessity depicts where a man is stationed, and most men realize that, but overseas veterans feel the occupation army is for those who weren't there before.

Need a new answer

"One thing we do know, that what we did before is not the answer. Making Germany pay money for damages was a big mistake, for we had to loan them money to establish industries so they could make goods to pay us off. I believe the answer lies in a system of honest men investigating every factory in Germany, say every three months, with full authority to find and disclose any production of war materials. Such discovery would mean dismantling the industry.

"You've got to have a trained reserve to back up any agreements your country may make. But with every nation having a large standing army war is dangerously near. I guess the best answer is to try and hope."

"Just a line to inform you of my new address and to let you know I'm receiving your paper regularly and enjoying it very much.

"I'm now in the Philippine Islands and it seems to be the best spot I've hit so far. Mighty hot during the day but a nice ocean breeze at night. Not many insect pests or too much tropical disease here, which is a break.

"The nearby town consists mostly of thatched huts, with just a few big buildings—nothing to buy of course. The people are very friendly but have no scruples against trading or begging you out of your last peso."

Africa

Better than a Valentine were the three letters which Mrs. Victor Haben of Wheeling received from her son, Corporal Jack Haben, on February 14. Jack has arrived somewhere in North Africa happy and feeling fine.

They had a good crossing with especially good food including a turkey dinner with all the trimmings. He is finding the country overseas very interesting but no comparison to the good old U. S. A. Natives generally are poverty stricken and grateful for any handouts offtered them.

Family in narrow escape in early morning fire

Daughter awakens parents as house fills with smoke

The exterior of the former Milligan home, 1118 North Dunton, Arlington Heights, does not show much damage from a fire that occurred there at 5:30 Friday morning, but it came near being the scene of a tragedy.

The owners, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight J. Anderson and their daughter, who purchased the house a year ago, are thankful to have escaped with their lives. Their dog, kept on an enclosed rear porch, suffocated.

The fire, in the opinion of Fire Chief Jahn, had smoldered several hours in an attic above the kitchen. The daughter was awakened by smoke. Calling to her mother she rushed down stairs and awakened her folks. Neighbors were asked to notify the fire department.

The firemen found that the blaze was largely in the walls. They moved much of the furniture to a single room, covering it with tarpaulins, thereby protecting it from the water which had to be extensively used. Fortunately doors and windows were kept closed until the arrival of the firemen which kept it from spreading. "It was the worst house fire I have ever fought," states Chief Jahn. His men worked three hours to extinguish the blaze.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson are temporarily residing in a Chicago hotel. The damage to the home is nearly $5,000 with loss of personal property nearly as great.

Arlington Lions hosts to club of neighboring towns

Arlington Heights Lions Club was host Tuesday evening to the Lions Club of Palatine, Mt. Prospect and Prospect Heights. Following a dinner that was even better than usual, under the direction of Mr. Costain the Arlington Heights high school triple trio gave two numbers, and Miss Betty Lou Scamehorn rendered a solo, accompanied by Donna Lee Doughty. The encores call for 'more' but the young ladies shook their heads as they had another date that evening.

M. W. Prellberg, program chairman, introduced two Chicago friends (oil industry of course) who showed two comedies that topped off a happy evening. Palatine and Mt. Prospect were unusually well represented.

Legion initiation ritual this week

The champion Ritual Team of the Department of Illinois, Naval Post No. 372 American Legion will exemplify the Legion ritual in the initiation of legionnaires from Des Plaines, Mt. Prospect, Palatine, Barrington and from Arlington Heights Legion Posts this Thursday, Washington's birthday.

Many prominent legionnaires and citizens of neighboring communities will be present and it is expected that many post members will avail themselves of the opportunity of witnessing this ceremony at Arlington Heights.

The commander has extended an invitation to members of the Legion Auxiliary to be present also.

William G. Burns, Senior Vice Commander of the Cook County Council of the American Legion, will be the principal speaker of the evening and he is well versed in legion work and current affairs.

Prior to the initiation new candidates will be voted upon by Merle Guild Post. Servicemen and women of the present war are especially invited as guests.

An open letter to the citizens of Arlington Heights

To the Citizens of Arlington Heights:

This last Friday morning early, we suffered a rather severe fire in our home at 1118 N. Dunton Ave., and having lived in Chicago all of our lives until this last June, when my wife, daughter Doris, and myself moved out to Arlington Heights, we had had no experience with fire departments and particularly a volunteer corps.

Even though our loss was quite extensive, I do not know how we can express our appreciation for the excellent, efficient and orderly manner in which Chief Jahn and the members of the volunteer department handled the fire.

I am not given much to writing letters, but definitely feel that this one is a must.

Again thank you, members of the department, neighbors and friends.

Sincerely,
Dwight J. Anderson,
1118 N. Dunton Ave.

Tax bills will be earlier and higher

From all indications the 1944 tax bills will be out the latter part of next month.

The county clerk's office is working on a schedule that would get the country town bills ready for the township collectors about March 15 and the mailing out of the bills will follow immediately.

1944 taxes will, in all probability, be higher than they were in 1943.

The heavy increase in the county budget which will allow the county a great deal more money under the 100 per cent assessment valuation will mean an increase in the county tax rates.

Some of the local taxing bodies also increased their tax levies due to increased operating costs, all of which will mean higher tax bills.

But as one taxpayer put it "What's the difference the local taxes we pay are only a small part of our tax load. With income taxes up where they are a little more or less is only a drop in the bucket."

People who appealed to the board of appeals on their 1943 valuations, if they received a reduction, will not see the reduced valuation on their 1944 bills as it was impossible for the assessor's office to make all the changes before the 1944 assessment rate was filed with the county clerk.

However a revised rate will be filed and the new valuations will be put on the books between the first and second collections.

Tax payers in this class should pay only their first installment when the bills come out so that the adjustment will be made on their second installment.

The township collectors have been instructed to file their bonds and get ready for the collection.

It is hoped by the county officials that the May 1st penalty date can be strictly adhered to this year.

For the past two years there has been a July 1st penalty date on the first installment but this year it is hoped to get back to the regular schedule and get the bills out on time.

Court approves annexation to Arlington Heights

Jos. D. Young, owner of a home and a half acre lot in Scarsdale Estates, at the front door of the municipality desires all the services that Arlington Heights provides its residents and is willing to pay for them.

Accordingly the county court has approved his petition for annexation to the village and upon the passage of the required ordinance he will be entitled to connect with village water and sewer system, get the benefit of street lights, fire protection, etc. He will pay $157.50 as an annexation fee, which is based on the charge of $315 per acre fixed for all subdivisions desiring annexation.

Husband killed in navy plane at San Francisco

Lt. David Goodlett, husband of Mrs. Elinor Goodlett, 34 South State road, Arlington Heights, was killed Tuesday when 24 passengers and crew members lost their lives in a two-engine transport plane which crashed into San Francisco bay at Alameda.

The plane crashed 12 minutes after it left the Alameda airport. It hit the waters of the bay so hard that nearby residents were said to be shaken by the concussion.

Mrs. Goodlett makes her home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Smith. She has a seven months old daughter whom her husband had never seen. When news reports first told of the accident and her husband had not arrived in Chicago as she expected, Mrs. Goodlett was fearful that he was one of the plane passengers.

Lt. Goodlett has been serving with an armed guard detachment on a tanker. Having completed 7 months such service he was entitled to a leave and took a plane in order to have as much leave as possible with his family. Prior to this assignment he was stationed with naval intelligence and his wife made her home with him in San Francisco. At his request he was transferred to sea duty last July and Mrs. Goodlett returned to her parents' home in Arlington Heights.

The lieutenant entered the armed forces Dec. 15, 1942. He graduated from the Morgan Park high school and the John Marshall Law School. It was while he was affiliated with the law firm of Peabody, Westbrook, Watson & Stephenson that he met his future wife. They were married May 3, 1941.

At the time of Mr. Goodlett's enlistment he was connected with the legal department of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The plane and its victims were taken from the bay Saturday and the remains left Oakland Monday. Funeral services will be held at Lain's funeral home on 95th st., Chicago, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

In addition to Mrs. Goodlett and her daughter, there remain his mother, Mrs. Esther Goodlet, and a sister and brother.

James Pease, superintendent of schools in LaGrange, N. M. Lattof, president of the Arlington Heights Elementary School Board, and Miss Suzan Scully, former president of the Illinois Education Association and now state director of the National Education Association, have been asked to serve on a panel headed by Paul Vawter.

Each member of the panel will outline in a ten minute talk the high points of one of the following questions:

1. What are the basic needs of our schools today?
2. What can be done on a state basis to meet these needs?
3. What can be done on a federal basis to meet these needs?
4. What can an interested citizen do?

The audience will be given an opportunity to ask questions and follow-up meetings will be arranged to give more information in regard to the last question.

The meeting will begin at 8:00 p. m.

The board approved the petition asking for the placing upon the ballot of the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund.

A Merry Chase

It is no secret that Mayor Albert Goedke, Arlington Heights, does not look with favor on the chasing by local police of speeders on the Northwest highway through the municipality. Tuesday afternoon when he came near being the victim of one such speeder, he called out the reserves, including the police squad car, the department of streets and two state police officers, who chanced to be in town.

It might have been a wild goose chase for all of them if George Wittenberg, Mt. Prospect police chief had not made a mental note of a speeding car that passed him on Main street, while he was directing traffic for school children who were crossing the highway.

It is nothing to laugh at says the mayor, but his friends are a little amused over the fact that while state police officers had been sent south to search for the fleeing car and two municipal cars were scouring the town, the offending auto stopped to make a delivery at the Winkelman service station, 200 feet from the mayor's car.

Through all of this excitement nobobdy took down the license number of the auto.

Here is the story:

A Chicago car, occupied by three boys was being driven so fast that it could not make the left hand turn to State road from the highway and crashed a telephone pole in which it left imbedded a car handle. The crash threw the car across the park and nearly into the mayor's truck. Mr. Goedke's first though was "this is it", but the speeding car regained the highway and sped down state road.

Mr. Goedke from the phone of the Pfingston realty office gave orders that all hands turn out to capture the car and its reckless driver. Two state officers also answered the call.

The car hid for a little while in Scarsdale then came back up State road to Davis street, again passing the mayor, who again hurried to the phone to report the car's location. As he was phoning, unknown to Mr. Goedke, the car stopped at the Winkelmann shop long enough to make a delivery.

By this time the mayor was fighting mad and in an effort to apprehend the driver, phoned Palatine and Mt. Prospect to be on the lookout. When Geo. Whittenberg at Mt. Prospect received the call, he recalled the license number that had automatically registered in his mind. He gave the number to Judge Behrens, 144513. A phone call to Springfield brought the information that the car belonged to Butler Bros. Super Service, 4908 Irving Park Blvd. The proprietor told the police that the car, badly wrecked, had returned, its driver stating that he had skidded on the ice.

Mayor Goedke's model T truck is still shivering over its escape.

Farm fire destroys phone wires; firemen arrive an hour late

The farm house on the former Bolsinger farm, on Wilke road, near Palatine road, was destroyed by fire Sunday morning when the Palatine fire department did not receive the call until nearly an hour after the fire started.

The fire was discovered by Mr. Rizzo, who with another man lived on the place. Due to the heat Mr. Rizzo was unable to reach the second floor of the building to extinguish the blaze. Trying to phone he found the line to be out of order. He confined his efforts to removing furniture until the arrival of a neighbor, A. W. Moehling, who resides a half mile distant.

Learning that no firemen had been called, Mr. Moehling returned to his home for that purpose. By the time the department arrived the roof had already fallen in.

Recapped tires taken from Winkelmann's Sinclair station

Clarence Winkelmann, Mt. Prospect Sinclair dealer has circumstantial evidence of the early evening hour Saturday night that thieves entered his service station, taking over a dozen recapped tires belonging to his customers, but identity of the thieves is still only guess work.

Mr. Winkelmann left his station about eight o'clock. He resides next door. At 10:30 while moving his car he noticed that the service station door was open, discovering the robbery. As the station was still warm, he knows that the robbery had only been committed a short time earlier.

The proprietor is not worrying about the monetary loss to him, but the plight of his customers, the majority of whom only hold A cards, is causing him much concern.

Two tires mounted on wheels were not taken and one tire was dropped. Because a pile of junk tires was not molested, it appears that the deed was committed by some one who had sized up the place.

Capt. Wilbert Busse is instructor at Fort Crook, Neb.

A telephone call received Saturday morning by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Busse, Mt. Prospect, from their son, Wilbert, informed them that he was passing through Chicago and was on his way to Atlanta, Georgia, to attend a conference.

He recently received his captain bars and at present is serving as an instructor in the S & F Ordnance School at Fort Crook. His wife and son are with him.

Capt. Busse returned to the states last October after serving overseas two years.

Business men agree on post war objectives

Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce, organized on new lines with a modernized postwar program, received the endorsement of 30 businessmen last Thursday evening. It was the annual meeting of the Arlington Heights Trade and Civic association. Changes in by-laws were adopted which are expected to provide the sinews that will bring into being a strong business organization, which aligned with state and national groups will do great things for Arlington Heights.

Dr. E. W. Baumann was unanimous choice for president. The other officers have not been named. The directors chosen that evening are Dr. E. W. Baumann, C. M. Behrens, Arthur H. Franzen, Albert Goedke, Fred Kehe, Walter Krause, Jr., N. M. Lattof, C. W. Lussman, Wm. Meyer, Jr., Wm. F. Reese, Paul C. Taege and Max Warson.

One of the major changes in the by-laws adopted that evening is a membership fee of $10 annually. Originally a fee of $25 was suggested. Other changes are a directorate of 12 members, each serving three years. After a three year term a director is not eligible for re-election until he has remained off the board one year. At annual elections, nominations submitted to the membership shall be double the number to be elected. The office of executive secretary is combined with that of recording secretary, who may be appointed from outside of the membership.

It is the intention of the board to secure a part time paid secretary who will be expected to take active charge of any program that is adopted by the membership.

The objectives of the Chamber of Commerce that were approved that evening are:

1. Better parking facilities.
2. Make Arlington Heights a trading center for this area by promoting cooperation between agriculture and industry.
3. Air port.
4. New post office.
5. Assist in effort for War Memorial.
6. Better housing.
7. Special events.

Just Around the Corner

Dear Mary:

If this letter is even more "skeltered" than usual, it's because I don't feel well, and when I don't I always want to baby myself and lie down and not get up. There are a half a dozen things I want to tell you and ask you, though.

Valentine's day is always a return to romance for me and full of grade school memories. Young Ken says those candy hearts I insist on getting every year (the ones with the "Be Nice" and "How about a Hug?" messages on them) taste like aspirin someone had tried to sweeten and didn't. It's glue they taste like to me and I try not to eat them, but they disappear somehow and neither Ken is responsible.

Mary, I saw a "tired" wagon for sale in an ad the other day and heap ashes on my head if I didn't discover (Bob Paddock called my attention to it) that these many long years I have been saying and writing abSYmal for abysmal!

See, thus far how disconnected a sore throat makes me—anyway more disconnected. I'll show you. Just watch me settle down in the next two paragraphs.

I agree with you completely as to the importance and validity of scouting. I think, too, that scout training should be made available to all boys and girls. And I don't see, either, how men can be trained in one year for a war that might not come until all their skill and equipment is obsolete. Your attitude seems to me neither "naive nor idealistic" but rather it emphasizes prolonged and integrated training for our young people to fit them for either war or peace. The other side of the compulsory military training question is taken up in this month's Readers Digest and it has some points to contemplate. The few soldiers and sailors I have talked with are against it. Two of them seemed to be averse, as you are, and as I am to the word compulsory and its connotations.

I hope you and Rob can come (maybe your Rob will have a date that night or could come along) to the Town Meeting here in Arlington Heights on Monday the 26th at the North School where the question to be discussed is "What Do We Want Our Legislators To Do For Our Schools?" The article in this week's Herald will give more information about it. We hope to have your Miss Scully on the panel which Mr. Paul Vawter will head. You will be interested I know in the legislative program. There are parts of it which have nothing to do with the expenditure of money. Federal Aid Bill 1296 of course will require funds but the increased burden on tax payers will not be "huge". An increase in the federal burden will lighten the local load. Possibly Illinois will pay out a bit more than will come back to it—equality would call for that. The money involved will be turned over to the states and if there is any patronage expected or if there are strings attached I can't see where although there are many who do not agree with this position. I am not too good at opening closet doors on scoundrels and probably far too inclined to accept "in good faith". I do hope you can come to the meeting.

Oh! those seed catalogues. The very thought of spring rewards me always for slush and snow and cold and dirt—and I am no gardener. Big Ken is—it's his one genuine relation. This winter has seemed unusually long, but aren't you glad—you lovers of the soil—that the snow is soaking in rather than running off?

Gladys sent me this little rhyme last week. Ain't it the truth and don't you love the author's first name?

WINTER—Philander Johnson
Oh, what a blamed uncertain thing
This pesky weather is;
It blew and snew and then it thew
And now, by jing it's friz.
With love, Elly.

P. S. to Edward: Honey, would you do me an extra special favor? I want a copy of that little poem you wrote, the one with the sun in it. Could you make one and send it in mother's next letter?

Vegetables

Sweet potatoes may be just a vegetable to most Americans right now—but its possibilities are being tried out in several Alabama towns, the War Food Administration reports. Sweet potatoes have been made into an unusual breakfast food—a crispy crunchy flake, sweetened with its own natural sugar. It is one of twelve new and different foods, all made from the common sweet potato, and known as Alayam food products. In addition to the breakfast food, there are Alayam toffee and confections, and Alamalt, a powder which gives milk drinks a rich, caramel flavor and which has also been used successfully in baked products.

On the fresh food markets this week, sweet potatoes remain fairly moderate in price, and are a good "energy-giving" vegetable choice. Rutabagas and winter squash are other excellent selections from the "green and yellow" vegetable group of the Basic Seven, and are very economically priced.

Market-wise homemakers will plan on plenty of salads this week, with heavy supplies of lettuce arriving and offered at reasonable levels, and fairly liberal stocks of carrots and cabbage on hand, with the price tags on both these items marked downward. Of course, these vegetables are fine for cooking as well as serving raw. The patient experimentation of plant breeders have succeeded in streamlining and tenderizing carrots over a period of years. The proof of their success lies in the fact that Americans are eating nearly three times as many carrots now as they did in 1920.

This is indeed the season to serve broccoli, if food budgets allow, as February and March are the two months when it is in heaviest supply on the Chicago market. A wide price range prevails on green beans according to quality.

Apples are the best all around buy in fruit, and prices are quite reasonable on Midwestern offerings. Citrus fruit prices have edged slightly higher in the past week. A few imports of bananas and pineapples are coming in, and also a few Florida strawberries, but this latter is strictly a luxury item.

Palatine hospital news

Mrs. Edward Scheibach underwent surgery this past week in the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cameron, Palatine, are parents of a baby girl born Feb. 19.

The value of the incubator at the Palatine community hospital, has again been proven by the baby of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Davis of Lake Zurich, who weighed 2 lb. 14 oz. at birth, on Jan. 19 and now tips the scale at 3 lb. 10 oz.

The February meeting of the PTA will be held next Monday evening at eight o'clock. A membership drive has been in progress and the officers are looking forward to a good meeting. All parents are especially urged to attend.

She found Mrs. Slot convalescing from a heart attack suffered at the time of her husband, Christian Slot's death on January 31. Earlier in the winter, Mrs. Slot suffered a broken leg. Although Mr. Slot had been in poor health for several years he was able to care for his wife at that time. His death came rather suddenly with a heart attack, and burial took place in Mt. Olive cemetery. The Slots formerly lived in Wheeling where they have many friends.

Another class in home nursing is being formed and expected to get under way soon. At a time when doctors and nurses are becoming less and less available to civilians it is especially important that every homemaker is informed in the basic principles of nursing. Those who participated in the class held two years ago, found it very helpful. As it is likely that this will be the last opportunity for such instruction locally for at least several years, all women and especially young mothers should enroll. There is no fee other than the registration fee of $1 which includes the Red Cross text book on home nursing. Miss Esther Dahlstrom, RN, who is in charge of the monthly child health conferences has been contacted to be instructor. For further information see Mrs. Herbert Gehrke, the local chairman, at once.

Mrs. Henry Grandt celebrated her birthday on Sunday when the children and their friends came home for the afternoon and evening. Twenty-four guests assembled at the home in the evening.

Red Cross drive Wheeling goal is set at $1300

"I could actually feel my life coming back," is a statement doctors and nurses have heard near-dying men say many times. Blood plasma has been declared a foremost life saver of this war, and the blood donor service is only one of the many services carried to those in the armed forces by the American Red Cross.

The 1945 Red Cross War Fund drive opens March 1 and continues until the 15th. While our boys are headed for Berlin and Tokyo we too have a goal to reach which can help make their going a bit easier.

The goal for Wheeling and the township outside of Arlington, Mt. Prospect and Prospect Heights is $1,300.00. Saunders road from County Line south is included in this area. Be ready to subscribe generously and keep up the Wheeling tradition with the boys at the front.

STICK TO YOUR JOB....

This boy — and many thousands of his fighting buddies have seen action! They were in North Africa, and after successful operation moved on to Italy. When Mussolini finally got his due they became part of our great strength in invasion forces. They're doing their job against Germany and Japan.

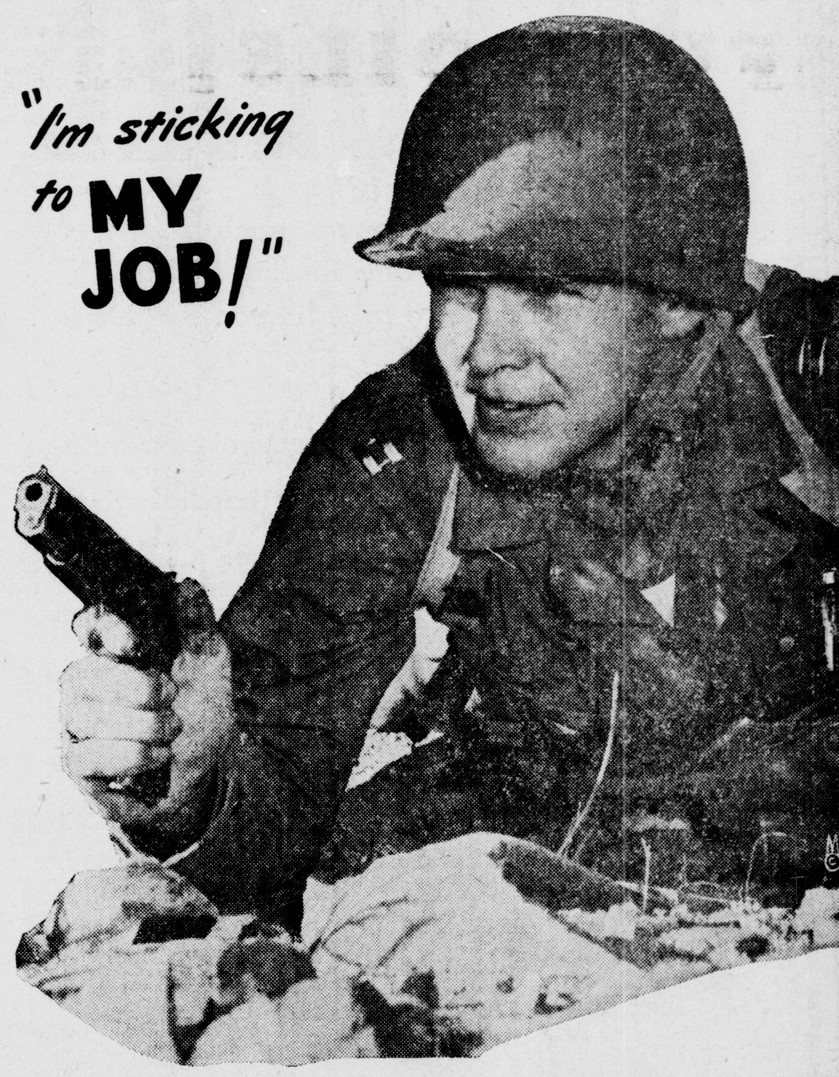

They know the war is far from over. They know the enemy is tough and treacherous. But they are sticking to their guns — and by their jobs.

Our fighters know the price of Victory. They know the price in blood.

Mr. Civilian: Our Government and war industries are pleading with you to lay aside that peace time job and get into actual war production. Surely it is your duty to help supply the equipment for our fighting forces It is your duty to do this just as much as it is their duty to win the war by actual combat, thereby making your home safe from our enemies.

If you are not now engaged in an essential job and can aid the war effort, stop in at the nearest United States Employment Service today. Be on that war job tomorrow. You'll feel better about it in years to come.

50 million bu. corn to be war stockpile

The CCC is offering to purchase 50 million bushels of corn from farmers in order that the WFA may have a stockpile to be used for any war emergency that may arise. The corn is to be purchased in the area that was included in the corn freeze under WFO Order 98 last year. Illinois' quota of 20,300,000 bushels is to be purchased in the 35 north central Illinois counties included in the 1944 freeze.

Because a larger porportion than normal of the corn supply is located in the western portion of the corn belt and also because it has a high moisture content, the purchase of this corn to be delivered later as needed should be helpful to the Illinois corn market and should avoid a situation such as developed in 1944. The amount of high-moisture corn that will have to be marketed in the near future may have a tendency to demoralize the market by tying up transportation and terminal storage. By holding off 50 million bushels, the market should be strengthened and less congestion should develop. The corn purchased will have a chance to dry out before being marketed, and yet it will remain in storage in the area of the industial plants, where it can be obtained quickly if needed.

The AAA committees will contact farmers with surplus corn for the CCC in the area designated and will execute the contracts. The basis for the contract will be local ceiling prices according to grade at time of delivery for entire cribs of yellow corn shelled and delivered to specified local elevators. The corn will be measured and sealed under the program in the same way as when a corn loan is obtained. When the contract is executed, the farmer will be given a down payment by the county committee at the county loan rate. The corn will be subject to call on 30 days' notice and in any event not later than September 30, 1945. To be eligible for purchase, corn must grade No. 3 or better except for moisture and must not contain over 20.5 percent moisture.

Possible advantages to the seller are: He can be assured ceiling price for corn of No. 3 grade or better, including any increase if such should be made. He can sell corn of high moisture content (up to 20.5 percent) and avoid any unusual discounts, as it will have time to dry out before delivery is requested. He can obtain the major portion of payment for the corn now and con deliver it at a later period after it has dried out. He will avoid any payment of taxes on the corn, since title passes when the contract is signed. He will make a definite contribution to the war effort by making his corn available upon call.

Care, share and repair of farm machinery asked

Care, share and repair of farm machinery will again be essential farm practices during the 1945 crop season, suggests Farm Adviser, C. A. Hughes on information received from the War Food Administration based on the machinery supply situation.

To have approximately as much new machinery available for use in 1945 as in 1944, machinery production would have to keep right on schedule. But at last report, production of machinery in general, with the exception of tractors, was running 20 to 25 per cent behind schedule, and emphasis on military production was making it difficult to overcome the lag.

Mr. Hughes said that in view of the farm machinery supply outlook, the wise farmer will check and repair every old machine he can possibly keep in operation.

WFA officials pointed out that the supply of new parts should be adequate. Production of parts is free from government quotas, and reports from manufacturers show a high rate of production so far this year.

Yes, that's right! Funk's "G" Hybrid customers all over the Corn Belt are getting 5 to 25 more bushels of corn per acre; they're getting corn that STANDS UP when other corn goes down; they're raising corn high in feeding value and marketability.

THEY'RE GROWING FUNK'S "G" HYBRIDS . . . why not you? It pays!

Farm is key to post-war conditions in U.S.

Uncertainties, struggles between various groups and government efforts to prevent serious unemployment are a few of the things that the Illinois farmer may expect to face during the next few years.

Circumstances cited which the nation must meet are a 300-billion-dollar national debt in 1946; a deficit of automobiles, household equipment and furnishings, certain types of clothing and houses; and huge individual savings.

These conditions and many more will have a bearing upon what happens to Illinois farmers in 1945, 1946 and thereafter, Jordan believes. While the war continues on a vast scale, there is bound to be a strong demand, both domestic and foreign, for all food products. For scarce articles, prices will be limited by ceilings; for articles produced in abundance, by the supply. Exports under lend-lease will continue in substantial quantities. Farmers are promised protection from drastic price collapse at least through 1947.

"During major wars farmers are practically guaranteed prosperity, but this cannot last indefinitely," Jordan stated. "After the war, when the struggle for a fair share of the national income becomes keener, farmers will find that it pays to be organized.

"It is essential for the national welfare that farmers and their leaders know what causes economic disturbances and how to correct them, and finally that they may take steps not only to correct abuses, but to provide constructive leadership that will result in maximum coordination. Only in this way can we provide peacetime employment for 10 million returning veterans and 20 million people now employed in war industries."

Jordan considers that the outlook for this year will be a continuation of the present strong demand for foodstuffs. The goal for 1945 is an all-out production of food in the face of a continued scarcity of labor and machinery. He ventures that 1946 will be a year of transition.

As manufactured goods and building materials become available, they will be "gobbled up" by willing buyers, the economist asserted. There probably will be some falling off in the domestic demand for foodstuffs. Surpluses of cotton, wool and wheat may present price and marketing problems, but a high level of employment should maintain the demand for animal products at a high level. Exports of foodstuffs and equipment are expected to hold at a high level through 1946.

Car shortage strengthens cash grain prices

Cash grain prices have been strong during the past week, partly as a result of inability to obtain enough boxcars to ship the grain to market. That has been especially true of wheat and oats, because corn has been given preference in this difficult transportation situation. Most of the corn contains excessive amounts of moisture and must be marketed before hot weather arrives. It is expected that more boxcars will be returned from the eastern seaboard area as a result of the recent embargoes, and in that case there may be freer movement of all grains to market. Livestock markets have remained steady to strong, particularly in view of the heavy cattle receipts. Most hogs sell at ceiling prices. Receipts of hogs are far below normal. The opposite situation prevails with respect to cattle.

Compared with January 1944, receipts of salable cattle at 12 public markets were up 14 percent in January 1945. Calf receipts were up 26 percent, but hog receipts were down 47 percent. Receipts of salable sheep and lambs were up 13 percent. For the six months July to December 1944, the number of stocker and feeder cattle and calves received in principal corn-belt states was 4 percent larger than during the last six months of 1943. For the month of January, the number of feeder and stocker steers sold at four markets, Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha and St. Paul, was down 10 percent below January 1944.

The Office of Price Administration has established percentage limits for the slaughter of good and choice beef. During February and March, 75 percent is set as a maximum percentage of good and choice grades of cattle that can be slaughtered by any slaughterer in Illinois. This applies also to retail slaughterers.

It is reported that Senator Thomas will offer a bill this week which would change the base period for the establishment of parity and also include labor costs as one of the factors determining parity. As an example, it has been estimated that if the base period were changed from the present 1909-14 to the suggested 1919-29 base, the parity on wheat would be raised from the present $1.52 to about $1.83 without considering any change in the index of production and living costs and considering only the fact that wheat prices average about 88.4 cents in the early period compared to $1.325 in the later period. If labor costs were included, the parity level would be advanced substantially. The index of hired farm labor costs is now about 325 percent of the 1909-14 base.

It is not at all likely that such an extreme change in the parity formula will be permitted. For one thing the government is still trying to prevent rises in prices except where they are deemed essential to bring about the required volume of production. The inclusion of labor costs in the parity formula would not be an unmixed blessing. During times of deep depression labor costs on farms are likely to decline faster than other costs, thereby reducing parity prices at a bad time.

Need for fresh air for dairy cows explained

Dairy cows, like people, need to sleep with the windows of the dairy barn left ofen. However, important as fresh air is to the dairy cow, the elimination of moisture from the atmosphere inside the stable is about as important, declares W. W. Yapp, professor of dairy cattle husbandry, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

A cow expels from 12 to 18 pounds of moisture each day in the air she breathes out. This large amount of moisture has to go somewhere. It is usually deposited on the litter, walls and ceiling of the stable. With quantities of moisture and relatively warm temperatures, the health of animals may be endangered. When barn temperatures are below 50° F., the moisture condenses on walls and ceiling. Such conditions are not desirable.

The dairy specialist pointed to the large quantity of air a cow breathes. A 1,000-pound cow inhales from 115 to 224 pounds of air every 24 hours, and this is almost twice as much as the water or food she consumes. These figures indicate that a cow must breathe in and breathe out about 3,542 cubic feet of air per hour. On the basis of these figures, it would require an air duct slightly more than two feet square through which air was passing at a velocity of 290 to 300 feet per minute to supply fresh air for 20 cows.

Engineers suggest that it is best to maintain a temperature of from 50 to 60 degrees in the dairy barn.

Family in narrow escape in early morning fire

Daughter awakens parents as house fills with smoke

The exterior of the former Milligan home, 1118 North Dunton, Arlington Heights, does not show much damage from a fire that occurred there at 5:30 Friday morning, but it came near being the scene of a tragedy.

The owners, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight J. Anderson and their daughter, who purchased the house a year ago, are thankful to have escaped with their lives. Their dog, kept on an enclosed rear porch, suffocated.

The fire, in the opinion of Fire Chief Jahn, had smoldered several hours in an attic above the kitchen. The daughter was awakened by smoke. Calling to her mother she rushed down stairs and awakened her folks. Neighbors were asked to notify the fire department.

The firemen found that the blaze was largely in the walls. They moved much of the furniture to a single room, covering it with tarpaulins, thereby protecting it from the water which had to be extensively used. Fortunately doors and windows were kept closed until the arrival of the firemen which kept it from spreading. "It was the worst house fire I have ever fought," states Chief Jahn. His men worked three hours to extinguish the blaze.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson are temporarily residing in a Chicago hotel. The damage to the home is nearly $5,000 with loss of personal property nearly as great.

File petitions for park board

Petitions for vacant Arlington Heights Park Board offices have been circulated and a full ticket will be presented to the voters at the coming election. As announced in last week's Herald George K. Volz and M. A. Hogate are not candidates for re-election. Candidates for their places are Edw. Wahl and Walter Koerber. If elected they will serve for six years.

Nat L. Burfeind is candidate for the four year term to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Paul Taege. The remaining members are E. J. Harris, now serving his country and Robert M. Beatty. The latter is chairman of the building and grounds committee and has done an excellent job as guardian of the park property.

Arlington Lions hosts to club of neighboring towns

Arlington Heights Lions Club was host Tuesday evening to the Lions Club of Palatine, Mt. Prospect and Prospect Heights. Following a dinner that was even better than usual, under the direction of Mr. Costain the Arlington Heights high school triple trio gaye two numbers, and Miss Betty Lou Scamehorn rendered a solo, accompanied by Donna Lee Doughty. The encores call for 'more' but the young ladies shook their heads as they had another date that evening.

M. W. Prellberg, program chairman, introduced two Chicago friends (oil industry of course) who showed two comedies that topped off a happy evening. Palatine and Mt. Prospect were unusually well represented.

To discuss what legislators should do for schools

Residents of Arlington Heights are invited to attend a town meeting at the North School on Monday, February 26, to discuss "What Do We Want Our Legislators To Do For Our Schools?"

James Pease, superintendent of schools in LaGrange, N. M. Lattof, president of the Arlington Heights Elementary School Board, and Miss Suzan Scully, former president of the Illinois Education Association and now state director of the National Education Association, have been asked to serve on a panel headed by Paul Vawter.

Each member of the panel will outline in a ten minute talk the high points of one of the following questions:

1. What are the basic needs of our schools today?
2. What can be done on a state basis to meet these needs?
3. What can be done on a federal basis to meet these needs?
4. What can an interested citizen do?

The audience will be given an opportunity to ask questions and follow-up meetings will be arranged to give more information in regard to the last question.

The meeting will begin at 8:00 p. m.

Heads Chamber of Commerce

DR. E. W. BAUMANN, newly elected president of Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce. He has had considerable executive experience. He is a past president of the North Suburban Dental Society, and is a member of the Board of Directors of the Chicago Dental Society. He has frequently served Arlington Heights along civic lines, serving as a member and head of the Board of Health, cooperated in dental surveys and in the estimation of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce, is well fitted to direct the affairs of that organization in its planning of its post-war activities.

Dr. Bauman heads chamber of commerce

Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce, organized on new lines with a modernized postwar program, received the endorsement of 30 businessmen last Thursday evening. It was the annual meeting of the Arlington Heights Trade and Civic association. Changes in by-laws were adopted which are expected to provide the sinews that will bring into being a strong business organization, which alligned with state and national groups will do great things for Arlington Heights.

Dr. E. W. Baumann was unanimous choice for president. The other officers have not been named. The directors chosen that evening are Dr. E. W. Baumann, C. M. Behrens, Arthur H. Franzen, Albert Goedke, Fred Kehe, Walter Krause, Jr., N. M. Lattof, C. W. Lussman, Wm. Meyer, Jr., Wm. F. Reese, Paul C. Taege and Max Warson.

One of the major changes in the by-laws adopted that evening is a membership fee of $10 annually. Originally a fee of $25 was suggested. Other changes are a directorate of 12 members, each serving three years. After a three year term a director is not eligible for re-election until he has remained off the board one year. At annual elections, nominations submitted to the membership shall be double the number to be elected. The office of executive secretary is combined with that of recording secretary, who may be appointed from outside of the membership.

It is the intention of the board to secure a part time paid secretary who will be expected to take active charge of any program that is adopted by the membership.

The objectives of the Chamber of Commerce that were approved that evening are:

1. Better parking facilities.
2. Make Arlington Heights a trading center for this area by promoting cooperation between agriculture and industry.
3. Air port.
4. New post office.
5. Assist in effort for War Memorial.
6. Better housing.
7. Special events.

Franklin W. Bahe, reported missing, is in English hospital

Parents of T5 Franklin W. Bahe, Arlington Heights, have received word that their son is in an English hospital recovering from a broken leg, suffered the night of January 14 when his jeep crashed a parked jeep at 10:30 p. m.. After the collision Bahe crawled 200 feet back to headquarters. He was moved to Paris and later to an English hospital.

At present Frank is progressing so well that he has written his parents all the details with the request that his address be published in the Herald so that his friends can write him. The address is T5 Franklin W. Bahe, 36712124, Det. of Pat., Ward 5 USA Hospital Plant 4119, APO 314 % PM, New York.

A telegram was received in Arlington Heights February 4 stating that Franklin was missing in action. This wire was followed by a second stating he had been injured.

Tax bills will be earlier and higher

From all indications the 1944 tax bills will be out the latter part of next month.

The county clerk's office is working on a schedule that would get the country town bills ready for the township collectors about March 15 and the mailing out of the bills will follow immediately.

1944 taxes will, in all probability, be higher than they were in 1943.

The heavy increase in the county budget which will allow the county a great deal more money under the 100 per cent assessment valuation will mean an increase in the county tax rates.

Some of the local taxing bodies also increased their tax levies due to increased operating costs, all of which will mean higher tax bills.

But as one taxpayer put it "What's the difference the local taxes we pay are only a small part of our tax load. With income taxes up where they are a little more or less is only a drop in the bucket."

People who appealed to the board of appeals on their 1943 valuations, if they received a reduction, will not see the reduced valuation on their 1944 bills as it was impossible for the assessor's office to make all the changes before the 1944 assessment rate was filed with the county clerk.

However a revised rate will be filed and the new valuations will be put on the books between the first and second collections.

Tax payers in this class should pay only their first installment when the bills come out so that the adjustment will be made on their second installment.

The township collectors have been instructed to file their bonds and get ready for the collection.

It is hoped by the county officials that the May 1st penalty date can be strictly adhered to this year.

For the past two years there has been a July 1st penalty date on the first installment but this year it is hoped to get back to the regular schedule and get the bills out on time.

Air medals honor two local fliers

Air medals were presented Wednesday afternoon to the families of two Arlington Heights men. One of them, Lt. George Grossi, met his death April 28, 1944, while serving in Italy as a pilot of a paratroop carrying plane.

The other is 2nd Lt. Franklin J. Bublitz, who is reported missing since last February while in service in southern Italy.

The medal honoring Lt. Grossi was presented to his 5 months old son. Mrs. Frank Bublitz received the medal for her son, who is missing in action.

Palatine Rural Fire department saves farm house

Palatine Fire department, using its rural equipment, saved the farm home last Friday night of Emil Straub, who resides on Baldwin road, near Rand road. The flames of a burning shed were 20 feet high when they were discovered by Mr. Straub, who immediately called the firemen. A strong west wind carried the flames toward the house, which was saved only by the work of the firemen.

Mr. Straub thanks the firemen and neighbors for their quick response and assistance.

Prior to the initiation new candidates will be voted upon by Merle Guild Post. Servicemen and women of the present war are especially invited as guests.

Ill. Range Co. to build factory in Mt. Prospect

Foundations for brick building started Monday

The village of Mt. Prospect is to have another industry. Illinois Range Co., an Illinois corporation organized in 1920, has purchased a three acre tract of Herman Moehling, immediately west of Milburn Bros. property on Central road. This firm is now located at 800 South Ada street, Chicago.

Announcement of the plans of this company was withheld until the needed building permit was received from the Mt. Prospect village board. The board authorized the permit Thursday evening and work on the foundation was started Monday.

The Illinois Range Co. specializes in the manufacture of kitchen equipment for restaurants, hospitals and hotels. At present, it is in war work furnishing galley equipment for the U. S. Maritime Commission. The building will be 161x113 feet, with an area of 18,000 square feet. The plans call for a modernized building front of glass and pressed brick, but that class of construction must wait until after the war. Priorities have been granted for common brick construction.

The grounds will be landscaped and ultimately the building will have a frontal appearance similar to the modern factory buildings recently constructed on Peterson Ave., and along other Chicago boulevards.

Phil Jeuck of the Illinois Range Co., became interested in Mt. Prospect when he first visited his friend Herbert VanDriel, local pharmacist. He made the acquaintance of members of the Lions Club and as he became familiar with the community and its citizens, he decided that he would like to become a resident of Mt. Prospect and move his business to that suburb. He discussed the matter at some length with local business men and received so much encouragement that he purchased the property and secured needed priorities from the government.

Preliminary negotiations for the purchase of the property were aided by a special Lions Club committee, comprising Wm. Busse, Jr., Fred Meeske, Geo. L. Busse, Albert Wille and Charles W. Crysler.

The factory will give employment to about forty persons, representing a payroll of $100,000 a year. It will be operated on a union basis, paying salaries that will attract the better class of workers and who will be able to own homes.

Local business men feel that the manufacturing plant will be an addition to Mt. Prospect and may be the forerunner of other light manufacturing plants that will provide home employment for many present residents as well as others skilled in the metal trades.

"The location of this factory in Mt. Prospect," says Fred C. Busse, president of the Lions Club, "might be called the start of post war development for the community."

Sugar stamp 34 expires Wednesday

Householders are warned that sugar stamp 34 expires next Wednesday, February 28. Stamp 35 is still valid and will continue to be used until June 2.

A Merry Chase

It is no secret that Mayor Albert Goedke, Arlington Heights, does not look with favor on the chasing by local police of speeders on the Northwest highway through the municipality. Tuesday afternoon when he came near being the victim of one such speeder, he called out the reserves, including the police squad car, the department of streets and two state police officers, who chanced to be in town.

It might have been a wild goose chase for all of them if George Wittenberg, Mt. Prospect police chief had not made a mental note of a speeding car that passed him on Main street, while he was directing traffic for school children who were crossing the highway.

It is nothing to laugh at says the mayor, but his friends are a little amused over the fact that while state police officers had been sent south to search for the fleeing car and two municipal cars were scouring the town, the offending auto stopped to make a delivery at the Winkelman service station, 200 feet from the mayor's car.

Through all of this excitement nobobdy took down the license number of the auto.

Here is the story:

A Chicago car, occupied by three boys was being driven so fast that it could not make the left hand turn to State road from the highway and crashed a telephone pole in which it left imbedded a car handle. The crash threw the car across the park and nearly into the mayor's truck. Mr. Goedke's first though was "this is it", but the speeding car regained the highway and sped down state road.

Mr. Goedke from the phone of the Pfingston realty office gave orders that all hands turn out to capture the car and its reckless driver. Two state officers also answered the call.

The car hid for a little while in Scarsdale then came back up State road to Davis street, again passing the mayor, who again hurried to the phone to report the car's location. As he was phoning, unknown to Mr. Goedke, the car stopped at the Winkelmann shop long enough to make a delivery.

By this time the mayor was fighting mad and in an effort to apprehend the driver, phoned Palatine and Mt. Prospect to be on the lookout. When Geo. Whittenberg at Mt. Prospect received the call, he recalled the license number that had automatically registered in his mind. He gave the number to Judge Behrens, 144513. A phone call to Springfield brought the information that the car belonged to Butler Bros. Super Service, 4908 Irving Park Blvd. The proprietor told the police that the car, badly wrecked, had returned, its driver stating that he had skidded on the ice.

Mayor Goedke's model T truck is still shivering over its escape.

Community Party files complete village ticket

Pendleton, Hartwig, Welsh and Lams are choice for board positions; Gould, Schlemmer seek re-election

The "Community Party" is the banner under which a complete ticket has been filed with the Village Clerk of Mt. Prospect to fill vacancies which will occur on April 17th for the positions of three Village Trustees, Village Clerk, Police Magistrate and President of the Board of Trustees. According to state law, these offices must be filled at that time by a village-wide election. Petitions bearing the prescribed number of signatures to place the names of the men on the April ballot and for the formation of a new party have been received by the clerk and properly filed.

ARE NOT CANDIDATES

The Herald was informed Wednesday evening that Trustees Emil Greinke, Herman Haas, Sr. and Elmer Wille are not candidates for re-election. Mayor Besander had previously announced his determination not to seek office for a third term. Mr. Haas is a veteran board member, having served so many years that he has lost count. Mr. Greinke has served nearly as many terms while Mr. Wille has eight years to his credit.

Heading the Community Party ticket for the office of President of the Board of Trustees is Maurice B. Pendleton who has previously been a member of the Board and who has been active in a wide variety of political and community activities over a period of twelve years. With him running for seats on the Board are Mr. Theodor Lams, Mr. Russell Hartwig and Mr. Fred Welsh, all of whom are long-time residents of the Village and active in various community activities.

Rounding out the ticket are Mr. Ralph Gould who is seeking re-election to the position of Police Magistrate which he has very capably filled during the past four years, and Mr. Roy Schlemmer who seeks re-election to the position of Village Clerk, an office that he has brought to a high point of efficiency since his appointment to fill the unexpired term of the former clerk.

Considerable care was taken in choosing the president and new members of the board in order to insure as complete a village-wide representation as possible with men who have the well-being of the village at heart, who could work in harmony with the three hold-over board members and men who have proved records of ability and achievement in their several professions. It is believed that these four men in conjunction with Mr. Kirchhoff, Mr. Wax and Mr. Mott, the hold-over members will be able to handle the affairs of the Village in an efficient and business like manner that will be a credit to the entire community.

New residents who have not previously registered with the Village Clerk should do so without delay in order to be eligible to vote for Village officers on April 17th. This year two polling places will be made available. Residents in the first precinct will vote in the Village Hall and those in the second precinct will vote in the C. & N. W. station. Northwest Highway is the dividing line between the two precincts.

New hearing on Thermal-Tite Ins. Co. petition

A public hearing on an appeal from the determination officer of the Cook County Enforcing Officer will be held by the Zoning Board of Appeals of Cook County at 3:30 p. m. February 28 at 160 North LaSalle st., Chicago, regarding the petition of the Thermal-Tite Insulation Co. The company seeks permission to rebuild their factory building which was partially destroyed by fire several months ago.

If the board decides that less than fifty per cent of the building was destroyed it can be rebuilt. Otherwise the property must be rezoned, which is being opposed by certain groups.

John Fero found dead in his bed

John Fero, 67, 116 S. Dunton ave., Arlington Heights, was discovered dead in his bed Tuesday morning. As death was from natural causes no inquest was held.

He had been a resident of Arlington Heights thirty years, first employed by Klehm Nurseries and recently by Gilbert Klehm. As far as known he had no relatives in this country. Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at Lauterburg and Oehler's funeral home.

Candidate for mayor

M. L. PENDLETON, candidate for mayor, who heads a full ticket in Mt. Prospect for the forthcoming election. Mr. Pendleton is a former member of the board and has been a resident of the community many years.

Recapped tires taken from Winkelmann's Sinclair station

Clarence Winkelmann, Mt. Prospect Sinclair dealer has circumstantial evidence of the early evening hour Saturday night that thieves entered his service station, taking over a dozen recapped tires belonging to his customers, but identity of the thieves is still only guess work.

Mr. Winkelmann left his station about eight o'clock. He resides next door. At 10:30 while moving his car he noticed that the service station door was open, discovering the robbery. As the station was still warm, he knows that the robbery had only been committed a short time earlier.

The proprietor is not worrying about the monetary loss to him, but the plight of his customers, the majority of whom only hold A cards, is causing him much concern.

Two tires mounted on wheels were not taken and one tire was dropped. Because a pile of junk tires was not molested, it appears that the deed was committed by some one who had sized up the place.

Capt. Wilbert Busse is instructor at Fort Crook, Neb.

A telephone call received Saturday morning by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Busse, Mt. Prospect, from their son, Wilbert, informed them that he was passing through Chicago and was on his way to Atlanta, Georgia, to attend a conference.

He recently received his captain bars and at present is serving as an instructor in the S & F Ordnance School at Fort Crook. His wife and son are with him.

Capt. Busse returned to the states last October after serving overseas two years.

Court approves annexation to Arlington Heights

Jos. D. Young, owner of a home and a half acre lot in Scarsdale Estates, at the front door of the municipality desires all the services that Arlington Heights provides its residents and is willing to pay for them.

Accordingly the county court has approved his petition for annexation to the village and upon the passage of the required ordinance he will be entitled to connect with village water and sewer system, get the benefit of street lights, fire protection, etc. He will pay $157.50 as an annexation fee, which is based on the charge of $315 per acre fixed for all subdivisions desiring annexation.

Farm fire destroys phone wires; firemen arrive an hour late

The farm house on the former Bolsinger farm, on Wilke road, near Palatine road, was destroyed by fire Sunday morning when the Palatine fire department did not receive the call until nearly an hour after the fire started.

The fire was discovered by Mr. Rizzo, who with another man lived on the place. Due to the heat Mr. Rizzo was unable to reach the second floor of the building to extinguish the blaze. Trying to phone he found the line to be out of order. He confined his efforts to removing furniture until the arrival of a neighbor, A. W. Moehling, who resides a half mile distant.

Learning that no firemen had been called, Mr. Moehling returned to his home for that purpose. By the time the department arrived the roof had already fallen in.

Ask the expert

by HERBERT A. VAN DRIEL of Van Driel Drug Store

Should you be tempted to buy medicine solely upon the recommendation of friends or advertising claims, ask a well known and trusted druggist if he can vouch for it.

It is not likely that he will advise any medication without your first seeing your physician. The more serious your malady appears to be, the less chance there is of your druggist recommending self-medication.

Too many people have worsened simple cases by taking medicines unsuited to the particular case. Each case is its own problem, to be treated as such by a physician.

And since he is naturally concerned in the efficacy of his prescription, follow his advise in choosing a druggist to fill it.

Barnie Runge is a candidate for that position.

He has done the work on Wheeling roads summer, fall and winter for 16 years.

He has done a good job. He knows how the work should be done.

We believe that the payment of two salaries for road work is a waste of tax payer's money.

We ask the voters to join with us in electing a practical road man for the highway job.

Married people don't worry so much if they have a savings account.

Married people with children know that some days bring unusual worries. Those with savings accounts don't worry so much or so often because many problems that arise in the average home can be solved if immediate cash is available. This has always been true and it is true today. If you are employed, we suggest that you set aside each week a certain amount for your savings account. This is almost a sure cure for most "worries." It's one way to be pretty sure of always coming in "a winner."

STICK TO YOUR JOB....

This boy — and many thousands of his fighting buddies have seen action! They were in North Africa, and after successful operation moved on to Italy. When Mussolini finally got his due they became part of our great strength in invasion forces. They're doing their job against Germany and Japan.

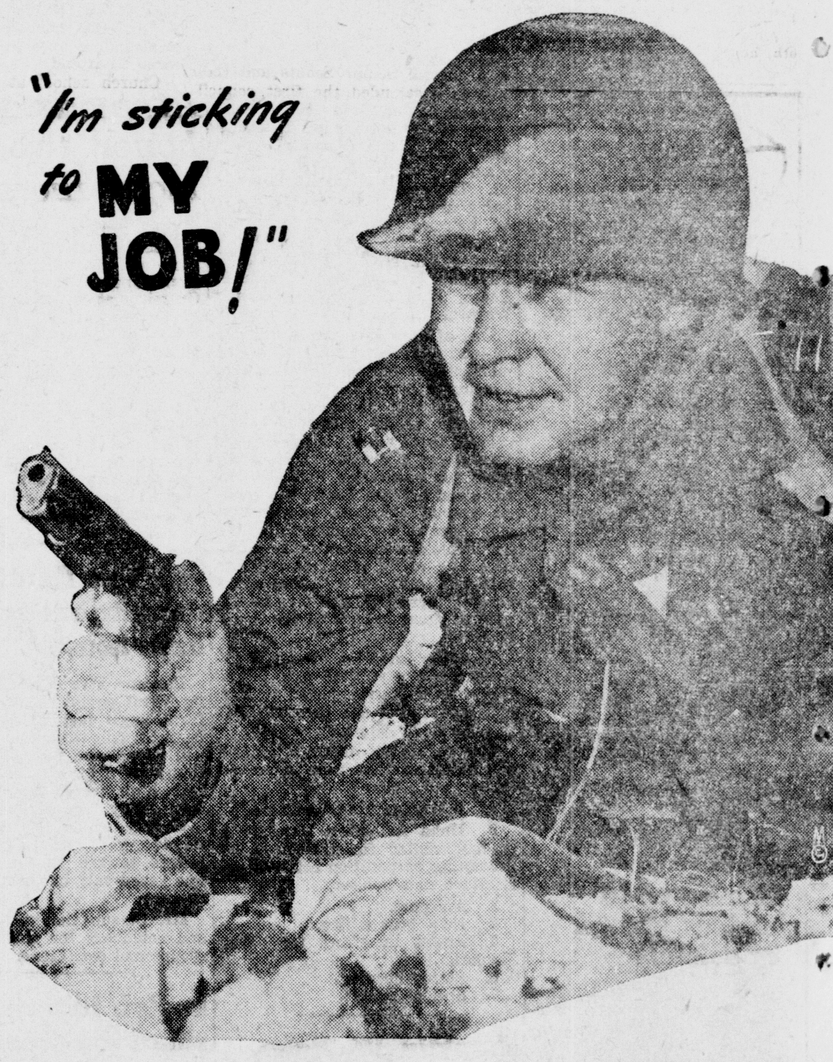

They know the war is far from over. They know the enemy is tough and treacherous. But they are sticking to their guns — and by their jobs.

Our fighters know the price of Victory. They know the price in blood.

Mr. Civilian: Our Government and war industries are pleading with you to lay aside that peace time job and get into actual war production. Surely it is your duty to help supply the equipment for our fighting forces. It is your duty to do this just as much as it is their duty to win the war by actual combat, thereby making your home safe from our enemies.

If you are not now engaged in an essential job and can aid the war effort, stop in at the nearest United States Employment Service today. Be on that war job tomorrow. You'll feel better about it in years to come.

School board head speaks before PTA

"Prospect Heights—Its Development, Local Government, Taxes and School" was the subject of William H. Spears, president of the local school board, who was guest speaker at the PTA meeting held last Tuesday evening, February 13.

The various parts of his discussion were illustrated by posters that he had made especially for the progrom, so that his audience might get a much clearer picture of the scene he was laying before them. He showed a picture of the little red schoolhouse and then went on to give its history up to its present building, which serves the children of Prospect Heights.

He gave a history of the community, from the time it had one house in it to its present 350 homes, and enlarged upon the future of the community as soon as building is permissible after the war.

He gave a very thorough description of the work that the school board is doing, and presented many interesting focts and figures to the audience. He concluded his speech with, "I think I have developed enough facts and figures to convince you that your school board is doing the best it can under these extremely difficult financial conditions to serve you and our future citizens. That, when it recommends something in the future, it will secure your full support. I would also urge, that as individuals, you drop a line to your state senator and representatives appealing for modern tax legislation for our school."

The last and final report on the amount of money taken in by the school children for the infantile paralysis fund drive stands at $111.00.

Since the children of the first grade met all the health requirements of the summer roundup, a certificate from the National Congress of Parents and Teachers was given to the PTA for year, 1944.

In order to retain the rating of a superior school, a dictionary and a set of encyclopedias are to be purchased promptly.

A nominating committee of three, Mrs. Frank Barry, Mrs. Arthur Brownell and Mrs. Rex Dallstream, has been chosen to select officers for the coming year. This committee will present the names of the nominees at the next meeting at which time election of officers will take place.

Since it was Founders Day, Mrs. Edward Warwick, president of the local PTA, presented past local PTA presidents to the audience. They were Mrs. William Spears, Mrs. Dallstream, Mrs. Robert House, and Mrs. Brownell. Two other presidents, Mrs. Roy Hartke and Mrs. John Burch have left the community.

For the second month in succession, the first and second grades have won the membership pennant with a total of 17 parents represented. The seventh and eighth grades were second with a total of 16 parents; the third and fourth had 14 parents and the fifth and sixth grades had 9 parents.

After the meeting, community singing was led by Mrs. Dallstream with Mrs. William Andrew at the piano, with the entire audience joining in singing "Happy Birthday dear PTA" to mark the organization's 48th anniversary.

The birthday decorations were yellow and blue, with a large three layer cake with yellow figures around the edge, chopped pecans covering the sides and a large "PTA" of white icing on the top as the centerpiece. Mrs. George Sheppard was responsible for this surprise. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Clarence Petersen, Mrs. Gus Cyril, Mrs. Roy Goetschel, Mrs. Vernon Nelson, Mrs. George Sheppard, Mrs. Adolph Wagner and Mrs. Charles Clayton.

The board meeting date has been changed from Tuesday, Feb. 27 to Wednesday, Feb. 28, at the home of Mrs. Rex Dallstream, 201 Clarendon street.

Several Senior Scouts and their guests attended the first councilwide Senior Scout dance held at the American Legion Hall in Des Plaines last Saturday evening. Those attending from Prospect Heights were Boyd MacRobert and Pearl Miller, Harry Daniels and Joyce Williams, and Mr. and Mrs. George Westermann. The next dance will be held after Easter, and will also be held in Des Plaines.

Visiting Mrs. Zoe McAllen, Elmhurst rd. is Miss Noma Montgomery of Corpus Christi, Tex. She is Mrs. McAllen's sister.

Visiting Donald and Elaine Rundgren, E. McDonald rd. on Wednesday afternoon was Melvin Sarow, RM3c, who has been aboard a destroyer for the past two years, doing convoy and patrol duty in the South Atlantic. He also took part in the Normandy invasion.

A chip off the old block

When it comes to making advertising posters, Scout "Weenie" Spears of Prospect Heights Troop 36 is truly following in his dad's footsteps.

In addition to the 6th war loan drive poster pictured above which brought him both a government citation and scout merit ribbon, he made most of the posters for the Strawberry Festival and the Old Fashioned Box Social. He is now working diligently on three posters to advertise the coming March presentation of the "Robe" by Mrs. Harry Kindness, for the Women's Guild of the Prospect Heights Community church. Featured with Mrs. Kindness on this community event will be Mrs. Robert F. Klepper, soloist, and the Prospect Heights Choral society. The event will take place at the schoolhouse early in March.

"Weenie" will shortly make poster wings for a large village map which is to be displayed in one of the store windows, featuring the Prospect Heights Improvement Association.

Bingo party this Friday

"Bingo."

Excited cries of "Bingo!" will be echoing in the Smith & Dawson tearoom, Elmhurst road, on Friday evening when the Lions club is again sponsoring its community bingo party.

The first party held the last Friday in January, was a complete success, with the local Bundles for America unit sharing in half of the proceeds, while the other half went into the Lions club field house fund.

This second party will be run on the same order as the first one, with the progressive prize system being used. The first prize will start low, and will increase until six games have been played, when the prizes start at the low point again and progress until the 12th game.

The party, under the direction of Joseph Weber, will begin at 8:00 p. m., and the Girl Scouts and Brownies will receive fifty per cent of the proceeds. If you want to have a lot of fun, enjoy the suspense and excitement of a game of bingo, come to the tearoom on Friday evening. Your presence there will make the Brownies and Girl Scouts very happy.

Girl Scouts on roller skates

The first roller skating party for the Girl Scouts took place last Saturday morning at the Hollywood Bowl in Chicago, and was a huge success for both the scouts and the mothers who went along.

The girls met at the pharmacy and were then taken down to the rink by several of the mothers, and Mrs. William Smith, leader and Miss Joan Redfern, co-leader. Although several of the girls suffered black and blue marks and were a trifle stiff and sore from the skating, they are eagerly awaiting the next party, and hope it will be soon.

The Girl Scouts are to receive part of the proceeds of the Lions club bingo party, and will be on hand at the tearoom this Friday evening to help in any way that they can.

Drive for scout funds under way

Members of the cub and scout committees have been busy this past week soliciting for funds during the annual financial drive, which is held for the purpose of financing the scouting and cubbing programs in the various communities. The funds raised here go to the Northwest Suburban council.

James Campbell, treasurer of the scout committee, reported that up to Tuesday evening of this week, $245.50 had been collected, but that returns were not yet complete. Six members have yet to make a report.

Those working on this drive are Robert Nygren, Roy Boroughf, James Campbell, Einar Larsen, Ray Bloomstrand, Russell Daniels, Marvin Vohs, William Smith, Geo. Westermann, Robert Andreas, Arthur Raven, Vernon Nelson, George Sheppard and Joseph Weber.

Fire boys meet

The Prospect Heights Rural Fire Protection commissioners met again Monday night at tht hardware store and further discussed the formation of a budget for the present year. There are several things that are vital to the formation of the department and considerable discussion must take place before any definite moves can be made. However it is the desire of the commissioners to have the district under fire protection very shortly. There have been some comments referring to contemplated expenses on the formation of this district. The Illinois statutes limit the amount that a property owner within the fire district can be taxed in any taxable year. Please bear this in mind should you hear any of these rumors. The next meeting of the commissioners will be held at the hardware store, Prospect Heights Monday evening, March 19, 1945, at 8 p. m.

Crib chatter

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stehman, 201 N. Elmhurst ave., became the parents of a 9 pound, 5 ounce boy on Tuesday morning. Mother and son are at the Elmhurst hospital. They have two other children, Carl and Barbara.

Visiting Mrs. Gus Teborek on Maple ave. this week are Mrs. John Hejna and daughter, Laine, of Storm Lake, Iowa. Mrs. Teborek's brother is Captain John Hejna, who is now in the Philippines.

Prospector's gleanings

Ted Klapp was busily engaged draining the water in front of the stores on Thursday afternoon of last week, and as soon as the school bus unloaded its passengers, the young boys made a bee-line to him to watch the proceedings . . . He set up a sump pump and was draining the water to a lower level . . . He was "assisted" by Clifford Heverly, Billy Herring and John Kramar . . . The latter was the source of amusement for many onlookers when he slid on the ice and sat down in the cold water . . .

The youngsters from St. James school in Arlington Heights are competing to see haw many chance cards they can sell . . . A war bond is the first prize, with three additional prizes which bear the intriguing title, "surprises" . . . Some of the busiest salesmen around the business block were Jackie Olsen, Donnie Neuendorf, Charles McManus and Marvin and Billy Schaeffer . . .

Stamp sales at the school last week were: 1st and 2nd, $13.90; 3rd and 4th, $6.85; 5th and 6th, $5.50, 7th and 8th, $23.35, for a total of $49.60 . . . This is the second week that the 7th and 8th grades have made the highest sales . . . Mrs. Frank Barry, war finance committee member who sells stamps at the school every Wednesday, reports that the students missed the necessary 90 per cent needed to fly the Minute Man flag last month, but hopes that it can be flown this month . . .

As if in answer to "Billy" Spears appeal for an increase in tax rates before the Parent-Teacher Association meeting last Tuesday evening, the Senate Committee on Education recommended the passage of Senate bill No. 60, of which Senator Ray Paddock of Libertyville is the author . . .

This measure makes it possible for residents of Prospect Heights school District No. 23 to decide, by a referendum, whether or not they want to spend more on elementary school education than the $1.80 per $100 assessed valuation.

As set out by Spears, school costs have risen with the cost of everything else . . . Increased costs together with huge attendance increases in this nonindustrial area has paralyzed the district's finances . . . What the Paddock bill would do is to permit the school tax rate to rise to $2.25, with the provision that the increase, to be effective, must be approved by the voters at a special election . . . Thus the proposed school tax act, if passed, will let residents decide for themselves whether they wish to spend more of their own money for the school or let the school deteriorate.

Family in narrow escape in early morning fire

Daughter awakens parents as house fills with smoke

The exterior of the former Milligan home, 1118 North Dunton, Arlington Heights, does not show much damage from a fire that occurred there at 5:30 Friday morning, but it came near being the scene of a tragedy.

The owners, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight J. Anderson and their daughter, who purchased the house a year ago, are thankful to have escaped with their lives. Their dog, kept on an enclosed rear porch, suffocated.

The fire, in the opinion of Fire Chief Jahn, had smoldered several hours in an attic above the kitchen. The daughter was awakened by smoke. Calling to her mother she rushed down stairs and awakened her folks. Neighbors were asked to notify the fire department.

The firemen found that the blaze was largely in the walls. They moved much of the furniture to a single room, covering it with tarpaulins, thereby protecting it from the water which had to be extensively used. Fortunately doors and windows were kept closed until the arrival of the firemen which kept it from spreading. "It was the worst house fire I have ever fought," states Chief Jahn. His men worked three hours to extinguish the blaze.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson are temporarily residing in a Chicago hotel. The damage to the home is nearly $5,000 with loss of personal property nearly as great.

Too much fog for even a marine

Marine Gordon Boobyer is in the Palatine Community hospital recuperating from numerous injuries received Wednesday night when due to the fog his car hit a culvert between Palatine and Arlington Heights. His two passengers were a little more fortunate and were not hospitalized.

Gordon, who was driving, has numerous cuts about the face and may have internal injuries.

Arlington Lions hosts to club of neighboring towns

Arlington Heights Lions Club was host Tuesday evening to the Lions Club of Palatine, Mt. Prospect and Prospect Heights. Following a dinner that was even better than usual, under the direction of Mr. Costain the Arlington Heights high school triple trio gave two numbers, and Miss Betty Lou Scamehorn rendered a solo, accompanied by Donna Lee Doughty. The encores call for 'more' but the young ladies shook their heads as they had another date that evening.

M. W. Prellberg, program chairman, introduced two Chicago friends (oil industry of course) who showed two comedies that topped off a happy evening. Palatine and Mt. Prospect were unusually well represented.

'Bundle' appeal brings $35 for induction gifts

The request made in this paper by the Arlington Heights unit of Bundles for America for donations of cigarettes, candy, fruit, etc., to be given the boys as they leave for service, was answered by the receipt of two checks totaling $35. Fine letters accompanied the checks.

The unit herewith thanks the donors with the hope that the spirit shown by these two will spread to others. Such a response encourages the members of Bundles for America to continue the work.

Mrs. Plontke is still accepting donations. Her phone number is Arlington Heights 367-R. Mrs. Tack, phone 245-M, is still collecting $1 donations.

There will be all day sewing next Wednesday. Everybody is welcome; bring your lunch; coffee will be served.

Arlington to vote on retirement fund for employees

If adopted the employees will contribute to the fund as well as the village.

Monday meeting to show parents about Cub scouts

During the next three weeks, parents of boys nine, ten and eleven, who are interested in Cubbing in Palatine, will have an opportunity to increase their information on the Cubbing program.

The Northwest Suburban Council is presenting a three session course starting Monday evening, February 26, in the Community Room at the high school. This course includes the first session, on the general Cubbing Program. It is usually known as the birdseye view of Cubbing. The next two meetings will be based on the Den and Pack Program.

Council leaders who will be present to help with the instruction are: Lee R. Bair, Skokie, Council Commissioner of Cubbing; W. F. Kratt, Park Ridge, Council Commissioner; D. P. Lewis, L. C. Cobb, Paul Fischer, all former Den Dads of Park Ridge and Stanley H. Huntington, Scout Executive.

The sessions will be held from 8:00 to 10:00 p. m. on each of three Monday evenings, February 26, March 5 and March 12. All parents of boys nine, ten and eleven years old are welcome. Refreshments will be served at the close of each meeting.

Schaumburg town ticket not yet complete

Supervisor F. W. Pfingsten and Town Clerk Louis Redeker of Schaumburg township are both candidates for re-election. Also Wm. Greve as assessor and Emil Scrage as road commissioner, but as this paper goes to press no petition has been filed for the office of collector, justice of the peace or constable.

Tax bills will be earlier and higher

From all indications the 1944 tax bills will be out the latter part of next month.

The county clerk's office is working on a schedule that would get the country town bills ready for the township collectors about March 15 and the mailing out of the bills will follow immediately.

1944 taxes will, in all probability, be higher than they were in 1943.

The heavy increase in the county budget which will allow the county a great deal more money under the 100 per cent assessment valuation will mean an increase in the county tax rates.

Some of the local taxing bodies also increased their tax levies due to increased operating costs, all of which will mean higher tax bills.

But as one taxpayer put it "What's the difference the local taxes we pay are only a small part of our tax load. With income taxes up where they are a little more or less is only a drop in the bucket."

People who appealed to the board of appeals on their 1943 valuations, if they received a reduction, will not see the reduced valuation on their 1944 bills as it was impossible for the assessor's office to make all the changes before the 1944 assessment rate was filed with the county clerk.

However a revised rate will be filed and the new valuations will be put on the books between the first and second collections.

Tax payers in this class should pay only their first installment when the bills come out so that the adjustment will be made on their second installment.

The township collectors have been instructed to file their bonds and get ready for the collection.

It is hoped by the county officials that the May 1st penalty date can be strictly adhered to this year.

For the past two years there has been a July 1st penalty date on the first installment but this year it is hoped to get back to the regular schedule and get the bills out on time.

Air medals honor two local fliers

Air medals were presented Wednesday afternoon to the families of two Arlington Heights men. One of them, Lt. George Grossi, met his death April 28, 1944, while serving, in Italy as a pilot of a paratroop carrying plane.

The other is 2nd Lt. Franklin J. Bublitz, who is reported missing since last February while in service in southern Italy.

The medal honoring Lt. Grossi was presented to his 5 months old son. Mrs. Frank Bublitz received the medal for her son, who is missing in action.

Palatine Rural Fire department saves farm house

Palatine Fire department, using its rural equipment, saved the farm home last Friday night of Emil Straub, who resides on Baldwin road, near Rand road. The flames of a burning shed were 20 feet high when they were discovered by Mr. Straub, who immediately called the firemen. A strong west wind carried the flames toward the house, which was saved only by the work of the firemen.

Mr. Straub thanks the firemen and neighbors for their quick response and assistance.

Legion initiation ritual this week

The champion Ritual Team of the Department of Illinois, Naval Post No. 372 American Legion will exemplify the Legion ritual in the initiation of legionnaires from Des Plaines, Mt. Prospect, Palatine, Barrington and from Arlington Heights Legion Posts this Thursday, Washington's birthday.

Many prominent legionnaires and citizens of neighboring communities will be present and it is expected that many post members will avail themselves of the opportunity of witnessing this ceremony at Arlington Heights.

The commander has extended an invitation to members of the Legion Auxiliary to be present also.

William G. Burns, Senior Vice Commander of the Cook County Council of the American Legion, will be the principal speaker of the evening and he is well versed in legion work and current affairs.

Prior to the initiation new candidates will be voted upon by Merle Guild Post. Servicemen and women of the present war are especially invited as guests.

Tales of the Street

EARLY BIRDS

The first robins and the earliest we have ever seen put in their appearance on Valentine's day.

The first herald of the spring time was reported by several people on that day.

It must have been an invasion of early birds that came along with the thawing weather from southern Illinois, where the temperature had been over 70 degrees.

The birds got a cold reception over the week-end and probably wished they hadn't ventured so far north so early, but at any rate they're a promise and a forecast of better days to come.

LAST GAME

Last Friday night saw the last basketball game of the season on the home floor.

And it was a happy and glorious closing for the home teams, both of whom downed their old rivals from Barrington in neat fashion before the largest crowd that was ever packed into the local gym.

A few weeks ago we made some remarks and comments in this column about a lightweight game between Palatine and Antioch. In that game the boys just couldn't do anything right.

Friday night they just could not do anything wrong.

Up against the champion Barrington five, which hadn't lost a game in the N. W. conference all season, the local lads played just about the sweetest basketball that's been seen around here in many a year.

They hopped off to such a start that their opponents never knew which way they went.

It was just about the smoothest play in that first half that the local fans have ever looked at.

Its form reversed from that Antioch game was so great that it it had taken place on a race track instead of a basketball floor everybody would have been called up for an investigation.

But then that's basketball — where anything can happen — and does.

It was a great windup for the season as the big team also hit the jack pot and carried home the bacon.

Another season is gone, and now the members of veterans row are wondering if there will be any baseball to look at this summer, and if pinochle games will have to go dark promptly at the stroke of midnight.

SEEDS

We were talking with a veteran seed man the other day and were growling some about the way seed prices have been hiked up and the quantity of seed in a package cut down.

The seed man admitted that the complaints had plenty of foundation and he also admitted that seed houses are selling everything they've got that will get by at all and that quality isn't what it used to be by a long ways.

He told about one lady who wanted a pound of sweet corn seed.

"You must have quite a garden," remarked the salesman.

"Oh, no, only a window box," replied the lady.

In vain the seed man tried to tell her that she only needed a little seed for a window box.

She wanted a pound, and a pound she got.

Another lady wanted an ounce each of red, blue, and white morning glory seed.

"How big a farm have you got?" asked the seed man.

"Oh, just a small back yard, but I want red, white and blue morning glories running all over the fence," replied the lady.

Again the seed man tried in vain to tell this lady that one or two packages of each kind would give her a profusion of flowers.

She wanted an ounce of each because she wanted to plant them thick so as to be sure and have plenty of flowers.

So of course she got her three ounces of seed.

Many new gardeners have no idea of the amount of seed needed for their garden plots, say the seed men, and they want to make sure that they get enough.

MORE GARDENS

Last year the number of gardens and the demand for seed fell off very materially from the year before.

But with rationing lightened up and the prospect of a meat shortage this summer there is every indication that there will again be a big increase in gardens and in seed orders.

And it's a good idea to order your seeds early so that you'll get the kinds you want.

And it's also a good idea if you are planning on having a large enough garden to order your seeds by the ounce or half pound or pound, according to variety.

By ordering in bulk, if the seed is going to be actually used, a good amount of cash can be saved on the seed order, as ocmpared with ordering by the package.

Because there isn't a whole lot of seed in a package any more as all gardeners have found out in the last few years.

SOIL CONDITIONS

Farmers and gardeners are wondering what shape the ground is going to be in this spring.

Snow has often been called "the poor man's fertilizer," and there has been a fine covering of snow on the ground all winter.

But fall plowing turned the ground up in an awful chunky fashion, some fields looking like cement blocks, because of the summer and fall dry spell which hardened the soil.

Good freezing weather will break up that chunky ground, but according to reports the snow has been so thick that there is very little frost in the ground.

So whether or not it has yet frozen enough to mellow it up is the question that a lot of folks are waiting to see the answer to.

With America expected to feed most of the world people who raise crops for market and for home use are hoping for good soil conditions.

Three days to register for spring elections

Local village clerks have been advised that under the Permanent Registration Law their offices will be open for registration of voters March 1st, 2nd and 3rd. After March 3rd there can be no voters registration in the village or town clerk's offices until June 5th.

March 3 is last day changes can be made for persons who desire to vote at the township elections.

After March 5th and until May 5th registrations can be made at the office of the county clerk in Chicago. Registrations for the village election must be made at the village clerk's office on or before March 3 or at the County Clerk's office not later than Mar. 19th.

Ens. Ray Hahnfeldt stops off at home between "classes"

Ensign Ray Hahnfeld, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Hahnfeld, is spending two weeks between classes at home. Three months ago he completed midshipman's school and received his ensign rating. Next week he will report at Harvard University where he will spend three months in a combatant and communications course.

When Lt. j.g. Harris Helgesen arrived in Chicago last Friday from the Pacific Coast, he was pleasantly surprised to learn that he was now a resident of Palatine. "If I had known," said Harris "When I left the coast that I would spend my leave in good old Palatine, I would certainly have brought my car with me."

Mrs. Helegsen and his sister, Mrs. LaPointe, had rented the Kincaid home a few days earlier, moving here from Evanston.

New hearing on Thermal-Tite Ins. Co. petition

A public hearing on an appeal from the determination officer of the Cook County Enforcing Officer will be held by the Zoning Board of Appeals of Cook County at 3:30 p. m. February 28 at 160 North LaSalle st., Chicago, regarding the petition of the Thermal Tite Insulation Co. The company seeks permission to rebuild their factory building which was partially destroyed by fire several months ago.

If the board decides that less than fifty per cent of the building was destroyed it can be rebuilt. Otherwise the property must be rezoned, which is being opposed by certain groups.

Ill. Range Co. to build factory in Mt. Prospect

Foundations for brick building started Monday

The village of Mt. Prospect is to have another industry. Illinois Range Co., an Illinois corporation organized in 1920, has purchased a three acre tract of Herman Moehling, immediately west of Milburn Bros. property on Central road. This firm is now located at 800 South Ada street, Chicago.

Announcement of the plans of this company was withheld until the needed building permit was received from the Mt. Prospect village board. The board authorized the permit Thursday evening and work on the foundation was started Monday.

The Illinois Range Co. specializes in the manufacture of kitchen equipment for restaurants, hospitals and hotels. At present, it is in war work furnishing galley equipment for the U. S. Maritime Commission. The building will be 161x113 feet, with an area of 18,000 square feet. The plans call for a modernized building front of glass and pressed brick, but that class of construction must wait until after the war. Priorities have been granted for common brick construction.

The grounds will be landscaped and ultimately the building will have a frontal appearance similar to the modern factory buildings recently constructed on Peterson Ave., and along other Chicago boulevards.

Phil Jeuck of the Illinois Range Co., became interested in Mt. Prospect when he first visited his friend Herbert VanDriel, local pharmacist. He made the acquaintance of members of the Lions Club and as he became familiar with the community and its citizens, he decided that he would like to become a resident of Mt. Prospect and move his business to that suburb. He discussed the matter at some length with local business men and received so much encouragement that he purchased the property and secured needed priorities from the government.

Preliminary negotiations for the purchase of the property were aided by a special Lions Club committee, comprising Wm. Busse, Jr., Fred Meeske, Geo. L. Busse, Albert Wille and Charles W. Crysler.

The factory will give employment to about forty persons, representing a payroll of $100,000 a year. It will be operated on a union basis, paying salaries that will attract the better class of workers and who will be able to own homes.

Local business men feel that the manufacturing plant will be an addition to Mt. Prospect and may be the forerunner of other light manufacturing plants that will provide home employment for many present residents as well as others skilled in the metal trades.

"The location of this factory in Mt. Prospect," says Fred C. Busse, president of the Lions Club, "might be called the start of post war development for the community."

Sugar stamp 34 expires Wednesday

Householders are warned that sugar stamp 34 expires next Wednesday, February 28. Stamp 35 is still valid and will continue to be used until June 2.

A Merry Chase

It is no secret that Mayor Albert Goedke, Arlington Heights, does not look with favor on the chasing by local police of speeders on the Northwest highway through the municipality. Tuesday afternoon when he came near being the victim of one such speeder, he called out the reserves, including the police squad car, the department of streets and two state police officers, who chanced to be in town.

It might have been a wild goose chase for all of them if George Wittenberg, Mt. Prospect police chief had not made a mental note of a speeding car that passed him on Main street, while he was directing traffic for school children who were crossing the highway.

It is nothing to laugh at says the mayor, but his friends are a little amused over the fact that while state police officers had been sent south to search for the fleeing car and two municipal cars were scouring the town, the offending auto stopped to make a delivery at the Winkelman service station, 200 feet from the mayor's car.

Through all of this excitement nobobdy took down the license number of the auto.

Here is the story:

A Chicago car, occupied by three boys was being driven so fast that it could not make the left hand turn to State road from the highway and crashed a telephone pole in which it left imbedded a car handle. The crash threw the car across the park and nearly into the mayor's truck. Mr. Goedke's first though was "this is it", but the speeding car regained the highway and sped down state road.

Mr. Goedke from the phone of the Pfingston realty office gave orders that all hands turn out to capture the car and its reckless driver. Two state officers also answered the call.

The car hid for a little while in Scarsdale then came back up State road to Davis street, again passing the mayor, who again hurried to the phone to report the car's location. As he was phoning, unknown to Mr. Goedke, the car stopped at the Winkelmann shop long enough to make a delivery.

By this time the mayor was fighting mad and in an effort to apprehend the driver, phoned Palatine and Mt. Prospect to be on the lookout. When Geo. Whittenberg at Mt. Prospect received the call, he recalled the license number that had automatically registered in his mind. He gave the number to Judge Behrens, 144513. A phone call to Springfield brought the information that the car belonged to Butler Bros. Super Service, 4908 Irving Park Blvd. The proprietor told the police that the car, badly wrecked, had returned, its driver stating that he had skidded on the ice.

Mayor Goedke's model T truck is still shivering over its escape.

Supervisor Meyer has no more relief; may close shop

Supervisor John Meyer, Palatine township, has no more relief clients and has cancelled relief hours. "I am in the same class as business men who can't get goods to sell; only I have no customers," says Mr. Meyer. He admits it is a pleasant experience. "It is like the old days," says the supervisor, "when a supervisor had no worries. It is a relief not to get appeals over the phone from some family that has not enough to eat or needs coal. Some of the fellows who formerly received relief from me are earning more money than this supervisor."

Kenyon rolls 268 game; 648 series

Kenyon's scores were 160, 220, 268.

He started his third game with 9 pins in the opening frame and then pounded out nine straight strikes, and wound up with 20 pins in the final frame for his record count of 268.

After George had got up to three straight strikes the boys began to take notice and as he kept on ringing them up a lusty cheer greeted each strike.

The rest of the bowlers didn't say a word before he shot, acting as if they didn't even know it was his turn, but as those strikes piled up the cheers got louder and after the game they showered him with congratulations.

Kenyon evidently thought it was time some of the lesser lights, showed some of those big shot tournament bowlers, like Sanborn, La Londe and Kirch, how the pins should be toppled so he went out and did the job himself.

He has hung up a high score and series that will take some shooting at to dislodge him as top man of the majors.

Farm fire destroys phone wires; firemen arrive an hour late

The farm house on the former Bolsinger farm, on Wilke road, near Palatine road, was destroyed by fire Sunday morning when the Palatine fire department did not receive the call until nearly an hour after the fire started.

The fire was discovered by Mr. Rizzo, who with another man lived on the place. Due to the heat Mr. Rizzo was unable to reach the second floor of the building to extinguish the blaze. Trying to phone he found the line to be out of order. He confined his efforts to removing furniture until the arrival of a neighbor, A. W. Moehling, who resides a half mile distant.

Learning that no firemen had been called, Mr. Moehling returned to his home for that purpose. By the time the department arrived the roof had already fallen in.

Recapped tires taken from Winkelmann's Sinclair station

Clarence Winkelmann, Mt. Prospect Sinclair dealer has circumstantial evidence of the early evening hour Saturday night that thieves entered his service station, taking over a dozen recapped tires belonging to his customers, but identity of the thieves is still only guess work.

Mr. Winkelmann left his station about eight o'clock. He resides next door. At 10:30 while moving his car he noticed that the service station door was open, discovering the robbery. As the station was still warm, he knows that the robbery had only been committed a short time earlier.

The proprietor is not worrying about the monetary loss to him, but the plight of his customers, the majority of whom only hold A cards, is causing him much concern.

Two tires mounted on wheels were not taken and one tire was dropped. Because a pile of junk tires was not molested, it appears that the deed was committed by some one who had sized up the place.

Court approves annexation to Arlington Heights

Jos. D. Young, owner of a home and a half acre lot in Scarsdale Estates, at the front door of the municipality desires all the services that Arlington Heights provides its residents and is willing to pay for them.

Accordingly the county court has approved his petition for annexation to the village and upon the passage of the required ordinance he will be entitled to connect with village water and sewer system, get the benefit of street lights, fire protection, etc. He will pay $157.50 as an annexation fee, which is based on the charge of $315 per acre fixed for all subdivisions desiring annexation.

Workers ready for Red Cross campaign

Next Thursday evening is the big night

Chairman Roy LaLonde is all smiles over the response he has received to his plea for Red Cross workers. He is especially pleased over the interest that is being displayed among the farmer group. He has a number of men of the rural area who have assumed responsibilty for contacting their neighbors and Roy expects that the Palatine Red Cross fund this year will surpass all previous campaigns. "Just read the papers and listen to the tales of prisoners of war who saw that the Red Cross packages were the only thing that saved their lives," says Mr. LaLonde. "Solicitors will not have to make excuses for their calls. The public knows."

Within the village of Palatine an attempt will be made to cover the entire town in one evening, Thursday, March 1st between 7 and 8 o'clock. The public is asked to be at home during those hours. A number of people have already sent their contributions to Mr. LaLonde. Others can do likewise, if they desire.

Police drive on dogs

It's nearing spring with time for gardens, lawns and shrubs to be put in shape and the dogs are on the prowl.

But so are the police and the local police department issues a warning to all dog owners to keep their dogs at home.

With dogs running all over town, shrubs and fresh gardens always suffer, and this year the police are starting their dog drive early and not waiting for an irate citizenry to put the heat on them to control the dogs.

This year the police are putting the heat on the dogs before the public can put it on them.

A Lecture on Christian Science
Entitled Dominion through Obedience to Law
by
Anna E. Herzog, C. S. B. of Columbus, Ohio
Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Delivered under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Barrington, Illinois, in the church edifice, 421 East Main St., Barrington, Illinois, on Sunday afternoon, February 18, 1945, at 4 o'clock.

Mrs. Herzog said that the child begins his mathematical calculations by learning that one and one are two. Later, with mature experience, he may be calculating mathematically in terms of light years and astronomical distances. If so, he has had to travel the long road of experience in strict obedience to the laws of mathematics. Thus it is in the great problem of spiritual growth and progress. Only through accurate obedience to divine law can one achieve ever greater benefits from the law's application.

Divine law in operation, the lecturer said, is the activity of divine Mind. And she asked, What is this Mind whence law comes? She quoted from page 115 of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," where its author, Mary Baker Eddy, defines God as "Divine Principle, Life, Truth, Love, Soul, Spirit, Mind." The real man is the creation of God, the idea of Mind. His reason for being is to express the characteristics of each of these synonyms for God. True self-consciousness is a consciousness of one's own indestructible, definite, everlasting individuality as God's expression.

Mrs. Eddy was the Discoverer of Christian Science and the Founder of The Mother Church and its branches. She is the only Leader of the Christian Science movement, through her writings. Every activity of the church she founded is for the purpose of healing sin and sickness. Its reason for being is the demonstration of the Christ, that active, loving, healing influence for good which Jesus knew and demonstrated so well.

Mrs. Herzog said that prayer, as understood in Christian Science, is consciously uniting our thought to God and seeking a closer communion with infinite Love. Christian Science treatment is purely mental; it is prayer only. It includes seeing that God alone is power and that the real man is one with God. The Christian Science practioner regards a sick man or a sinner with compassion, even as Jesus did.

The lecturer pointed out that everyone who really loves his brother wants to be able to say to those in need "Rise up and walk." And everyone will have to attain that ability through obedience to the same rules which the Master obeyed. Might and obedience go hand in hand.

In the midst of confusion, war, or sorrow, the Christian Scientist holds to the spiritual realities of being. He knows evil to be only a phase of mesmerism, a lie or unreality. He knows that eventually good will triumph in the affairs of the world. As the individual finds peace and healing by fulfilling the law of his being as Mind's reflection, so can the nations, those great groups of individuals, find peace and harmony in obeying the laws of God.

To summarize, the lecturer said, think in obedience to Principle, then live in obedience to your thinking. And that will mean for each of you, today, in the measure of your acceptance and practice of this Science of obedience to Spirit, a fuller, richer, gladder life, and an ever-increasing measure of free and God-governed dominion.

Junior Women present 'Fashions in Review'

Palatine Junior Woman's Club entertained the Senior Club Tuesday evening, presenting for them "Fashions in Review" which brought back memories to many as they sat and watched the members of the Junior Woman's Club model.

Louise Mangels, as the Grandmother, pointed out pictures in an old family album to her granddaughter, played by Eleanor Mair.

As the story of the album unwound, girls of the club modeled the clothes for that period, while Ruth McElroy played appropriate music, such as "Surrey With The Fringe", "Memories", "My Gal, Sal", and other numbers.

Mary Straisinger and her eight months old daughter were very fashionable in a wasp waist and flowing skirts with their numerous petticoats underneath them. Mother in black and the daughter in all white. The long baby dress was a mere 61 years old.

Marjorie Beckman showed the fashion in night attire by wearing a white nightgown and cap trimmed in beautiful white lace.

Helen Dierker was the belle of the evening in her plumed hat, muff and smart fitting jacket and skirt. Mary Smith with her gown of the flapper age of the 20's, when dresses did nothing for the figure made all stop to wonder how they must have looked in that particular era. Virginia Haemker in blue dress down to the floor with apron to match was very trim and neat.

Isabel Plew modeled the "Sunday-Go-Meeting" dress of white with yards and yards of material which reached the floor, complete with the white hat with blue feathers al around it. Jean Zelsdorf in a creation from years back, with a perky hat set on the back of her head was a striking example of period clothes. An old fashioned wedding gown of brown satin, which was 57 years old, was also worn by a Junior girl.

Then into the sports clothes. Gym suits with wide bloomer bottoms half way down to the ankles were shown, which were probably used when basketball was played in Seip's auditorium. An old bathing suit from 1900 was modeled, which makes one wonder how they ever did manage to do any swimming, and then followed a bathing suit of today worn by Geraldine Danielsen.

As a contrast modern clothes were also worn by some of the girls. Dapper suits, stylish dresses, pajamas and quilted robes. The last minute styles in sport clothes, shorts and slacks. And last but not least a beautiful white satin wedding gown of today modeled by Mayrene Haemker.

This brought the story of the album to a close after which refreshments were served in the cafeteria by Louise Mangels and her committee composed of Ruth Malcolm, Wanda Haseman and Vivian Stewart.

The program which was thoroughly enjoyed by the senior members as the guests was planned and directed by Mrs. Robert Schoppe, the capable program chairman. The clothes of former years were loaned through the courtesy of Miss Louise Wildhagen, who also attended as a guest of the Junior club.

Piano pupils in unique recital

Relatives and friends of the pupils of Mrs. Frank Hartman last week witnessed a unique performance and demonstration by members of her two groups of Curtis piano classes. These children, ranging in ages from 6 to 9 years, displayed unusual knowledge of the form, analysis as well as the harmonic construction of the compositions.

The outstanding feature, however, was when six children, two at each piano, played simultaneously, and surprised the audience when they began to transpose their pieces from one key to the next.

The second portion of the recital was devoted to individual playing by the private pupils. They showed marked improvement technically and interpretively and were enthusiastically received by the audience.

Attendance awards were presented by Judge Hartman to Alice Sanford, Susie Morris, Ann Acree, Camilla Schultz, Barbara Sanborn, Margaret Knupper and Howard Holbrook.

The following students took part in the recital: Margaret Knupper, Barbara Sanborn, Nancy Behling, Howard Holbrook, Jeffry Nicholas, Charles Bergren, Alice Sanford, Ann Acree, Susie Morris, Camilla Schultz, Avis Anderson and Chas. Mr. and Mrs. Leo Brommelkamp and daughters, Shirlee and Mrs. Avon Jones were guests at a birthday party, Sunday, in honor of Mr. Brommelkamp's mother, Mrs. John Brommelkamp. The party was held at the home of Mrs. William Ehlers.

The next meeting of the Wittenberg Patron's club will be held at the school March 7.

The Entertainment Committee, consisting of Mrs. Alex Bell and Mrs. Clifford Gordon, have an interesting program planned for the meeting.

The Male Players will play a return engagement, due to popular demand. There will be several other numbers on the program, according to reports.

Lee Betts received "Greetings" from the President Wednesday and notice to report for induction into the Army, March 3.

David Talbot celebrated his "umpty"-fifth birthday Sunday. He was guest of honor at a family party and received some lovely gifts in memory of the occasion. This birthday really has a special significance for David, from now on, if anybody taps him on the shoulder, he'll know it isn't Uncle Sam. All he has to worry about now, is whether he'll be sent across the ocean in a Lend-Lease arrangement (like the destroyers, in the same age bracket).

The G.P.M.C.P. (Greater Palatine Male Community Players) met at the Talbot home Tuesday evening for rehearsal and relaxation. Mrs. Talbot discovered some unexpected acting abilities among these players and they no doubt will go far in the theatrical world, under her capable direction.

Senior Woman's club enjoy art program

The Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Woman's Club of Palatine, as arranged, under the chairmanship of Mrs. George C. Butler, of the Art and Literature Department, was in the form of a Stephen Foster Tea in conjunction with a program on Adventures with brush and pencil.

Miss Lottie Hart held the feature spot on the program as she recounted the progress of her interest in art throughout her life time. From an early age Miss Hart enjoyed a keen perception of color and line. This resulted in a deep appreciation of the finest in art, and a worthy group of her own works in water color and, more recently, in pastels. Especially interesting was Miss Hart's water color of the Old Dutch windmill which stood in Palatine near the corner of Fremont and Richmond streets.

On display were examples of the hobbies, handicraft and keepsakes of various members of the club. Mrs. Victor Tousley submitted three charming still life arrangements.

Mrs. Fred Oswald gave an informal discussion of the life and songs of Stephen Foster. She introduced Miss Mary Ann Karls, who sang Foster's "Beautiful Dreamer" and "Jeanie With The Light Brown Hair". Miss Lois Talbot accompanied her. The concluding portion of this program was the singing of several old favorites from Stephen Foster in which Mrs. Lisle McKown led members and their guests in a delightful interval of song.

Refreshments were served at prettily arranged tea tables with Mrs. Fred Wildhagen and her committee as hosts.

Rev. Hammitt to address mothers club

On Tuesday, Feb. 27, at 8 p. m. the Mothers Club of the Palatine Methodist church will meet at the home of Mrs. J. E. Clettenburg. Mrs. Jesse Filloon and Mrs. Clarence Collignon will be co-hostesses.

Rev. Leon Hammitt will speak on "George Washington and the Colonial Days." This should prove to be a most educational program as well as most interesting. All members are especially urged to attend. Devotions will be in charge of Mrs. Jesse Filloon and delicious refreshments will be served.

Circle No. 2 will meet on Wednesday, Feb. 28, at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. William H. Kessler.

Circle No. 3 will meet on Wednesday, Feb. 28 at 2 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Robert Ward.

Circle No. 4 will meet on Wednesday, Feb. 28, at 2 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Gray Sanborn.

John Fero found dead in his bed

He had been a resident of Arlington Heights thirty years, first employed by Klehm Nurseries and recently by Gilbert Klehm. As far as known he had no relatives in this country. Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at Lauterburg and Oehler's funeral home.

Feed Silage to Ewes

Good, clean corn silage fed at the rate of a bushel crate or about 25 pounds a day to 10 ewes is suggested by livestock extension specialists. If the silage is fed with a good legume hay, the bred ewes should maintain thrifty condition without grain until about three or four weeks before lambing time.

To discuss what legislators should do for schools

Residents of Arlington Heights are invited to attend a town meeting at the North School on Monday, February 26, to discuss "What Do We Want Our Legislators To Do For Our Schools?"

James Pease, superintendent of schools in LaGrange, N. M. Lattof, president of the Arlington Heights Elementary School Board and Miss Suzan Scully, former president of the Illinois Education Association and now state director of the National Education Association, have been asked to serve on a panel headed by Paul Vawter.

Each member of the panel will outline in a ten minute talk the high points of one of the following questions:

1. What are the basic needs of our schools today?
2. What can be done on a state basis to meet these needs?
3. What can be done on a federal basis to meet these needs?
4. What can an interested citizen do?

The audience will be given an opportunity to ask questions and follow-up meetings will be arranged to give more information in regard to the last question.

The meeting will begin at 8:00 p. m.

Miss Dorothy Golden, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Golden of Palatine, was united in marriage last Saturday evening to William Moody, MM2c, son of Mrs. W. D. Fisher at her home at 122 W. Slade st., Palatine, with Rev. Leon Hammitt of the Methodist church officiating, using the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. G. W. Keyes of Chicago, sister of the groom, served as matron of honor and Harold Golden of Norwood Park, brother of the bride, as the best man.

The bride was attired in the "something borrowed" wedding gown of white satin, empire style, with long train and veil worn by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Wilma Golden, at the time of her marriage to the bride's brother. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Mrs. Keyes was attired in a pretty printed frock and the groom was in his navy uniform.

Mrs. Moody received many lovely gifts from her co-workers at the Economy Fuse Co. where she has been employed for sometime.

Among the guests present was the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Carrie Sanford, Mr. and Mrs. Burgess Field, daughters, Virginia and Alice, and Mrs. Alice Sanford and daughter, Alice Marie, the groom's stepfather, Mr. W. D. Fisher, his mother and brother, Tom. From out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Keyes, Mr. and Mrs. John Fyfe, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. John Fyfe, Jr., and son Donald, Miss Ella Walters, Mr. and Mrs. J. Fillebrown and daughter Betty Lou of Chicago, Mr. Harold Golden of Norwood Park and Mrs. Wilma Golden and the bride's sister, Donna, of Mt. Prospect.

The young couple left Sunday morning for Boston, Mass., where he reported on February 20 for further assignment, having served in the navy 5 years and 2 months.

Committee explains 'whys' of annexation

List benefits of Edgewood proposal

A committee representing the proposal to annex Edgewood to Bensenville appeared before the the Village Board at their regular meeting on February 15. A discussion took place on the sewage plant, which, as a postwar plan, is to be completely revamped to take care of the present conditions and also prepare for the future.

If the voters of Bensenville accept the annexation of Edgewood into Bensenville, they point out, it would mean that the subdivision of Edgewood would have to carry a good portion of the cost of the new disposal plant, therefore, relieving the Bensenville property owners from assuming the total cost.

Any special improvement made in the subdivision proper such as sidewalks, streets, street lights, etc., shall be assumed by the subdivision property owners and in no way would affect the village property owners, it was said. This also means that with the increasing population a mail delivery service would be inaugurated thereby opening a few jobs for the boys when they return from their service in the armed forces.

Proposal for annexation is being made at this time, it has been announced, in order to make plans for jobs for our returning boys. It is felt by the committee that properly approved plans in the hands of the post-war committee now will make available Government funds for the completion of such improvements as are needed and at the same time create work for the ex-service men who will need our help just as much after the war as they do now.

Bensenville war fund drive to begin Mar. 1

Mrs. Jesse O. Capoot, general chairman of the Bensenville committee of the American Red Cross, has completed plans for launching the annual War Fund drive in this community which will begin on the 1st of March.

The contributor who gives to the 1945 Red Cross War Fund gets more than his money's worth. If it were not for the regular services of the thousands of Red Cross volunteers the annual quota for the metropolitan district of Chicago would have to be more than half again as much as it is. Those who give to this drive can also give thanks to the trained volunteers who regularly give time to the hospitals, at headquarters, in the surgical dressings units, at the blood bank and the many other spots where this volunteer service is needed.

WPB issues merit awards to scouts

Several boy scouts of Troop 89, Bensenville, have received awards from the war production board for meritorious service on paper drives. Their names are Roland Brousard, Ralph Lubking, Jack Long, Jim Bauer, Lynn Huffman, Bill Webb, Jim Marquittes, Jim Fruman, John Gaspar, Jim Holmstron, Donald Shultz, Robert Oswald, Jr., and Christ Larsen, Jr.

Also a new patrol, the No. 6 in this troop has been organized. The offices of patrol leader and assistant patrol leader are held by Bill Daly and Dick Davies, respectively. The other members of the new patrol are Earnest Jones, Andrew Boone, Richard Walker and Howard Walker.

Pickups for service men this Saturday

The event is sponsored by the Bensenville Lions.

Band concert at Bensenville, Mar. 2

The 18th annual band concert will be given in the auditorium of the Bensenville high school, Friday evening, March 2, at 8 p. m. The concert program is being offered by music department of the high school.

Memorial Services Sunday

Memorial services will be held for the late Sgt. Edward C. Kautz, son of Pastor and Mrs. Albert G. Kautz of the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed church, Bensenville, on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 25, at 4 o'clock.

Sgt. Kautz was killed in action in Belgium January 15. He had entered the service in September of 1942 and was attached to the Topographical engineers at Ft. Belvoir, Va., where he qualified for special training at the University of Ohio in Cincinnati and at Xavier University.

Prior to entering the service, he had finished his junior year at Wheaton college where he was preparing for the ministry.

Besides his parents, he is mourned by his sister, Dorothy Murphy, and his younger brother, Clyde.

The service will be under the direction of Rev. Joseph A. George, superintendent of the Evangelical hospital of Chicago, Rev. Ralph E. Powell of the Mont Clare Baptist church and Frank Sheriff, executive secretary of the Christian Business Men's Committee of Chicago.

Bensenville plans $50,000 village building

Election is called for April 10

In this issue of the Register, a notice of a special election to be held on April 10 in Bensenville, is being published. This special election is for the purpose of submitting to the voters of the village of Bensenville, the question of approving an ordinance providing for a bond issue of $50,000 to provide funds for the construction of a municipal building.

This proposed building, plans for which have been shown at various times to anyone interested in seeing them, will have the facilities for complete village government and operation.

In addition to the village hall and police department, space is provided for clerk and collector, where all village bills may be paid, including water, vehicle tags, assessments, etc.

Garage space for village equipment is included and quarters for the volunteer fire department, including a garage for that part of the fire equipment which would be kept on the north side of the railroad track.

The building is to be constructed on the village property adjacent to the present water works on north York street and the style of architecture is harmonious to the existing structure.

DuPage county successfully fights polio

Bensenville collects fund of $424.57

Willard Palm, Bensenville, chairman of the drive to support the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, announces that the campaign closed with a total of $424.57 collected here. Of this amount, $159.70 was sent direct to Mr. Palm, $67.95 was collected at the schools, $49.09 in the cans at the stores and $147.83 at the Center Theater.

During 1944 there were nine diagnosed cases of poliomyelitis in Du Page county and seven suspicious cases. Of the nine actual cases, only one resulted in death. Forty-five nursing visits were made by the Du Page county health department to these cases and complete diagnostic procedures are made in all cases and suspected cases.

All polio victims, as well as the other 114 crippled children within our county have been offered specialists care for medical or surgical treatment.

In fact, the facilities of Du Page county are so efficient, that various surrounding communities are seeking the assistance of this county's organization in establishing something similar for themselves.

All of this activity is supported by contributions made during the annual drive for funds.

Air medals honor two local fliers

Air medals were presented Wednesday afternoon to the families of two Arlington Heights men. One of them, Lt. George Grossi, met his death April 28, 1944, while serving in Italy as a pilot of a paratroop carrying plane.

The other is 2nd Lt. Franklin J. Bublitz, who is reported missing since last February while in service in southern Italy.

The medal honoring Lt. Grossi was presented to his 5 months old son. Mrs. Frank Bublitz received the medal for her son, who is missing in action.

A Mayor gets his man!

It is no secret that Mayor Albert Goedke, Arlington Heights, does not look with favor on the chasing by local police of speeders on the Northwest highway through the municipality. Tuesday afternoon when he came near being the victim of one such speeder, he called out the reserves, including the police squad car, the department of streets and two state police officers, who chanced to be in town.

It might have been a wild goose chase for all of them if George Wittenberg, Mt. Prospect police chief had not made a mental note of a speeding car that passed him on Main street, while he was directing traffic for school children who were crossing the highway.

It is nothing to laugh at says the mayor, but his friends are a little amused over the fact that while state police officers had been sent south to search for the fleeing car and two municipal cars were scouring the town, the offending auto stopped to make a delivery at the Winkelman service station, 200 feet from the mayor's car.

Through all of this excitement nobobdy took down the license number of the auto.

Here is the story:

A Chicago car, occupied by three boys was being driven so fast that it could not make the left hand turn to State road from the highway and crashed a telephone pole in which it left imbedded a car handle. The crash threw the car across the park and nearly into the mayor's truck. Mr. Goedke's first though was "this is it", but the speeding car regained the highway and sped down state road.

Mr. Goedke from the phone of the Pfingston realty office gave orders that all hands turn out to capture the car and its reckless driver. Two state officers also answered the call.

The car hid for a little while in Scarsdale then came back up State road to Davis street, again passing the mayor, who again hurried to the phone to report the car's location. As he was phoning, unknown to Mr. Goedke, the car stopped at the Winkelmann shop long enough to make a delivery.

By this time the mayor was fighting mad and in an effort to apprehend the driver, phoned Palatine and Mt. Prospect to be on the lookout. When Geo. Whittenberg at Mt. Prospect received the call, he recalled the license number that had automatically registered in his mind. He gave the number to Judge Behrens, 144513. A phone call to Springfield brought the information that the car belonged to Butler Bros. Super Service, 4908 Irving Park Blvd. The proprietor told the police that the car, badly wrecked, had returned, its driver stating that he had skidded on the ice.

Mayor Goedke's model T truck is still shivering over its escape.

Calls conscription 'radical issue' in Itasca Forum talk last Sunday

Dr. Lyttle fears effects of militarism

"I regard post war military conscription as the most radical issue before this nation. There has been nothing like it since the secession of the South from the North". So spoke Dr. Charles Lyttle of the University of Chicago to a large audience at the Itasca Men's Christian Forum at the Itasca Village Hall last Sunday evening.

He cogently pointed out that Europe had had nothing but militarism in the wake of conscription policies in Russia, Austria and Germany. Having lived in Germany for two years, he knew full well the evil effects of militarism there.

He thought it sheer irony that at the time of striving for world order this issue should face the American people. Japan and Germany both have had conscription policies. Where is Tokio today and where is Berlin? Oddly enough the United States and Britain have never before had any conscription measures. Neither does Britain have one before it today.

In the May bill there is no provision for the high mental, physical and moral qualities that is supposed to be offered to American youth, besides, the army and navy are not interested in this matter and their leaders have said so. Other organizations for youth have petitioned the government to render a strong physical and moral program at an earlier age, but have never received government support. The speaker felt that the colleges and universities of the land could do a better job were the funds in their hands.

In case there was doubt in the mind of the audience as to what should be done, they were at least on safe grounds in urging Congress to withhold a decision on this matter until after the war.

He urged people to write to their representatives and at least urge this much upon them.

Itasca couple have donated 22 pints of blood for GI's

Ruth and Howard Lawrence of North Walnut street, Itasca, recently made their 10th and 12th blood donations respectively at the Red Cross blood bank in Chicago. This is a total of twenty-two pints of blood given by this family and is equivalent to the total volume of blood in a person weighing approximately 265 pounds. The records indicate that this donation from a husband and wife ranks with the leaders in the Chicago area for a family of two, and is something anyone can point with pride to.

Ill. Range Co. to build factory in Mt. Prospect

The village of Mt. Prospect is to have another industry. Illinois Range Co., an Illinois corporation organized in 1920, has purchased a three acre tract of Herman Moehling, immediately west of Milburn Bros. property on Central road. This firm is now located at 800 South Ada street, Chicago.

Announcement of the plans of this company was withheld until the needed building permit was received from the Mt. Prospect village board. The board authorized the permit Thursday evening and work on the foundation was started Monday.

The Illinois Range Co. specializes in the manufacture of kitchen equipment for restaurants, hospitals and hotels. At present, it is in war work furnishing galley equipment for the U. S. Maritime Commission. The building will be 161x113 feet, with an area of 18,000 square feet. The plans call for a modernized building front of glass and pressed brick, but that class of construction must wait until after the war. Priorities have been granted for common brick construction.

The grounds will be landscaped and ultimately the building will have a frontal appearance similar to the modern factory buildings recently constructed on Peterson Ave., and along other Chicago boulevards.

The factory will give employment to about forty persons, representing a payroll of $100,000 a year. It will be operated on a union basis, paying salaries that will attract the better class of workers and who will be able to own homes.

Special-

Says G. I.'s for compulsory training

Staff Sgt. Robert Proebstle of Arlington Heights, just back from France where he served with General Patton's forces in the drive across to the Seigfried line from the Normandy beachhead last summer, declares this week in a special article:

"Compulsory military training, in my opinion, is a must on this country's postwar schedule. Such training will give this nation an army of trained reserves available upon call at any time.

"I think my opinions coincide with those of many of the men serving overseas. I've spent plenty of time sitting in a hospital—time given to thinking. You don't realize how much you can think until you have nothing to do day after day, except think."

His story appears on page 12.

DuPage votes on $300,000 court house bond issue

Supervisors authorize expenditure

Voters of DuPage county will be given the opportunity at the judicial election next June to vote on a special proposition, namely the approval of a $300,000 bond issue to cover the cost of a new addition to the county court house.

The county board last week okayed the proposal and gave its authority in a resolution for the raising of the necessary finances.

Cramped quarters, crowded office conditions and the expenditure of thousands of dollars in rentals for additional housing for the official family is given as the reason for the board's action.

N. W. Lies of Bloomingdale township has been appointed acting chairman of the building committee in charge of the project, in the absence of the regular chairman, Anton Dudek who is on leave in Florida.

Farm fire destroys phone wires; firemen arrive an hour late

The farm house on the former Bolsinger farm, on Wilke road, near Palatine road, was destroyed by fire Sunday morning when the Palatine fire department did not receive the call until nearly an hour after the fire started.

The fire was discovered by Mr. Rizzo, who with another man lived on the place. Due to the heat Mr. Rizzo was unable to reach the second floor of the building to extinguish the blaze. Trying to phone he found the line to be out of order. He confined his efforts to removing furniture until the arrival of a neighbor, A. W. Moehling, who resides a half mile distant.

Learning that no firemen had been called, Mr. Moehling returned to his home for that purpose. By the time the department arrived the roof had already fallen in.

Roselle merchant receives recitation for bond record

"The war finance committee of Illinois, United States treasury, congratulates the employees of your company for their splendid accomplishment in the purchase of United States War Savings Bonds in the Sixth war loan", so reads a letter received by White Lane Farms & Hatchery, Inc., of Roselle.

For accepting a quota and attaining this goal the employees were awarded a citation by the Secretary of the Treasury, which is now displayed in their Roselle store, along with a similar citation they have previously received in the Fifth War Loan drive.

A highly important factor and one which J. P. Warnimont, president of the company is very proud, is that not one of the five employees have at any time cashed in any of their bonds.

Confusion in Washington

Cong. Chauncey W. Reed of W. Chicago, serving this area in the House of Representatives, Washington, D. C., hasn't lost his gift for story telling. Here's his latest and naturally it's about his political adversaries, the Democrats:

Operator: "Capitol".

Operator: "Which Congressman Kennedy?"

Voice: "Congressman Kennedy of New York."

Operator: "Which Congressman Kennedy of New York?"

Voice: 'Congressman M. J. Kennedy."

Operator: "Which Congressman M. J. Kennedy?"

Voice: "The one from New York City."

Operator: "There are two of them from New York City."

Voice: "The one I want to talk to is a Democrat."

Operator: "They are both Democrats."

Voice (in desperation): "Well, let me talk to either of them."

Yes, these Democrats can be very confusing.

15 clubs unite to promote civic progress

Officers named for community organization

Fifteen clubs and organizations of Itasca have formed the Itasca Community Association to conduct community projects which are too large for individual organizations.

Charles S. Hanson was appointed chairman; Jim Classen, vice chairman; Don Sinclair, secretary; and Mrs. E. Stolley, treasurer.

The chairman and vice chairman were selected from non-members of the participating clubs in order to guard against any one club having too much influence in the association.

"The Itasca Community association," said Mr Sinclair, "is made up of representatives of 15 organizations or clubs whose activities center in Itasca, and while these original representatives have been instrumental in forming the association, they wish it understood that membership in the Community Association is open to all organizations with 15 or more members."

Secretary Sinclair further stated "The purpose of the association is to conduct community projects which are too large for individual organizations, and to serve as a clearing house for community activities so there may be no overlapping of effort. However, it is not the intention of the association to serve in an executive capacity in carrying out functions already performed by members of the organization."

"The work of the club to date," he said, "has been to carry out discussions and investigations on community projects which have been brought on the floor, and it has been our experience that through these discussions smaller projects are being satisfactorily conducted by two or more members of the club without active participation of the association.

"This, in itself, we feel, is an achievement and is the groundwork for the eager projects for which the association was designed," he concluded.

What to do if you lose your ration book

The local rationing board would like to make the following statement regarding lost or stolen ration books: It is very important that you guard your ration books. Should they become lost or stolen, it is necessary to go to considerable trouble to regain them.

First of all, you must file a complaint with the police department and secure a police complaint number. Your next duty is to notify the ration board. They will make a thorough investigation and in some cases, it may be necessary that they notify the office of price administration district office. You would probably be taken care of, but it will put you to a lot of trouble. To avoid this, it is best to keep your ration book in a place where you can find it, where it will not be destroyed by others that might handle it or become lost.

The board, of course, will do all it possibly can to help you when you are in difficulties.

The 104th accomplished its important mission in December when it seized the great industrial area of Eschweiler, Wesiweiler and Stolberg. The division is unmatched for its fighting spirit, skill and dash. It executed brilliant night attacks, performed difficult river crossings, and reached its objectives with minimum casualties.

Saved from fire

The exterior of the former Milligan home, 1118 North Dunton, Arlington Heights, does not show much damage from a fire that occurred there at 5:30 Friday morning, but it came near being the scene of a tragedy.

The owners, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight J. Anderson and their daughter, who purchased the house a year ago, are thankful to have escaped with their lives. Their dog, kept on an enclosed rear porch, suffocated.

After the battle of Bastogne one of our Wood Dale boys, T/4 Frederick Waddington whose parents are the Ben Waddingtons of Centrol road, was interviewed by Jess Krueger, Chicago Herald American war correspondent. Fred stated that he was mighty proud of the performance of his gun during this decisive battle. His parents and his little brother, Marshal, are proud of Fred himself and they have good reason to be. Fred was in this battle for a 24-hour stretch on the third day which possibly was one reason the gunners set up a record of more than 26,000 rounds during that period.

The citizens of Wood Dale are requested to keep their dogs confined. This is in the season when dogs roam far and wide in packs. These packs are dangerous to the children and destructive to property.

Arlington Lions hosts to club of neighboring towns

Arlington Heights Lions Club was host Tuesday evening to the Lions Club of Palatine, Mt. Prospect and Prospect Heights. Following a dinner that was even better than usual, under the direction of Mr. Costain the Arlington Heights high school triple trio gave two numbers, and Miss Betty Lou Scamehorn rendered a solo, accompanied by Donna Lee Doughty. The encores call for 'more' but the young ladies shook their heads as they had another date that evening.

M. W. Preilberg, program chairman, introduced two Chicago friends (oil industry of course) who showed two comedies that topped off a happy evening. Palatine and Mt. Prospect were unusually well represented.

Lady's stomach was like a gas factory; meals turned to gas

One lady said recently that her stomach used to be like a "gas factory!" That is, when she ate a meal it seemed to turn right into gas. She was always bloated, had awful stomach gas pains, daily headaches and constant irregular bowel action. Now, however, this lady says she is FREE OF STOMACH GAS and she says the change is due to taking ERB-HELP. Her meals agree with her. No gas or bloat after eating. Headaches and constipation are gone. "Oh! what relief!" states this lady. "Why don't other gas and constipation sufferers get Erb-Help?"

ERB-HELP contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Get ERB-HELP. Dahl Drug Store, Bensenville; also in Roselle at Knutzen Drug Store.

May Be Inflammable

Mrs. L. W. Goebel is visiting her daughter in Nitro, West Virginia.

The PTA had their February meeting Tuesday, the 20th. The speaker, John W. Reid, gave a very instructive talk, telling of the family service association of Du Page county. When the organization began it's history it was the only relief agency in the county but it is now considered a family service and not necessarily charitable. One of the important functions of the agency is to handle every minor delinquent properly in order to lay a good foundation for the child's security.

The occasion was also Founders Day — Miss Carter directed a short suitable skit — those taking part were Mrs. Lowell Rutherford, Miss Elaine Allen, Mr. John Russell. The school children who took part were: Mary Ellen Beaver, Marjorie Schneider, Carolyn Ann Paulson, Marilyn Ekedahl and Betty Eyers. The hostesses for the evening were: Mrs. John Russell, Mrs. Davenport, Mrs. Leth and Mrs. Fuller.

Mr. Titus Medendorp cut his hand last week while he was working — several stitches had to be taken but he was able to keep on the job.

Mrs. Gus Brown and her two children left Tuesday to visit her folks in Minneapolis, Minn., for several weeks.

Mariann Brandwein and Deborah Hanson were the representatives of the Presbyterian church to the Older Girl's Conference held at Joliet, Ill. Miss Betty Bliss was chaperon for the girls. A report on this conference will be made in the church next Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cosman will celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary next Tuesday evening, Feb. 27. Only the immediate family will share in the anniversary dinner to be served at 7:30 p. m. at their home.

Mr. Frank Seebach was appointed by a joint meeting of Trustees and Elders to head the Every Member Canvass of the Presbyterian church. Loyalty Sunday for the Canvass is to be March 4. The congregational meeting will be held on March 23.

Mr. George Patula, father of Mrs. Wistar Chessman, passed away in Chicago last Saturday.

Mrs. Lella Woodworth was ill with stomach flu last week — she is feeling much better now but quite weak.

Mrs. Merle Cummings and her two daughters are at home with her folks for a few weeks in Minneapolis, Minn.

Meeting to tell of need for medical WACS & Red Cross

Public support of the Red Cross War Fund Drive and the recruiting drive for medical technicians of the Women's Army Corps will be urged at a special meeting sponsored by the Franklin Park Police Association to be held on Monday night, February 26, at the Little Theatre of Leyden Community High School. In cooperation with Mrs. Fergus Flynn, Red Cross chairman of Franklin Park, the Association has arranged for the showing of a newly released picture "Seeing Them Through" which dramatizes Red Cross services to the armed forces around the world, and points out the momentous task being faced by the Red Cross in keeping step with the different armies in Europe, in the Pacific and other invasion actions.

In cooperation with the intensive drive being made now to enlist Medical Technicians in the Women's Army Corps, the latter part of the program will be devoted to the presentation of activities of the WACs and the great assistance they are giving to the war effort. Actual films taken at the battlefronts depicting the horrors of war and showing the vital assistance being given by Medical Technicians of the WACs both at home and abroad will be shown to the capacity crowd which is expected to attend.

This special meeting which will start at 8 p. m. is open to the general public. Arrangements for this special program were made by Joseph P. Castle, Vice President of the Franklin Park Police Association.

Leyden home bureau meets

The Feb. meeting of the Leyden Home Bureau Unit was held recently at the home of Mrs. Louis Bork. The Home Adviser, Mrs. Marie Cornelius, gave the major lesson on "Happiness Through Right Mental Health".

Mrs. Reuben Kolze gave the minor lesson on "Chinese Women".

All officers were reelected for the coming year. After the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Louis Bork.

Dry Cow Feed
The specialists recommend supplying dry cows with feeds containing plenty of vitamin A. A deficiency of this vitamin can cause them to lose their calves, and calves born with a deficiency of vitamin A will be susceptible to calf diseases, especially scours. Cows getting green pasture, hay with green color, or silage made from crops having green leaves will have their vitamin A needs taken care of. Five pounds daily per cow of pea green leafy alfalfa hay, or five pounds daily of a yellow variety of sweet potatoes will furnish the needed supply of vitamin A during the dry period.

BARTLETT

A group of friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace, Jr., in honor of their son, James Allen, who was baptized the preceding Sunday. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Roger Baker and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Weiher, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Mayer and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Phelps and Jack, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Darling, Sr., and sons Charles and Richard, Mr. and Mrs. William Gronemeier, all of Bartlett, Miss Elaine Schmidt of Elgin, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cronin, Mrs. Emma Schilke, and Alfred Bergundy of Chicago. Many lovely gifts were received. The father of the baby is in the U. S. Navy and is at sea at the present time.

Annette Schultz, a student at Eureka College, spent the week end with her parents.

Mrs. Harvey Brandt, Ruth Regenburg and Eva Kampmeyer attended a Teacher's Institute at the Morrison Hotel in Chicago last Saturday.

Miss Margaret Kelly of Chicago spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. E. C. Schultz.

Dorothy Sodman left Friday for an extended vacation with the William Wasmond family at Kerby, Oregon. The Wasmonds are former residents of this community.

Mrs. Roger Hess, who has been a surgical patient at St. Joseph's hospital, returned home Tuesday.

Mrs. E. C. Schultz entertained the Contract Bridge Club recently and prizes were merited by Mesdames W. H. Schultz and Ross Richards.

STICK TO YOUR JOB....

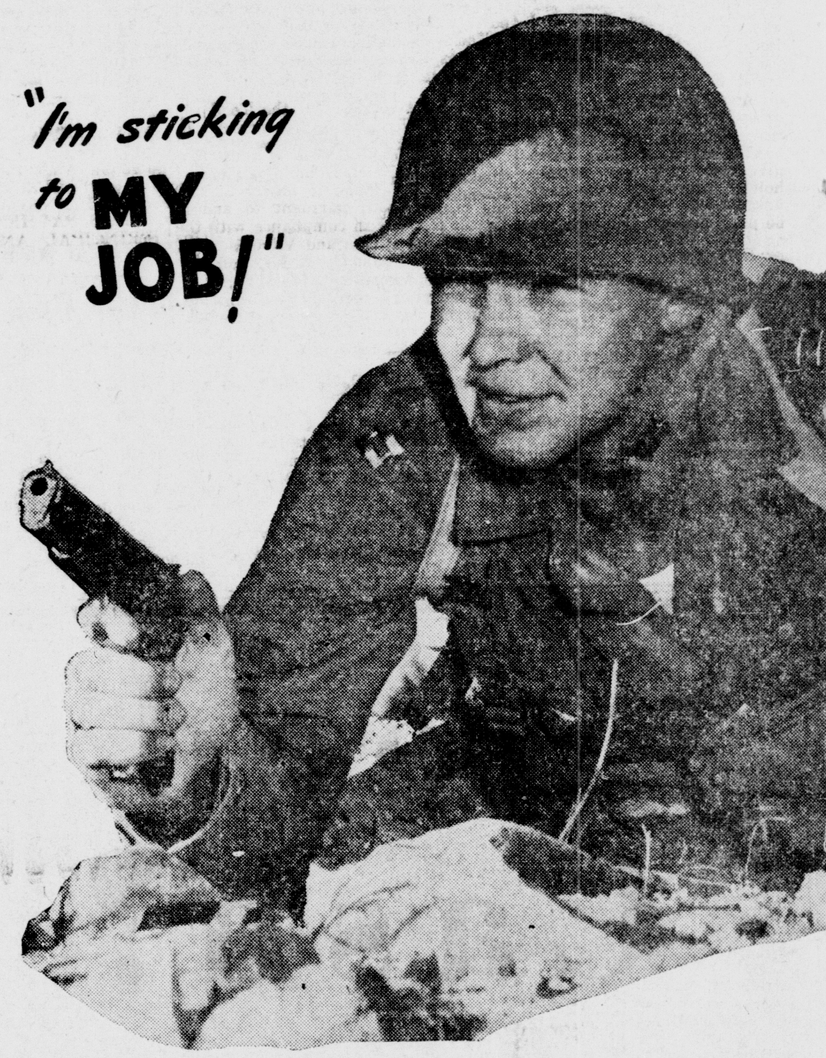

This boy — and many thousands of his fighting buddies have seen action! They were in North Africa, and after successful operation moved on to Italy. When Mussolini finally got his due they became part of our great strength in invasion forces. They're doing their job against Germany and Japan.

They know the war is far from over. They know the enemy is tough and treacherous. But they are sticking to their guns — and by their jobs.

Our fighters know the price of Victory. They know the price in blood.

Mr. Civilian: Our Government and war industries are pleading with you to lay aside that peace time job and get into actual war production. Surely it is your duty to help supply the equipment for our fighting forces. It is your duty to do this just as much as it is their duty to win the war by actual combat, thereby making your home safe from our enemies.

If you are not now engaged in an essential job and can aid the war effort, stop in at the nearest United States Employment Service today. Be on that war job tomorrow. You'll feel better about it in years to come.

Committee explains 'whys' of annexation

List benefits of Edgewood proposal

A committee representing the proposal to annex Edgewood to Bensenville appeared before the the Village Board at their regular meeting on February 15. A discussion took place on the sewage plant, which, as a postwar plan, is to be completely revamped to take care of the present conditions and also prepare for the future.

If the voters of Bensenville accept the annexation of Edgewood into Bensenville, they point out, it would mean that the subdivision of Edgewood would have to carry a good portion of the cost of the new disposal plant, therefore, relieving the Bensenville property owners from assuming the total cost.

Any special improvement made in the subdivision proper such as sidewalks, streets, street lights, etc., shall be assumed by the subdivision property owners and in no way would affect the village property owners, it was said. This also means that with the increasing population a mail delivery service would be inaugurated thereby opening a few jobs for the boys when they return from their service in the armed forces.

Proposal for annexation is being made at this time, it has been announced, in order to make plans for jobs for our returning boys It is felt by the committee that properly approved plans in the hands of the post-war committee now will make available Government funds for the completion of such improvements as are needed and at the same time create work for the ex-service men who will need our help just as much after the war as they do now.

Bensenville war fund drive to begin Mar. 1

Mrs. Jesse O. Capoot, general chairman of the Bensenville committee of the American Red Cross, has completed plans for launching the annual War Fund drive in this community which will begin on the 1st of March.

The contributor who gives to the 1945 Red Cross War Fund gets more than his money's worth. If it were not for the regular services of the thousands of Red Cross volunteers the annual quota for the metropolitan district of Chicago would have to be more than half again as much as it is. Those who give to this drive can also give thanks to the trained volunteers who regularly give time to the hospitals, at headquarters, in the surgical dressings units, at the blood bank and the many other spots where this volunteer service is needed.

WPB issues merit awards to scouts

Several boy scouts of Troop 89, Bensenville, have received awards from the war production board for meritorious service on paper drives. Their names are Roland Brousard, Ralph Lubking, Jack Long, Jim Bauer, Lynn Huffman, Bill Webb, Jim Marquittes, Jim Fruman, John Gaspar, Jim Holmstron, Donald Shultz, Robert Oswald, Jr., and Christ Larsen, Jr.

Also a new patrol, the No. 6 in this troop has been organized. The offices of patrol leader and assistant patrol leader are held by Bill Daly and Dick Davies, respectively. The other members of the new patrol are Earnest Jones, Andrew Boone, Richard Walker and Howard Walker.

Pickups for service men this Saturday

Memorial Services Sunday

Memorial services will be held for the late Sgt. Edward C. Kautz, son of Pastor and Mrs. Albert G. Kautz of the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed church, Bensenville, on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 25, at 4 o'clock.

Sgt. Kautz was killed in action in Belgium January 15. He had entered the service in September of 1942 and was attached to the Topographical engineers at Ft. Belvoir, Va., where he qualified for special training at the University of Ohio in Cincinnati and at Xavier University.

Besides his parents, he is mourned by his sister, Dorothy Murphy, and his younger brother, Clyde.

The service will be under the direction of Rev. Joseph A. George, superintendent of the Evangelical hospital of Chicago, Rev. Ralph E. Powell of the Mont Clare Baptist church and Frank Sheriff, executive secretary of the Christian Business Men's Committee of Chicago.

Bensenville plans $50,000 village building

Election is called for April 10

In this issue of the Register, a notice of a special election to be held on April 10 in Bensenville, is being published. This special election is for the purpose of submitting to the voters of the village of Bensenville, the question of approving an ordinance providing for a bond issue of $50,000 to provide funds for the construction of a municipal building.

This proposed building, plans for which have been shown at various times to anyone interested in seeing them, will have the facilities for complete village government and operation.

In addition to the village hall and police department, space is provided for clerk and collector, where all village bills may be paid, including water, vehicle tags, assessments, etc.

Garage space for village equipment is included and quarters for the volunteer fire department, including a garage for that part of the fire equipment which would be kept on the north side of the railroad track.

The building is to be constructed on the village property adjacent to the present water works on north York street and the style of architecture is harmonious to the existing structure.

DuPage county successfully fights polio

Bensenville collects fund of $424.57

Willard Palm, Bensenville, chairman of the drive to support the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, announces that the campaign closed with a total of $424.57 collected here. Of this amount, $159.70 was sent direct to Mr. Palm, $67.95 was collected at the schools, $49.09 in the cans at the stores and $147.83 at the Center Theater.

During 1944 there were nine diagnosed cases of poliomyelitis in Du Page county and seven suspicious cases. Of the nine actual cases, only one resulted in death. Forty-five nursing visits were made by the Du Page county health department to these cases and complete diagnostic procedures are made in all cases and suspected cases.

All polio victims, as well as the other 114 crippled children within our county have been offered specialists care for medical or surgical treatment.

In fact, the facilities of Du Page county are so efficient, that various surrounding communities are seeking the assistance of this county's organization in establishing something similar for themselves.

All of this activity is supported by contributions made during the annual drive for funds.

Air medals honor two local fliers

Air medals were presented Wednesday afternoon to the families of two Arlington Heights men. One of them, Lt. George Grossi, met his death April 28, 1944, while serving in Italy as a pilot of a paratroop carrying plane.

The other is 2nd Lt. Franklin J. Bublitz, who is reported missing since last February while in service in southern Italy.

The medal honoring Lt. Grossi was presented to his 5 months old son. Mrs. Frank Bublitz received the medal for her son, who is missing in action.

A Mayor gets his man!

It is no secret that Mayor Albert Goedke, Arlington Heights, does not look with favor on the chasing by local police of speeders on the Northwest highway through the municipality. Tuesday afternoon when he came near being the victim of one such speeder, he called out the reserves, including the police squad car, the department of streets and two state police officers, who chanced to be in town.

It might have been a wild goose chase for all of them if George Wittenberg, Mt. Prospect police chief had not made a mental note of a speeding car that passed him on Main street, while he was directing traffic for school children who were crossing the highway.

It is nothing to laugh at says the mayor, but his friends are a little amused over the fact that while state police officers had been sent south to search for the fleeing car and two municipal cars were scouring the town, the offending auto stopped to make a delivery at the Winkelman service station, 200 feet from the mayor's car.

Through all of this excitement nobobdy took down the license number of the auto.

Here is the story:

A Chicago car, occupied by three boys was being driven so fast that it could not make the left hand turn to State road from the highway and crashed a telephone pole in which it left imbedded a car handle. The crash threw the car across the park and nearly into the mayor's truck. Mr. Goedke's first though was "this is it", but the speeding car regained the highway and sped down state road.

Mr. Goedke from the phone of the Pfingston realty office gave orders that all hands turn out to capture the car and its reckless driver. Two state officers also answered the call.

The car hid for a little while in Scarsdale then came back up State road to Davis street, again passing the mayor, who again hurried to the phone to report the car's location. As he was phoning, unknown to Mr. Goedke, the car stopped at the Winkelmann shop long enough to make a delivery.

By this time the mayor was fighting mad and in an effort to apprehend the driver, phoned Palatine and Mt. Prospect to be on the lookout. When Geo. Whittenberg at Mt. Prospect received the call, he recalled the license number that had automatically registered in his mind. He gave the number to Judge Behrens, 144513. A phone call to Springfield brought the information that the car belonged to Butler Bros. Super Service, 4908 Irving Park Blvd. The proprietor told the police that the car, badly wrecked, had returned, its driver stating that he had skidded on the ice.

Mayor Goedke's model T truck is still shivering over its escape.

Calls conscription 'radical issue' in Itasca Forum talk last Sunday

Dr. Lyttle fears effects of militarism

"I regard post war military conscription as the most radical issue before this nation. There has been nothing like it since the secession of the South from the North". So spoke Dr. Charles Lyttle of the University of Chicago to a large audience at the Itasca Men's Christian Forum at the Itasca Village Hall last Sunday evening.

He cogently pointed out that Europe had had nothing but militarism in the wake of conscription policies in Russia, Austria and Germany. Having lived in Germany for two years, he knew full well the evil effects of militarism there.

He thought it sheer irony that at the time of striving for world order this issue should face the American people. Japan and Germany both have had conscription policies. Where is Tokio today and where is Berlin? Oddly enough the United States and Britain have never before had any conscription measures. Neither does Britain have one before it today.

In the May bill there is no provision for the high mental, physical and moral qualities that is supposed to be offered to American youth, besides, the army and navy are not interested in this matter and their leaders have said so. Other organizations for youth have petitioned the government to render a strong physical and moral program at an earlier age, but have never received government support. The speaker felt that the colleges and universities of the land could do a better job were the funds in their hands.

In case there was doubt in the mind of the audience as to what should be done, they were at least on safe grounds in urging Congress to withhold a decision on this matter until after the war.

He urged people to write to their representatives and at least urge this much upon them.

Itasca couple have donated 22 pints of blood for GI's

Ruth and Howard Lawrence of North Walnut street, Itasca, recently made their 10th and 12th blood donations respectively at the Red Cross blood bank in Chicago. This is a total of twenty-two pints of blood given by this family and is equivalent to the total volume of blood in a person weighing approximately 265 pounds. The records indicate that this donation from a husband and wife ranks with the leaders in the Chicago area for a family of two, and is something anyone can point with pride to.

Ill. Range Co. to build factory in Mt. Prospect

The village of Mt. Prospect is to have another industry. Illinois Range Co., an Illinois corporation organized in 1920, has purchased a three acre tract of Herman Moehling, immediately west of Milburn Bros. property on Central road. This firm is now located at 800 South Ada street, Chicago.

Announcement of the plans of this company was withheld until the needed building permit was received from the Mt. Prospect village board. The board authorized the permit Thursday evening and work on the foundation was started Monday.

The Illinois Range Co. specializes in the manufacture of kitchen equipment for restaurants, hospitals and hotels. At present, it is in war work furnishing galley equipment for the U. S. Maritime Commission. The building will be 161x113 feet, with an area of 18,000 square feet. The plans call for a modernized building front of glass and pressed brick, but that class of construction must wait until after the war. Priorities have been granted for common brick construction.

The grounds will be landscaped and ultimately the building will have a frontal appearance similar to the modern factory buildings recently constructed on Peterson Ave., and along other Chicago boulevards.

The factory will give employment to about forty persons, representing a payroll of $100,000 a year. It will be operated on a union basis, paying salaries that will attract the better class of workers and who will be able to own homes.

Special-

Says G. I.'s for compulsory training

Staff Sgt. Robert Proebstle of Arlington Heights, just back from France where he served with General Patton's forces in the drive across to the Seigfried line from the Normandy beachhead last summer, declares this week in a special article:

"Compulsory military training, in my opinion, is a must on this country's postwar schedule. Such training will give this nation an army of trained reserves available upon call at any time.

"I think my opinions coincide with those of many of the men serving overseas. I've spent plenty of time sitting in a hospital—time given to thinking. You don't realize how much you can think until you have nothing to do day after day, except think."

His story appears on page 12.

DuPage votes on $300,000 court house bond issue

Supervisors authorize expenditure

Voters of DuPage county will be given the opportunity at the judicial election next June to vote on a special proposition, namely the approval of a $300,000 bond issue to cover the cost of a new addition to the county court house.

The county board last week okayed the proposal and gave its authority in a resolution for the raising of the necessary finances.

Cramped quarters, crowded office conditions and the expenditure of thousands of dollars in rentals for additional housing for the official family is given as the reason for the board's action.

N. W. Lies of Bloomingdale township has been appointed acting chairman of the building committee in charge of the project, in the absence of the regular chairman, Anton Dudek who is on leave in Florida.

Farm fire destroys phone wires; firemen arrive an hour late

The farm house on the former Bolsinger farm, on Wilke road, near Palatine road, was destroyed by fire Sunday morning when the Palatine fire department did not receive the call until nearly an hour after the fire started.

The fire was discovered by Mr. Rizzo, who with another man lived on the place. Due to the heat Mr. Rizzo was unable to reach the second floor of the building to extinguish the blaze. Trying to phone he found the line to be out of order. He confined his efforts to removing furniture until the arrival of a neighbor, A. W. Moehling, who resides a half mile distant.

Learning that no firemen had been called, Mr. Moehling returned to his home for that purpose. By the time the department arrived the roof had already fallen in.

Roselle merchant receives recitation for bond record

"The war finance committee of Illinois, United States treasury, congratulates the employees of your company for their splendid accomplishment in the purchase of United States War Savings Bonds in the Sixth war loan", so reads a letter received by White Lane Farms & Hatchery, Inc., of Roselle.

For accepting a quota and attaining this goal the employees were awarded a citation by the Secretary of the Treasury, which is now displayed in their Roselle store, along with a similar citation they have previously received in the Fifth War Loan drive.

A highly important factor and one which J. P. Warnimont, president of the company is very proud, is that not one of the five employees have at any time cashed in any of their bonds.

Confusion in Washington

Cong. Chauncey W. Reed of W. Chicago, serving this area in the House of Representatives, Washington, D. C., hasn't lost his gift for story telling. Here's his latest and naturally it's about his political adversaries, the Democrats:

Operator: "Capitol".

Operator: "Which Congressman Kennedy?"

Voice: "Congressman Kennedy of New York."

Voice: "Congressman M. J. Kennedy."

Operator: "Which Congressman M. J. Kennedy?"

Voice: "The one from New York City."

Operator: "There are two of them from New York City."

Operator: "They are both Democrats."

Voice (in desperation): "Well, let me talk to either of them."

Yes, these Democrats can be very confusing.

15 clubs unite to promote civic progress

Officers named for community organization

Fifteen clubs and organizations of Itasca have formed the Itasca Community Association to conduct community projects which are too large for individual organizations.

Charles S. Hanson was appointed chairman; Jim Classen, vice chairman; Don Sinclair, secretary; and Mrs. E. Stolley, treasurer.

The chairman and vice chairman were selected from non-members of the participating clubs in order to guard against any one club having too much influence in the association.

"The Itasca Community association," said Mr Sinclair, "is made up of representatives of 15 organizations or clubs whose activities center in Itasca, and while these original representatives have been instrumental in forming the association, they wish it understood that membership in the Community Association is open to all organizations with 15 or more members."

Secretary Sinclair further stated "The purpose of the association is to conduct community projects which are too large for individual organizations, and to serve as a clearing house for community activities so there may be no overlapping of effort. However, it is not the intention of the association to serve in an executive capacity in carrying out functions already performed by members of the organization."

"The work of the club to date," he said, "has been to carry out discussions and investigations on community projects which have been brought on the floor, and it has been our experience that through these discussions smaller projects are being satisfactorily conducted by two or more members of the club without active participation of the association.

"This, in itself, we feel, is an achievement and is the groundwork for the eager projects for which the association was designed," he concluded.

What to do if you lose your ration book

The local rationing board would like to make the following statement regarding lost or stolen ration books: It is very important that you guard your ration books. Should they become lost or stolen, it is necessary to go to considerable trouble to regain them.

First of all, you must file a complaint with the police department and secure a police complaint number. Your next duty is to notify the ration board. They will make a thorough investigation and in some cases, it may be necessary that they notify the office of price administration district office. You would probably be taken care of, but it will put you to a lot of trouble. To avoid this, it is best to keep your ration book in a place where you can find it, where it will not be destroyed by others that might handle it or become lost.

The board, of course, will do all it possibly can to help you when you are in difficulties.
